Preface

The question has often been asked What is your earliest recollection in life?

Over the years I have tried to recall that moment and the same picture always comes to mind. I was standing at the front gate of my home at 16 McMillan Avenue, Dolls Point in 1948, waiting for my sister to come home from school. I would have been 4 years old and my sister Maree, 6 years of age.

Reginald and Emily (nee Cairncross) Hazel my parents, had purchased this home in 1946, after my father returned from naval service in the Mediterranean. Many servicemen began buying or building houses at Dolls Point in the years following World War Two. A baby boom began in the area and the village of Dolls Point grew rapidly over the next decade.

I grew up in this era and enjoyed the pleasures of living in this beautiful seaside suburb. We took a short trolley bus ride to school each week day and weekends were spent in our playground at Dolls Point Park. We were never short of a friend as the streets of Dolls Point were lined with children of the same age. Some of these friendships have lasted a lifetime.

I thank my parents for choosing Dolls Point as the place to raise their children. The wonderful memories I have of Growing up at Dolls Point needed to be told.

Early History

Dolls Point is a beachside suburb, seventeen kilometers south of Sydney on the shores of Botany Bay. It is also called Sandringham and is bound by Sans Souci and Ramsgate. It was in the Municipality of Rockdale until the amalgamation with Botany Bay Council on 9 September 2016 and they are now known as Bayside Council.

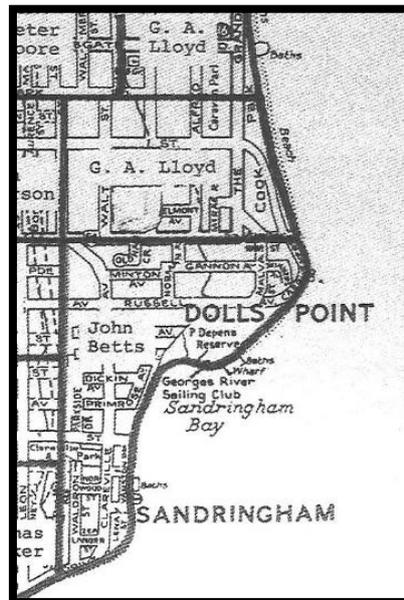

Development of the area dates originally from the late 1800s, although little growth occurred until the 1920s. The origin of the name is unclear but legend has it that it was named for an escaped convict who took shelter in the grim landscape to hide from the authorities. Another legend is that it was named after an old fashioned surveyor's term. The third theory is that the area was named after Lady Dorothy 'Doll' Robinson, the wife of the Governor of New South Wales, Sir Hercules Robinson.

The area was originally a deserted landscape of saltbush and sheoak trees and considered uninhabitable although Aboriginals were known to gather on the reserves. As European settlement increased and the hunting grounds decreased, they retreated further up Georges River.

Dolls Point Aboriginals

In April 1840 John Betts acquired 140 acres of land bound by Waldron and Sandringham Streets and the foreshore of Georges River.ⁱ This parcel of land had previously been granted to George Pashley, a former convict, by Sir Richard Bourke in 1837. Pashley had failed to take up the grant, known as Honeysuckle Beach and he died in 1838. John Betts was a free settler, who had arrived in 1828,ⁱⁱ resided with his wife Mary, the daughter of Rev Samuel Marsden, at The Vineyards, Parramatta. He was a public servant, horticulturalist and a land owner. John Betts bought up land in the land boom of the 1840s and died in 1852.

Russell Avenue – Joseph Brokenshire Collection

The centre of our little village was a triangle junction at the corner of Russell Avenue and Clareville Avenue, with a bus shelter on the bend of Clareville Avenue. These were the days of corner stores and we were lucky enough to have a newsagent run by Roy and Kathleen Jolly. This was the shop we went to for our daily paper, all school needs including Clag glue then later Perkins paste, sheets of coloured cardboard for projects, ink, pencils, rubbers, sharpeners and even crepe paper and balloons for parties. My sister Maree and I had the job to go to this newsagent to buy the Sunday papers. Kathleen died in 1955 and Roy then married Nancy Taylor. Roy died in 1984.

On the opposite corner was a grocery store run by Cecil and Joan O'Brien. O'Brien's store in later years become a doctor's surgery. Next to the grocery store was Elsie Black nee Heiden's hairdressing salon. Elsie died in 1992

Across the road from these stores was a milk bar run by Aubrey and Eileen Wall. They sold fruit and vegetables and a small range of groceries on one side of the shop. A couple of café type tables in the middle of the shop and milk shakes, drinks, lollies and ice creams were sold on the other side. Sue Trivett and I had a treat on the weekend when we acted like adults and had an ice cream sundae at the café tables. This shop had a residence at the back and upstairs was used for ballet classes.

Around the corner in Russell Avenue beside the milk bar was a panel beating shop, later owned by Whitbreads. When we walked past this factory the smell of spraypaint was always very strong. On the other side of Wall's shop in Clareville Avenue lived the Loveridge family. Bert Loveridge was a fireman and he also sailed in the 16ft skiffs at George's River Sailing Club.

At the Dolls Point junction there was an island in the middle with a water bubbler. The council always kept the trees and shrubs in this area very neat. A few blocks down from Mr Wall's milk bar was a vacant block, which housed a statue of a soldier.

Dolls Point Soldier

This statue was made, circa 1917 by Richard Taylor Snr, a stonemason, who lived in Sandringham Street, near Clareville Avenue. He had two sons Richard and William Taylor, who served in the Great War of 1914-1918. The Dolls Point soldier was originally placed at the junction but was later removed to No.30 Clareville Avenue. This block was called The Camp a weekender owned by Lucy Reynolds (1864-1940) until her death in 1940, then taken over by her sons Stanley and Harold Reynolds.

The condition of the statue deteriorated over the years and eventually fell from the plinth. The Reynolds brothers sold this land to Vera Nagle in 1962. She owned the general store opposite and when she retired built a new home on this block.

Vera Nagle, husband Robert and mother-in-law Gertrude, had the shop near the bus stop. This was a general store that supplied our green groceries. They also ran a kiosk in Dolls Point Park. Mr Nagle would wheel his barrow full of supplies down our street each Sunday. Mrs Nagle's shop had a large lolly counter and every day after school we would frequent this counter that had a wooden step in front of it. She made toffees in patty cases, put them on a tray and if you picked the one with an 'X' on the bottom you received a free toffee. She also made her own iceblocks in bakelite cups. This was the shop that we purchased our crackers for Empire Day. She displayed them in the front window for the few weeks prior to the event. Selling groceries on Sundays was forbidden and if Mum ran out of an item on Sunday, Mrs Nagle always wrapped the item up in newspaper. This is where we also bought a loaf of bread each day, no sliced bread in those days. We also asked for the tissue paper that the apples were wrapped in, so that we could use it as toilet paper. Mrs Nagle tended to be a bit of a stern lady who always wore a full apron and her shop played a big part in our life.

Next door to Mrs Nagle's shop was the butcher. This shop was run by Bill Linton and his son Wid. A big chopping block stood in the middle of the shop and there was a cool room with the big heavy door. This shop had a residence attached with a large fenced paddock, where shops were later built to the corner. On the other side of Mrs Nagle's store, was also a paddock, where a service station was later built.

We were fortunate enough to have several services for the Dolls Point community. The Rockdale Mobile Library commenced in May 1955 and at regular times parked in Clareville Avenue opposite Mrs Nagle's shop. This area was also used for the Mobile Tuberculosis Xray Van that visited a couple of times a year. This service was for all ages and was a simple exercise of entering the front door of the van, standing at the xray machine for a minute or so and then exiting out the rear door.

Dolls Point Shopping Centre 2006

On our corner was a grocery store run by Walter and Amy Harper. This shop supplied our weekly grocery order.

I can remember in the mid 1950s a new freezer arrived in the shop and was filled with packets of frozen peas and beans and later frozen fish fingers, amazing! This would have been about the time we traded our ice chest in for a brand new Kelvinator refrigerator. It was always fun to go to this shop after school and buy a penny's worth of broken biscuits. The biscuits were supplied in large square Arnotts tins that were assembled in a stack on the counter. Each type of biscuit had its own tin, Iced Vo Vos, Monte Carlos, Scotch Fingers, Ginger Snaps, Saos and Adora Cream Wafers. The shop changed hands several times before it was managed by Mrs Connelly (who had a daughter Lynette) and then to Brian and Merle Parkhill. After they sold the shop it was converted to a hairdressing salon owned by Barbara Woodbridge, Todd Woodbridge's mother.

The Dolls Point junction was the centre of our suburb. This is where we caught the bus to school and work, where we socialised with our friends and also where we did our shopping.

Transport

The steam trams were replaced by the trolley buses in 1937 and ran to Rockdale via Kogarah. They were double decker buses that ran on electricity and had two poles on top that connected to the wires. The bus route from Rockdale and Kogarah was along Rocky Point Road to the punt, then did a loop and turned down Fontainebleau Street. Sometimes when it made the right hand turn into Fontainebleau Street the poles came off the wires and the conductor had to put them back. The Trolley bus depot was on the corner of Rocky Point Road and Ritchie Street. I can still remember the faces of some of the conductors.

We also had a diesel bus service to Circular Quay via Mascot (302 Route). We used this bus to visit our family at Mascot and when we went to the Royal Easter Show at Randwick.

McMillan Avenue

By the 1920s the area was well known for holiday resorts and picnic outings and this led to the growth and population of the suburb. Several of the streets in Dolls Point crossed over Clareville Avenue and had access to the beachfront at one end and a cul-de-sac at the smaller end. Many of the residents were fishermen and oyster farmers.

In 1930 the residents of McMillan Avenue were:

Montrose - AMOR, Charles Ward (painter) and Victoria Eliza (nee Cunningham)

Boronia - BRETT, James Arthur (potter) and Vera

CAMPBELL, Archibald John Charles (fisherman) and Mary

CUNNINGHAM, Andrew Peter (painter), Julia Ann and Percy (painter)

HARRIS, Leonard John (oysterman) and Dorothy Agnes Mary

KONZA, William Arthur (postal employee) and Lillian Mabel

NOSWORTHY, William Alex (furnaceman) and Edith Norwood

PRIMMER, Frederick William (labourer) and Ivy Mary Anne May

Thrum - RAMSAY, Joseph (plumber), Margaret and William Welsh (engineer)

Thrum - STENSON, Catherine (sister of Margaret)

Roseville - STUART, Sylvester Stonehouse (moulder), Rose Maria, Francis Edward (carpenter) and Stella Theresa (clerk)

THORNBURGER, Thomas Robert (cabinetmaker) and Charlotte Gladys

Elselyn - TRIMMER, Joseph (warehouseman) and Elsie May

TYRRELL, Frederick George (brassfinisher) and Mary (nee Scott)

Allawah - WILLIAMS, William Frederick (compositor), Frederick Carson (clerk) Alice Ethel

During the 1930s and 1940s, after the depression and particularly when the servicemen returned from war, land and housing sales increased. This allowed more employment in the area as the suburb became more residential. During this time gas, electricity and telephones were new conveniences connected for the residents.

Residents 1958 McMillan Avenue

Clareville Ave

Cook Park

We lived in Elselyn, at No.16 McMillan Avenue, a two bedroom brick home. Our street was located between Russell Avenue and Sanoni Avenue, an unpaved street scattered with houses that had vacant blocks (paddocks) beside them. The street was divided in two with Clareville Avenue crossing between the long end and the shorter end.

I can remember most of the people that lived in the street, particularly the families from the east end of the street. The Mercer and Dent family homes faced Cook Park on our side of the street. Fred and Myrtle Strutt lived on the opposite side facing the park with their children Alma who married Sid Young, Freddie, Wendy who married Harry Abraham and young Alan. I remember having a few feeds off the grape vines that grew around their verandah. The family moved to Greenwell Point where Fred died in 1988 and Myrtle Strutt died in 1991.

I vaguely remember James and Vera Brett in No.3, who made pottery. The Michael family, who later purchased this home, had big trucks and supplied us with tyres for our bonfires. In the early 1960s the Allen family moved into this house, they also had large trucks. Alfred and Alma Dern and daughter Heather lived in No.5. They worked in the grocery shop on the corner of Clareville Avenue and McMillan Avenue, which was owned by Walter and Amy Harper in the 1950s.

The Dooley's house was another new addition to the street at No.6. Alf Dooley was a policeman and they moved to the Wollongong area. This house was later purchased by Gib and Marj Darby. I can remember when the Cartwright's house was built at No.8. They had two daughters Margaret and Cathy. Margaret married Don Selmon and Cathy married Wally Clements, two local boys. Mrs Cartwright was a nice quietly spoken lady, who died in 1982 and her husband Tom, who was a trucking contractor, died in 1986.

Colin and Gladys Carter and family lived in No.10 but later Norman and Clare Stokes moved into this house. They had nine children, Norm, Sue, Peter, Elizabeth, Dianne, Kathy, Teresa, Donna and Kevin. Norm was always working under cars or trucks and son Normie followed in his footsteps. Wally and Mavis Gordon lived next door to the Stokes family and they had two daughters Maureen and Marianne.

Between No.7 and No.17 was bush, with a laneway going through to Russell Avenue. Eric Berry's safe factory was situated in the laneway. Turnbull's house, where fishing nets always hung over the front porch, was on the corner of Russell Avenue and this laneway.

A vacant block of land near the laneway was used for our bonfire each Empire Day, on 24 May each year. In the weeks before, we cut down bushes from near the creek in Horbury Street and dragged them home to build our bonfire. We purchased our crackers from Mrs Nagle's shop, they included bungers, sky rockets, tom thumbs and the pretty ones such as Mount Vesuvius, Roman Candles and sparklers.

Our next door neighbours in No.14 were Alan and Phyllis Trivett. They had four children John, Ross, Phillip and Suzanne. Phyllis married Athol Palmer in 1961 and they lived in Russell Avenue. Sadly Phyllis died in 1988.

Brian and Merle Parkhill operated the corner store for a few years before it was converted into a hairdressing salon. In the early 1960s the Parkhills purchased No.14 McMillan Avenue and they lived there with their children Cherie, Trevor and Karen. Brian died at Taree NSW in 1995 and Merle died in 2004.

Our other next door neighbours built their house some years after we moved in. They were George and Eileen Collinet, who had two sons Jimmy and Anthony and daughter Mary who was born after they moved in. They moved to Kogarah and then later to Kingscliffe. Eileen died there in 1991 and George died on the Gold Coast in 2008. George had a sister Jean who married Bert Elliott. They lived at Zetland and built their house at No.27 where they lived with their children Carmel, Robert and Jean's father. Bert died in 1979 and young Robbie died in 1986. Norm and Millie (nee Collinet) Wilson, lived in the short-end of McMillan Avenue. They had two daughters Joan and Betty and a son Brian. Norm Wilson, a french polisher who made our bedroom wardrobe, worked at F. R. Wolstenhome at Rocky Point Road, Kogarah.

George and Eileen Collinet our neighbours sold their house to Ralph and Noela Greenstein. They had two daughters Lyn and Lee. They moved to Budgewoi on the Central Coast, where Ralph died in 1993 and Noela in 2010.

Opposite our house in No.17 lived the Bernie family. Charles and Joan had children Bronwyn and Paul and some years later had twins Mark and John and then another son David. Charles Bernie, worked at Hygenic Containers. He had a car and each afternoon he piled the kids into for a ride around the block. We loved this daily treat as not many families owned cars at this time. The family later moved to Sans Souci. Charles died in 1996 at Fairlight and Joan died at Manly in 2008.

In No.19 lived Wal and Sylvia Philpott with their two sons Richard and Alan. Number 21 was a rather large brick home where George and Catherine 'Avice' Bradford and their daughter Jean lived. Later the Pausey family bought this property. Robert and Dot Pausey did not have children so treated the kids in our street like their own. They were one of the first in the street to own a TV set so we were allowed to go over to their house every afternoon to watch the Mickey Mouse Club. They owned a weekender at Springwood and sometimes took a few of us children up there for the weekend. Next to them No.23 was a vacant block for several years before a house was built for Mrs Cooper, an elderly lady and her daughter Elsie.

Next to the Collinet's house, No.20 was a vacant block and this was our playground where we spent many a time practicing our play acting and held concerts with the kids in the street. It was a good spot for our cubby house and playing cowboys and indians until Aubrey and Eileen Wall, from the corner milk bar, built a house on it and moved in with their children Tony, Bobbie and Barbara. In No. 22, a weatherboard house, lived the Larkin family. They lived there together with John's mother Eva and their two sons Terry and Bruce. Terry died 1968 aged 21 years.

Ted, a fireman and his wife Agnes Cook lived in No.24 with their sons Howard and Grant. Next door lived the Wilson family. Mr Wilson was the man who fixed everyone's wireless. They had two daughters Lucy and Christine.

On the other side of the street in No.25 lived the Tyrrell family. Frederick (George) and Mary had a son Robert and three girls Joyce, Shirley and Jeanette. Joyce married Bob Keating and had a daughter Christine, they lived at Kogarah Bay. Shirley married Arthur Smith and lived in Bonanza Parade, Sans Souci. Mary's sister Gladys and her husband Harold Howard lived in No.29, he died in 1951. They had a son Jimmy who married Jill Emery from Sanoni Avenue.

Directly behind the corner store, No.31 was owned by Thomas and Charlotte Thornber who lived there with their daughter Merle. Jack and Mavis Greenhalgh owned this beautiful brick house in the 1960s. Opposite this house was No.28 where Ernest and Edna Messenger lived. They sold the house to Mr and Mrs Cullen in the late 1950s.

The street eventually filled up with houses except for the laneway that took up No. 9 and 11. Reg and Bonnie Trevitt, together with their children Naida, Karen, Roger, Bronwyn and Mr Harris (Bonnie's father) moved from Hornsby to their new home at No.7. Don and Doreen Gurnett built their home at

No.13, also Ane Van Der Linden, moved into the new house at No.15 and this filled up our end of the street.

McMillan Avenue in my earlier years was a great street to grow up in, when it was made of clay and there were very few cars but plenty of kids. We enjoyed playing cricket and marbles with the boys, hopscotch, skipping and jacks with girls.

These were the days we had goods delivered to the door. We had to put a container with a cloth cover out each night for the milkman to fill with milk. Daily the baker came down the street in his horse and cart to deliver the bread. We also had deliveries of rabbits, fruit and vegetables, ice, coal and clothes props. By the late 1950s milk and sliced bread came in packaging and supermarkets were introduced.

It was not until the late 1960s that the houses at the park end of the northern side of McMillan Avenue started to be sold to make way for home units. The face of this street is very different today to street that I grew up in.

Local Identities

Arthur Thomas DAVIES – Clarence the Clocker 1912 - 1984

Arthur Thomas Davies was born on 26 March 1912 at Rockdale NSW. He was the fourth child of Ernest Edward Davies, a carpenter, and his wife Constance nee Hall. He grew up in Redfern NSW and worked as a bread carter and a milkman in the 1930s.

On 8 December 1936 at St Patrick's Church, Kogarah NSW, Arthur married Edna May Mitchell. They had a daughter Carol and a son Brian, and the family resided at 20 Sanoni Avenue, Dolls Point NSW.

Arthur was no taller than five feet high (153cm), and as I remember, strutted along with a 'pigeon toed' walk. He always wanted to be a jockey but never obtained a licence. In 1942 he formed an association with Tommy Smith and became a racecourse clocker. He previewed the racing program for 2KY Radio Station, and in 1957 co-opted into Channel 9 Television Station.

His nickname 'Clarence the Clocker' came from Bing Crosby's song The Horse Told Me which opened the television show on Saturday mornings. He worked with Ken Howard and Pam Burling nee Bunyan and later with Johnny Tapp. Clarence the Clocker's race tip segment always commenced with his cheeky, 'Okay, girls, down with the broom and up with the skirts'.

It is claimed that Edna 'intensely disliked horse racing', and they separated in 1970. In 1977 he suffered the first of two strokes, which affected his speech and movement. He continued with the 'longest running, locally produced show in Australia' until his retirement in 1982.

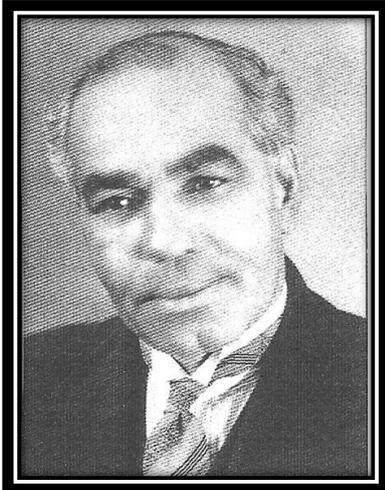

Arthur, who was well known as 'Clarence the Clocker' with his felt hat and binoculars.ⁱⁱⁱ He died on 4 August 1984 at Kanwal NSW and cremated at Woronora Crematorium.

William Henry MINTON 1883 – 1942

William was born in 1883 at Braidwood, NSW, son of William Minton and Eliza Ann Flack. He married Elsie May Duproy in 1913 at Waverley, NSW. They had four children Dorothy, Leslie, Ronald and Warwick. He died on 24 June 1942 in St George Hospital and his residence was 273 West Botany Street, Rockdale at that time. He was buried in the Church of England Cemetery, Rookwood NSW.

He was a master builder in the St George district, and records show that he built several homes in Minton Avenue between 1938 and 1941.

Simon 'Peter' DEPENA
1889 – 1964

Simon known as Peter was born on 19 June 1889 at Ramsgate NSW, son of Anselmo De Pena and Agnes Smiley. He married Irene Lillian Royall on 8 April 1914 at Rockdale NSW.

He passed his Junior Commercial Certificate in 1905 at Kogarah Superior Public School. At the time of his marriage his occupation was stated as carpenter.

After their marriage they lived at 'Camden', Campbell Street, Ramsgate NSW. They moved to 1130 Rocky Point Road, Sans Souci NSW until 1931 then to 156 Russell Avenue, and later to 177 Russell Avenue, Dolls Point NSW.

Peter was a builder/carpenter in the St George area. He served as an Alderman on the Rockdale Council from 1928 to 1937.

As he lived close by, he was often seen on a bench seat in Dolls Point Park. He was a friendly man who was a local identity in Dolls Point.

He was living at 126 Russell Avenue, Dolls Point at the time of his death. He died at St George Hospital on 6 January 1964. The funeral service was held at St Andrews Church, Sans Souci and he was cremated at Woronora Crematorium.

‘PERCY’
Percy Cyril CUNNINGHAM
1896 – 1969

Percy was born in 1896 at Armidale, NSW, son of Andrew Peter Cunningham and Julie Ann nee Palmer. Percy married Laurel Ivy Green, 1915 at St Peters (divorced 1922),^{iv} married Jessie M Orange, 1923 at Newtown (divorced 1928),^v then married Ruby Laura Argent, 1929 at Paddington (divorced 1940).

He was a painter by trade and had a business with his brother Sydney Herbert Cunningham until they were declared bankrupt in 1925.^{vi} Percy enlisted in the Australian Army on 25 October 1940 at Paddington and was discharged on 15 December 1941.^{vii}

Percy lived with his sister Victoria Eliza Amor at 40 Mc Millan Ave, Dolls Point. He was a daily identity, shuffling around the village of Dolls Point. He never spoke to anyone but was a harmless man.

Harry Lindsay EDEN
1943 – 2006

Harry was born in 1943, son of Harry Percival Leonard Eden and Phyllis Ena Harriet nee Westaway. He was the twelfth of sixteen children in the family. He was educated at Sans Souci Public School and Kogarah Boys High School. The family resided in Primrose Avenue, Dolls Point and their house fronted the waterfront. Most of the sixteen children grew up with the beach as their playground.

He married my cousin Carolyn Rose Player and they had two children Peter and Kim. Carol was also a Dolls Point girl, who lived down the road from Harry in Clareville Avenue.

He was well known in the Dolls Point community, mainly for riding his horse around the beach and surrounding areas. Harry became a household name when he played 81 first grade games of football, mainly as a forward for Eastern Suburbs (Roosters) and St George (Dragons) between 1969 and 1975. He played under coach Jack Gibson in the 1971 grand final for the Dragons. He was regarded as a very tough competitor on the field.^{viii}

Harry died on the 14 December 2006 at St George Hospital and was buried at Woronora Cemetery.

Sister Dulcie Lois OLDFIELD

1926 - 2002

Dulcie Oldfield was known to many as 'Sister Dulcie' or 'Aunty Dulcie'. She was born on 23 August 1926 at Mena Hospital, Mosman NSW, daughter of Arnold Eric Oldfield and Winifred Ada Farr.

The family lived at Mosman before moving to Brighton Le Sands in 1930, then to Bexley and finally to Sans Souci in 1935. Her parents bought the historical house 'Denbeigh' at 1 Plimsoll Street, Sans Souci. They changed the name of their home to 'Joyhome', and this house also became a children's holiday home. Over 200 children have been recorded as staying there.

Dulcie commenced school at Brighton Public School, but completed 3rd to 6th class at Sans Souci Public School. She then went to St George Girls High School until she gained her Intermediate Certificate. It was at this time she was a champion in swimming and athletics. At the age of 14 years she went to East Sydney Technical College and in 1944 completed an A.S.T.C. (Associate of Sydney Technical College in Commercial Illustration)

At the age of 16, Dulcie was baptised and became a member of the Sans Souci Baptist Church. In 1945 she became Deaconess to the church and was known as 'Sister Dulcie'. She held this position for nine years, responsible for the children's work and assisting with pastoral care. In 1954 she went to Burwood Baptist Church as Deaconess for twelve months.

It was at this time Sister Dulcie held Sunday School on Sunday afternoons in Dolls Point Park (Peter Depena Park). We would love to receive the little texts that she gave out each week.

In 1955 Dulcie went to London to a Baptist Congress, which became an ongoing commitment every five years. During these years she was associated with Shoreditch Baptist Tabernacle, and then had the opportunity to visit USA.

In 1957 she was awarded the Master of Religious Education in USA, and then returned to Australia to take up the position with the NSW Youth Department. Dulcie was an expert in All Age Sunday School programmes and this took her to many areas of Australia, assisting with Christian Education.

Dulcie's travels were self-funded, as her father had set up a trust to enable her to be self-sufficient. She had great rewards in Papua New Guinea, where an All Age Sunday School was commenced at Baiyer River Mission Station in 1965. While there she had a number of falls and when she returned she complained that her knees were sore and she had pain between her shoulder blades. She was diagnosed with a spinal tumor which required major surgery to have it removed.

In 1975 Dulcie had to retire, after eighteen years of working in the field of Christian Education, to care for her elderly father. She taught Scripture at Sans Souci and Ramsgate Public Schools for over 50 years. She also continued to work at the Kids Klub at Sans Souci Baptist Church.

Dulcie Lois Oldfield, L.Th, M.R.E., A.S.T.C., died on 12 March 2002.^{ix}

Herman Burton PRIMROSE
1876 – 1943

Herman was born at Warialda, NSW in 1876, son of Charles Herman Burton Primrose and Sarah Maria Clissold. He married Primrose 'Queenie' Bedford on 27 January 1904 at Annandale, NSW. They had four children Herman, Sybil, Noel and Gloria.

He was Chairman of St George District Hospital, and a Kogarah solicitor. In 1930 he served as president of the Kogarah Golf Club.

He died at his residence Langunya, Belgrave Street, Kogarah, NSW on 16 February 1943 and was cremated at Woronora Crematorium.

Edmund William Reynolds McMILLAN
1874 – 1929

Edmund was born at Bathurst, NSW in 1874, son of William Laird McMillan and Rebecca Ann Burfoot. In 1898 he married Louisa E Russell at Balmain North, NSW. They had four children Edna (b1899), Doris (b1902), Langer Edmund (b1907) and Olive (b1909).

He commenced his career as a junior at Prince Alfred Hospital, Sydney. He also was employed by Norton, Smith & Co., and then for Mr Langer Owen, K. C., Sydney. He established his own real estate business at 10 Castlereagh Street, Sydney and then Rockdale, NSW in 1905.

Edmund McMillan was well known for the developments in Sandringham. The first five years of his career in real estate was spent holding a number of successful auctions in this area. His slogan was 'The farms and farmlets of today will be the towns and suburbs of tomorrow'.

At this time, he was living at Frederick Street, Rockdale, NSW, he was involved in the forming of NSW Combined Cricket Association, and served as Honorary Treasurer. From 1908 – 1910 he served as Alderman on the Rockdale Council, then held the position of Assessor for a further nine years. He was also President of the Rockdale School of Arts for three years, President of the St George Bowling Club for five years and Vice-President of the Bowling Association of NSW.

His name was embroidered on the Bexley Patriotic Flag for the War Effort in 1916. The people of Bexley paid one pound to have their name embroidered on the flag for this fundraiser.

At this time he was also listed as a Real Estate Agent and Auctioneer at Rockdale, with his private address being 'Wangarra' Dunmore Street, Bexley. By 1920 the family were residing at 'Wangarra' Primrose Avenue, Sandringham.

In 1926 whilst working at St George Star-Bowkett Societies, Station Street, Rockdale, was a victim of a theft from the offices.

He died on 20 August 1929 at the age of fifty five years, and at the time was residing at 15 Ashton Street, Rockdale.

The Dunny Man

We always found a card left by the Dunny Man at Christmas

A Merry Christmas to you all
With plenty of good cheer
And may you have prosperity
Throughout the coming year.

And though the police keep order
There's no more useful man
Than the chap who calls at daybreak
And juggles with the can.

We leave your pan quite clean
And try not to make a mess
We leave our verses every year
And wish you all success.

Your Municipal Dunny Man.

In return we left a couple of bottles of beer for the good deed that he had done all year.

Places of Interest

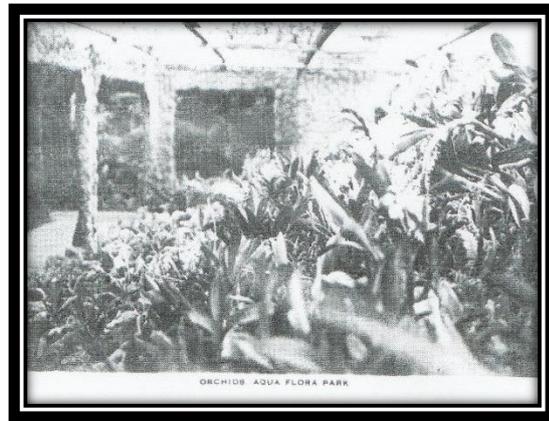

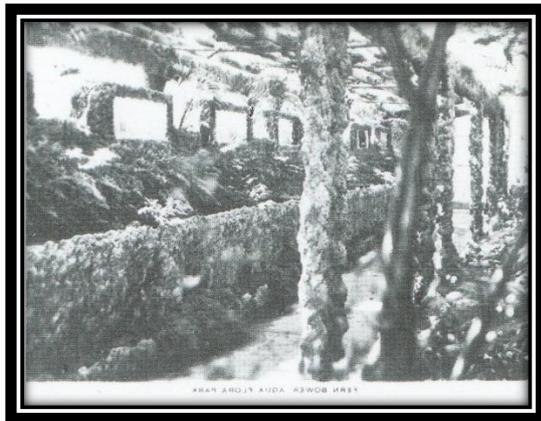

Aqua Flora Park

This pleasure ground was a popular attraction for many residents of Dolls Point and other areas. Situated on Clareville Avenue and backing onto Waldron Street, this private park housed both water features and gardens, with further attractions being introduced at later times. Albert Royce leased the three acres of land for the park in 1931. He worked tirelessly to create Aqua Flora Park and it was opened to the public in September 1933.

A large wooden beam at the entrance bore the name of the park and most of the structures were made of rough cement. The many ponds housed varieties of goldfish and carp with the colourful water lilies floating on top. Native orchids and ferns were in and about the premises making splendid displays. Kangaroos, emus and monkeys in this private zoo, some bred at the park, were a highlight of the day for the children.

One of the nostalgic memories most people have of their visit to the park is the refreshment room that served light meals, Devonshire teas and ice creams. The tables were situated among the fernery, making an enjoyable eatery.

Albert Royce died in 1952 and Mrs Royce continued managing the park until 1956 when Aqua Flora Park closed after 22 years.

BATHS AND BEACHES

Dolls Point on the foreshores of Botany Bay, has been used for many activities. From early days to the present fisherman have used these waters for their occupation. In the late 1800s boatsheds and refreshment rooms formed part of the beachfront. Sailing has been a popular sport in these waters for many years, with two sailing clubs being formed in the 1920s and still operating successful businesses today.

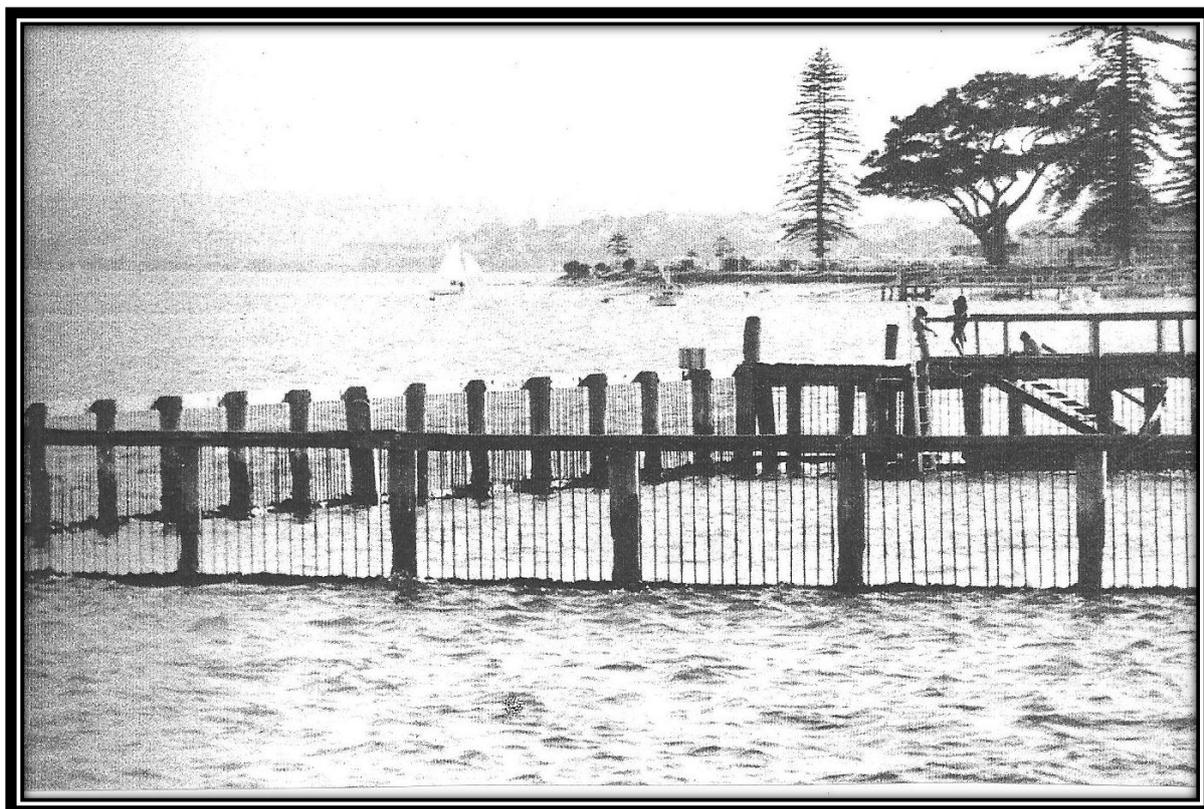

Dolls Point Park forms part of this foreshore and was the area that combined swimming and picnics for locals and visitors. The baths, beach and the park at Dolls Point was where I spent a large part of my childhood with my friends and family.

Dolls Point Baths

At a Rockdale Council meeting in 1932 it was hinted that £500 would be loaned by a Dolls Point resident for the purpose of constructing a shark proof swimming pool at Dolls Point but this was rejected by the council. During the next decade proposals were put to council for the erection of baths at Dolls Point but it was not until May 1947 that the council received a grant from the Government of £350, being half the cost of constructing these baths. In March 1949 A. E. Robb, Deputy Town Clerk, called for tenders for the supply of material, driving of piles, fixing of timber framework and wire mesh.

In the early 1950s these baths were constructed adjoining the wharf and they become part of the playground for the local children. Over many years my uncle Stan fished from the corner of these baths and I had the job of providing the bait by catching poddy mullet with an oyster bottle and bread, in the nearby creek, then running them over to him. We were never short of bream, flathead or whiting and also blue swimmer crabs. Mrs Nosworthy could always be seen fishing on the wharf.

On hot nights our family would retreat to these baths to cool down. We were very fortunate to have these amenities at our doorstep.

Pilgrim's Boatshed & Baths

Frederick Selmon (1869-1953) was an oyster farmer and about 1888 built a boatshed with refreshment rooms on the waterfront at Sandringham. The Lamb family took over this boatshed about 1913.

Then in 1928 the boatshed was taken over by Norman 'Ike' Pilgrim and it became a successful business that offered hire boats, sales and repairs. It also had a refreshment room and sold oyster.

Rockdale Council opened the free shark-proof baths beside the boatshed in 1931 and Pilgrims maintained these baths for many years.

Pemberton's Ramsgate Baths

A privately owned swimming baths was built on the corner of Ramsgate Road and The Grand Parade. The owner Mr Pemberton opened the indoor baths with a 50 metre pool in October 1924. In March 1925 another pool was added and then in 1926 a children's pool was included.

The saltwater for the pools was pumped from Botany Bay. Diving boards and a large slippery dip were there for the enjoyment of the swimmers. These baths were not only used by the general public but for swimming training, club carnivals and school events. The highlight of a swimming day was when the children dived for the pennies that Pop Pemberton threw into the pool.

The reception area housed a small zoo of birds and monkeys in cages. The kiosk was the place to go after a swim, as hot chips, scallops and apple fritters were among the popular items.

Ramsgate Baths were closed after the 1969-70 season ended. Coles New World Supermarket was then built on this site.

CHURCHES

St Andrews Church of England

In the 1890s, as part of the Parish of St Pauls, Kogarah, Anglican Sunday School classes commenced in the Cricket Pavilion, a tin shed on William Pritchard's property in Vista Street, Sans Souci. Adult services also began in an outbuilding of the Sans Souci Hotel, these being later transferred to the pavilion.

In 1902 two allotments of land on the corner of Rocky Point Road and Sandringham Street were purchased, and a small weatherboard hall was erected by voluntary labour. St Andrews outgrew the original wooden building and four blocks of land on the corner of Rocky Point Road and Rawson Street were purchased in 1929.^x

The hall continued to be used for community activities until it was sold to make way for a Mobil service station. I remember attending Sunday school in the wooden hall in the early 1950s.

St Andrew Church still stands today and holds many memories of the weddings and funerals conducted in this church by Rev. Hallahan and Rev. Ctercteko.

St Finbars Church

The Catholic community of Sans Souci were part of the Parish of St Patrick Church, Kogarah. The parents of the school were concerned for their safety of their children going to and from school and asked for a church/school to be erected at Sans Souci.

Residents raised the money to buy land in Broughton Street, Sans Souci. This site was opposite the property owned by the Sisters of Mercy, from the Diocese of Wilcannia Forbes, which was used as a retreat ^{xi}

St Finbars Church School was opened in 1926 and was used as a school during weekdays and a church on Sundays. In 1959 further additions were made to the church and to the school, to accommodate the increase in the congregation.^{xii}

Ramsgate Methodist Church

Ramsgate Methodist Church began in 1915 in a temporary weatherboard building on Rocky Point Road, Ramsgate near Targo Street. A permanent church was erected in 1924. In 1977 the Presbyterian, Congregational and Methodist churches formed the Uniting Church.

Sans Souci Baptist Church

The mother church for the Baptist community in the St George district was the Kingsgrove Baptist Church, founded in 1875. It was responsible for funding Mission Halls (without resident ministers), where meetings were held by visiting preachers and lay readers.

As the attendees increased a Mission Hall was established in Russell Avenue, Sans Souci and in 1908 an application was submitted for full church membership. It remained in Russell Avenue until a new church was opened in 1921 at the corner of Rock Point Road and Hillview Street, Sans Souci.^{xiii}

CLUBS

St George Sailing Club

In late 1897 the residents of the Sans Souci and surrounding districts decided to form a Sailing club:

About twenty-five boats, hailing from Georges River and Botany Bay, engaged in a series of very interesting and attractive evolutions off Sans Souci and Sandringham yesterday afternoon, preliminary to the formation of a sailing club in that locality. Mr. James Gannon was commodore, and his yacht Wanderer led the way. A fresh nor'-easter, which tampered the heat considerably, made the outing a most enjoyable one. Upon returning home a meeting was held in the Sans Souci Hall for the purpose of starting the new club. There were about 70 residents of the surrounding district present. Mr. Gannon, who presided, was unanimously elected commodore; Mr. Fred Thomas, jun. hon. sec.; and Mr. Maclardy, hon. treasurer. A strong committee was also chosen. The club is to be known as the St. George Sailing Club. Mr. Gannon promised to give a valuable trophy for competition directly matters were fairly under way.^{xiv}

The first regatta was held on 22 December 1897 with fifty boats competing. They held their meetings in various places and in 1927 decided to lease Hughes Boatshed for this purpose. In 1931 new premises were built adjacent to the ferry ramp. In 1964 the clubhouse was demolished to make way for the Captain Cook Bridge and new premises were built in its present position.

St George Motor Boat Club broke away in 1921 and Georges River Sailing Club in 1927 to form their own clubs. St George Sailing Club continued to maintain a large membership and still remains an active club today.

Georges River Sailing Club

At a meeting in the Paragon Hall, Sandringham, on 8 June 1927, a sailing club to be known as the Georges River Sailing Club was formed. Donations to the amount of £50 were handed in. Office Bearers for the season were - Patron, Mr. F. Selmon; President, Mr J. McCowage; Commodore, Mr. S. Anderson; Hon. Secretary, Mr. J. McGowan; Asst. Secretary, Mr. S. Singleton; Hon. Treasurer, Mr. G. Selmon; Committee, Messrs. G. Oberg, L. Whitehead, H. Holyoake, M. Conway, A. Stanbury, J. Walker, and A. Honeyfield.^{xv}

It was reported: The Georges River Sailing Skiff Club, an off-shoot from the old St. George organisation, which gained affiliation a few weeks ago with the N.S.W. Skiff Council by one vote, after a wordy warfare, has not made the progress anticipated by the Selmon family.

The new organisation started off with a fanfare of trumpets, by promising rich cash prizes in addition to boats having a comfortable clubhouse of their own at Doll's Point.

All these inducements have not troubled the majority of the boat owners of St. George, who are sticking loyally behind the original body, as it is claimed at San Souci, Sandringham and Kogarah Bay, that there is no need for two distinct clubs.

Georges River made a new move the other day, and again came a cropper. It offered £50 for an interclub race in December, of which £25 is to go to the winner.

St. George again decided not to accept the bait of golden notes. It claimed that the move was one designed to induce another to leave and go to Doll's Point.

Old sailing men, who have been with St. George for twenty years assert that if those who are offering rich cash could give today it seems strange that they did not do so when, members of the original body.

Georges River has only a boat registration of four skiffs, and these are owned in the one family — Selmon. They are Sutherland, Kurnell, Forby and Joyce. The last belongs to son-in-law Singleton.

St. George on the other hand has a bigger membership than usual. It is paying away good cash with valuable trophies for 23 races.^{xvi}

A corrugated tin boatshed was purchased on the northern shores of Sandringham Bay, and converted into a Club House.^{xvii} Georges River Club House at Dolls Point was officially opened on 10 December 1927, with a large attendance of members and representatives of Sailing Clubs. Commodore Sid Anderson welcomed the visitors among whom were the Mayor of Rockdale, Ald. J. Gardiner; Ald. A. Baxter, Ald. G. Barton, J. Sharpe, President of Balmain Regatta; A. Hamilton (Middle Harbour); F. Deedy (Drummoyne); H. Price, (Port Jackson), and A. Waterhouse (North Sydney).^{xviii}

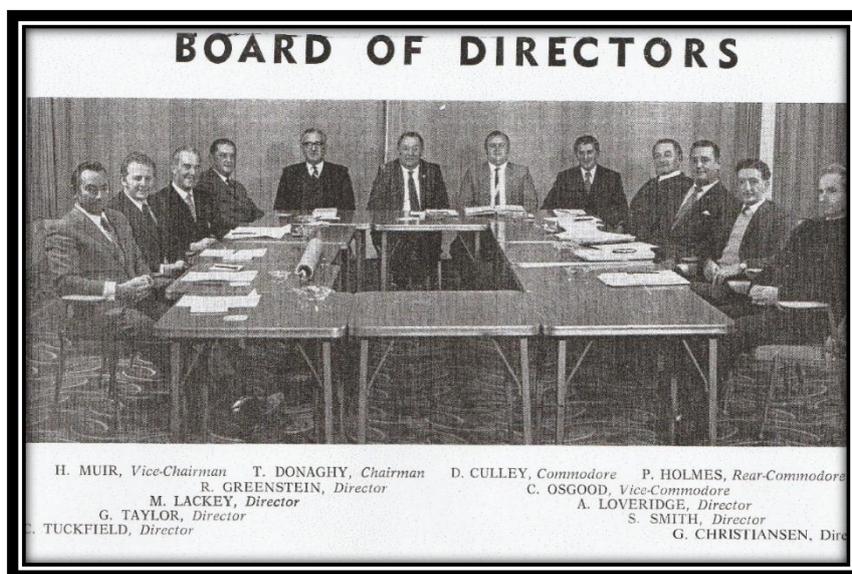

The club grew over the years and began to include social activities for the members and families. A regular fortnightly cabaret was held in the ballroom on a Saturday night, which included novelty dances and the music supplied by Arthur Smiths band of Merry-makers.

Cricket matches were also a regular event with various other clubs and business companies. Members and family picnic days to Towra were a frequent event on the agenda. The club acquired a billiard table, which introduced another sporting item for the members. Over the years several other activities were introduced. I remember learning Judo at the club in the 1950s. The club also had their own G.R.S.C. football team who played in the St George Rugby League District competition.

In 1962 the club was gutted by fire. The dining room was untouched so the club continued to operate using the dining room area as the main club until the building was refurbished.

Dolls Point Sporting Clubs

Several sporting events were held at the Sandringham Pleasure Grounds in the late 1800s. Pigeon shooting was a popular activity. There were many sporting clubs in the Dolls Point area in the early 1900s including Dolls Point Athletics Swimming Club.

This Dolls Point Athletics Swimming Club was formed in October 1914, and used Sans Souci Baths for all races.^{xix} The membership was open to all members of the St George District. Many of these members served their country in the Great War years. The club held carnivals for the National Belgian Relief Fund.

Dolls Point Park - Peter Depena Reserve

The park was our playground in the 1950s, and our youth was spent in various parts of these grounds. It spread from Cook Park, around the foreshore of Botany Bay to Carruthers Drive, and bound by Malua Street and Russell Avenue.

As I lived in McMillan Avenue it was a short walk to the bottom of the street and into the park. The summer-sheds were placed at several parts of the park, they were open brick buildings divided into four sections by walls with a table and bench seats in each quarter. We frequented the shed near the creek, the closest to our street. Our school holidays were spent having picnic lunches in the summer-sheds and playing on the swings, slippery dips and razzle dazzle, no rocket in our days.

The Waradiel Creek, is a storm water drain, which runs through the park from Russell Avenue out into Botany Bay.

In response to the application of Mr. H. Munro of Doll's Point to Rockdale Council for some repairs to the creek adjoining his property, Overseer Berry has reported that a dry rubble wall should be constructed, making a retaining wall for the path, and a permanent bank for the creek, at a cost of £17/10/0. As Mr. Munro will benefit by this work, it was decided to approach him with respect to a quota of the cost.^{xx}

The George River Sailing Club is situated beside the creek which flowed into Botany Bay. From the bridge (halfway along the creek) to the entrance of the bay was mostly tidal and was ideal for catching poddy mullet with pieces of bread in an oyster bottle.

Dolls Point swimming baths are near the sailing club. These baths were rather large with a wharf on one side. The baths became our playground where we swimming before and after school most days in the summer. Afterwards we would sunbake in the sand dunes which were between the bridge and the sailing club along the edge of the creek.

There were three kiosks in Dolls Point Park, one at the back of the Appleby's house in Russell Avenue that opened out into the park, between McMillan Avenue and the creek. The other kiosk was on the other side of the creek near the bridge and was operated by Mr Nagle. He would wheel a barrow down to the kiosk every Sunday morning filled with drinks and lollies from the general store in Clareville Avenue owned by his wife. The third kiosk was a shop in Russell Avenue, opposite Primrose House. This shop sold hot food, sandwiches, ice creams and had a tea room on the side facing onto the park.

*Kiosk and Refreshment Room at Dolls Point Park

The park was dotted with coral oak and sheoak trees, Norfolk pines also lined the foreshores. This park was used for family picnics and company Christmas picnics. As children, we were fortunate enough to join into these picnic days and enter the running races, sack races and three legged races. We would also line up to receive the presents and show bags that were handed out.

Sister Dulcie from the Baptist Church held a scripture group in the park each Sunday afternoon. We would enjoyed listening to her and receiving a rectangular scripture card with a bible message.

On Saturday afternoons at the water's edge we would often see an adult immersion baptism conducted by the Jehovah Witnesses.

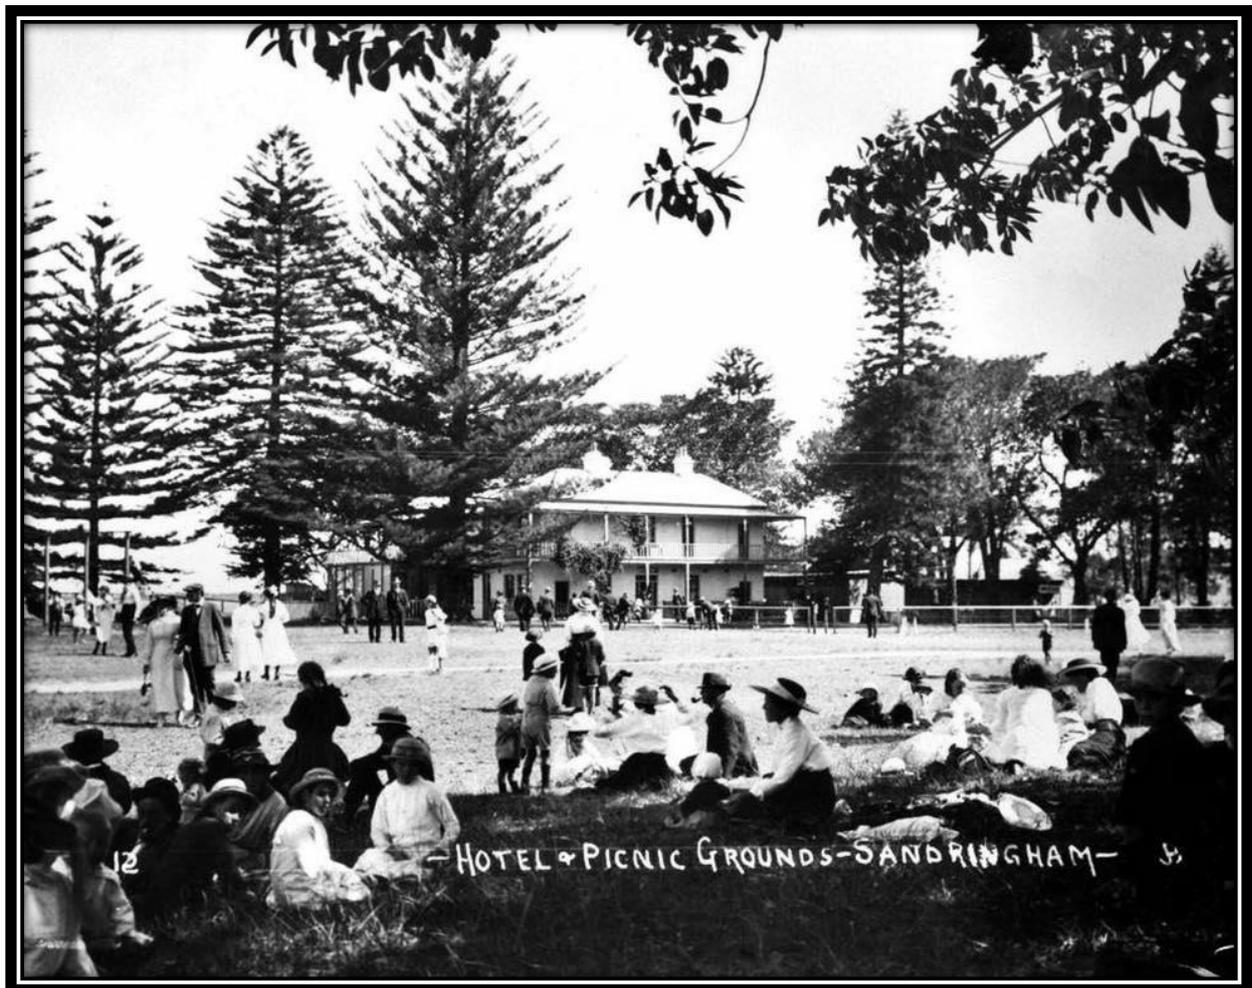

The foreshores of Dolls Point were always full of activities, swimming, fishing and sailing just to mention a few. Between Dolls Point baths and Sandringham baths (Pillies), was the area used where the fishermen pulled in their nets.

HOTELS

Prince of Wales Hotel

William Rust built the Prince of Wales Hotel at Sandringham, originally Stripper's Point. He named this area Sandringham after his birthplace in Norfolk, England. The hotel, with a landscape of Norfolk Island pine and Moreton Bay fig trees, housed several buildings similar to Swiss chalets. In 1880 he replaced these buildings with a two storey construction, which catered for formal diners, and accommodation for guests and honeymooners. William and Emma Rust expanded their attractions with the development of pleasure grounds beside their hotel. Horse-drawn carriages were used until the opening of the Illawarra Railway in 1884 to bring picnickers and holiday makers to this area. In 1886 they sold the hotel to travel overseas.

Prince of Wales Hotel – Joseph Brokenshire Collection

There were several licensees take over this business in the following years. I remember in my younger years, this hotel being called 'Lousy Les's Pub'. Leslie Howard Ritchie took over as licensee in the early 1930s. In the following years he introduced boxing, wrestling and bands as entertainment. The name and licence of the Prince of Wales Hotel was sold in 1952 to Michael Eugene Moylan for £56,000. Les Ritchie died in 1957.

The hotel became known as Mick Moylans and with its prime location on the shores of Botany Bay was often used for patrons in the summer for dining and watching the entertainment. The closing hours of hotels changed from 6pm to 10pm in 1955 this allowed for nightly entertainment. The beer-garden in the winter housed open fires to keep the patrons warm while watching the talent quests, showgirls and rock and roll bands. Parents with children often parked their cars under the Moreton Bay fig trees and had a drink in their cars, while watching their children play. The Douglas men also sold their fish to the locals under the big Moreton Bay fig tree nearby.

In 1961 'Mick Moylan's' was rebuilt and renamed Hotel Sans Souci. Mick died in 1969 aged forty nine and the hotel continued to be the venue for entertainment. In 1993 developers demolished the hotel for the present day apartments.

Scarborough Hotel

James Eve purchased six blocks of land at the end of Russell Avenue in 1889, from Alfred George Carruthers. He erected a two storey building that would accommodate forty couples, as his intention was to operate it as a hotel. He applied for a publican's licence in 1891 and named the business The Scarborough Hotel.

The hotel struggled from the start and he later transferred the licence to Stephen J Byrne. The business had a heavy loss in the 1893 Depression and the licence was not renewed.^{xxi}

Scarborough House – Joseph Brokenshire Collection

Primrose House

After James Eve surrendered the licence of the Scarborough Hotel in 1893 it was leased as a residence to several notable tenants. These included J. H. Carruthers MLA, who resided from 1893-1895. Frederick T. Wimble being the longest tenant, used the grand location lined with Phoenix Palm trees and Norfolk Island Pines, for garden parties, picnics, boating and excursions. The Wimbles renamed the property Scarborough House, and they remained there until 1913, when they moved to Drummoyne.

James Eve died in 1911 and after the Wimbles left the premises remained empty and suffered some vandalism. The executors of Eve's estate sold the property to James Trout in 1915. He reapplied for a hotel licence and this was taken up by William Lincke.

In 1919 the property was transferred to the Red Cross and used as a convalescent home for the returned servicemen, mainly with long term injuries. In the grounds Army tents were erected for up to three hundred men.

By 1921 the Scarborough Red Cross Home became the property of Dr Barnardos Homes. Thousands of orphaned or abandoned boys came from England to make a new start in Australia. Alexander Allan, a coal merchant, purchased the property in 1926 and once again tried to convert it into a hotel.

In the Great Depression of the 1930s the property was leased to the Trustees of Christ Church, St Laurence, of Sydney. It operated as St Laurence College, boarding school for boys. The college ceased to operate in 1934 and was handed back to Alexander Allan, whose wife sold it to St George District Hospital in 1936.

The building became known as Primrose House, after the Chairman of St George District Hospital, Herman B. Primrose, a Kogarah solicitor.

It was used as a convalescent unit of the St George Hospital. In the mid 1990s it became the headquarters of South Eastern Sydney Area Health Services.

In 2016 NSW Health abandoned a plan to convert the property into a dialysis unit, as the renovations would be too costly. The local community were concerned that this historical home would be turned over to developers. Fortunately the property was sold to the Presbyterian Church Trust for Scot's Boys College and will be used as a boy's college once again.

SCHOOLS

Sans Souci Public School

The school was opened in 1885 with the first teacher being William Ross. It was an unlined wooden schoolhouse 24 x 16 feet, sufficient floor space for 48 pupils. The furniture consisted of desks and forms over 10 foot long. A closed-in verandah was used as a hat room and wash room. The school was enlarged and in 1920 divided into Primary and Infants Departments.

I was enrolled at this school in 1950 and enjoyed my kindergarten year with Miss O'Donoghue. I had wonderful years at this school where I made many lifetime friends. The school had memorable teachers such as Miss Bridle (Headmistress), Miss Fieldhouse (Deputy Headmistress), Miss Vipond, Mrs Lake, Miss Bertram, Miss Lillian Frost, Mrs Brett, Mrs Fleming nee Bergeest, Mrs Blair nee Henry, Miss McLaren (Headmistress), Mr Hamilton (Headmaster) and Mr Skelton.

Leslie Annie Bridle (1904-1988) was born on 6 July 1904, at 'Rosevale' Tumut NSW, daughter of Henry Ernest Bridle and Annie May Franklin. Miss Bridle was related to Miles Franklin of Brindabella Station who wrote My Brilliant Career. She transferred from Taree Infants School to Sans Souci

Infants School as headmistress in 1950. Leslie Bridle died on 24 May 1988 at St Vincent Hospital, Sydney NSW.

Lila Fieldhouse (1903-1995) was born in Sydney on 4 October 1903, daughter of William Harold Fieldhouse and Clara Jane Larkin Reed. Miss Fieldhouse was a student at St George Girls High School. She lived at Farr Street, Rockdale then moved to Arncliffe. She was a member of the St John's Dramatic Society and had roles in their productions. In 1933 she was transferred from Sans Souci Infants School to Mortdale Infants School, but must have transferred back to Sans Souci as Deputy Mistress circa 1950. By mid 1950s she was residing at Cronulla and was a member of the Cronulla Dramatic Society Productions, taking the role of Lady Stawholme in Fresh Fields in 1956. Lila Fieldhouse died 18 May 1995 and her ashes are placed in Henry Lawson Gardens, General Bushrock 10, Garden A/01, Woronora Cemetery NSW.

Each year we looked forward to the school fete, which started at Ramsgate with a procession of marching bands, floats and community groups. When Captain Cook Bridge was built it became extremely difficult to hold a procession down Rocky Point Road, because of the volume of traffic.

The school also had various groups supported by the children, Stewart House, Red Cross and the Bird Guild.

St Finbars School

The school was established in 1926 when Sans Souci was still a part of the parish of Kogarah. Fr John Driscoll, parish priest of Kogarah, arranged for the Sisters of St Joseph, who had a convent and school in Kogarah, to open this second school in the parish. By 1930 there were 135 children enrolled at the school.

In 1936 the Sisters of Mercy Wilcannia-Forbes Congregation, who had the convent opposite the school, took over the running of the school. By 1960 the school had 188 pupils and were taught by just four sisters and by 1969 enrolments had reached 234.

The Sisters of Mercy withdrew from the leadership of the school in December 1984. The school is currently staffed entirely by lay teachers and principal.^{xxii}

Sans Souci Pre-School Kindergarten

This pre-school in Clareville Avenue, Dolls Point was opened in 1951 with a waiting list of 36 pupils for enrolment.^{xxiii} The school was located adjacent to Aqua Flora Park. It held an annual fete which the locals enjoyed. The premises were also used as a voting booth for the Barton Electorate.

St Laurence's College

Alexander Allan, a coal merchant had tried to convert Scarborough House into a hotel in 1926. The onset of the Great Depression forced Allan to lease it to four Trustees of Christ Church, St Laurence, of Sydney. In the early 1930s, Scarborough House was opened as St Laurence's College, a boarding school, under the headmastership of Rev. K. D. Roach. The school close in 1934 and the site was sold to the St George District Hospital in 1936. It was then used as a convalescent and rehabilitation centre.^{xxiv}

THEATRES

Ramsgate Odeon Theatre

By the mid 1920's Ramsgate shopping centre had developed, and included no less than thirty three shops. There were five grocery shops, three green grocers, four butchers, a billiard saloon, a doctor, two dentists, several clothing and specialty shops and a branch of the Government Savings Bank. It also had the district's most up to date Picture Theatre, on the corner of Rocky Point Road and Alice Street. The Palace was built in 1922 by Cecil Owen, who in the 1940s went into partnership as Owen and Sellers and later became known as Ramsgate Odeon.

The theatre was used for various functions including community singing on Wednesday nights in the 1930s. Residents chose either Friday or Saturday to go to the pictures. The theatre was sold to the Acme Theatres in 1951, who then sold to the Odeon chain.^{xxv}

In the late 1950s I remember going to the theatre to watch Johnny O'Keefe perform live. The introduction of television in 1956 caused the closure of Ramsgate Odeon in 1961. The theatre was converted into Tom the Cheap, the first supermarket in the district. It was later demolished and now houses apartments.

On 19 December 1956 came the opening of Caringbah Skyline Drive-In.^{xxvi} This opened up another avenue of entertainment, not only for the residents of the Shire but also for the people of Sans Souci, Dolls Point and Ramsgate areas. As Captain Cook Bridge had not been built at this time, a short trip on the punt was necessary to get to the Drive-In at Taren Point. The Caringbah Drive-In closed in 1988 and the land was sold for commercial development.

PIGEON PICNIC AT SANS SOUCI

On Saturday last a few friends of Mr J. R. Yorke invited that gentleman to a day's shooting, at Sans Souci and but for the weather would have spent a most enjoyable day. All the arrangements had been made with due regard for a satisfactory consummation. Mr Rust had been instructed to prepare a dinner worthy of the occasion, and this he did in his very best style, putting on the table a really splendid feed, to which, and its liquid accompaniments, the company did substantial sportsmen's justice. The Sydney contingent travelled to the scene of action by a bus which had been specially chartered for the occasion, and the ground was reached in comfort before noon. There's no doubt at all about the suitability of Sans Souci for a picnic of this sort; and there's equally little doubt of the fitness of Mr and Mrs Rust for the position of Host and Hostess on such occasions. This time there was an extempore shed put up, and made weather tight with plenty of boughs and a large sail; and fortunate was it for the shooters that this had been done, for otherwise they would never have been able to keep their powder dry. As it was they congregated under this very welcome shelter, and there they were provided with a plentiful supply of 'Battle Axe,' and other creature comforts, to which from time to time they did apply themselves, as was very necessary, by reason of the inclement weather. The shooting consisted of three matches, of five shooters on each side, the respective captains being Messrs A. Davis and Longfield and the first match fell to the 'Sussex' team, which killed sixteen birds out of their twenty four, against only eleven dead ones scored by their opponents. In the second match Mr Longfield's aide came off victorious, with sixteen to fifteen and the third was won by Mr Longfield's side also, with fifteen birds to credit out of twenty, their opponents accounting for only one less. It will be seen that the shooting improved, toward the end and considering that the birds were good and the wind very high, the performances of most of the shooters may be considered very satisfactory. Early in the day, Mr Tricke was the crack shot, killing all his birds in the first match and in the afternoon Messrs Williams, Longfield and Kavanagh were the champions, each killing all his birds in the last match. The rival captains shot well throughout the day, killing eleven birds apiece out of fourteen, as also did Mr Kavanagh. Next to these came Messrs Tricke and Williams with ten, and Messrs Yorke and Manton with eight. After the first match the party dined right royally; Mr Alfred Davis being in the chair, with the guest on his right and for some time the work of feeding went merrily on. This being concluded, the chairman proposed Mr Yorke health in a nice little speech, to which Mr Yorke made a neat and suitable reply, and concluded by proposing the health of Mr Alfred Davis, the oldest shooter present after which shooting was resumed, despite the steadily increasing rain. The afternoon was pleasantly spent of course it would be when all the party were determined to enjoy themselves, and make each other happy, and when the shooters separated, it was with a hearty wish to meet again soon for a similar purpose at Sans Souci. Mr Yates kindly and impartially performed the duty of umpire and the trapping other arrangements, were as well carried out, as the weather would possibly permit.

Bell's Life in Sydney and Sporting Chronicle, 23 October 1869

EXCURSION TO SANS SOUCI - A numerous company of gentlemen yesterday visited 'Sans Souci,' a pretty point of land near the mouth of George's River, which during the last few years has become a favourite place of resort to many who have made its acquaintance. But the principal object of the excursion was to see the Seven-mile Beach, which forms the western shore of Botany Bay. Most of the gentlemen who accepted the invitation of the Hon. Thomas Holt meet at 'The Warren' and after breakfast started on their journey, some in carriages and buggies, and some on horseback. The latter mode of travelling is the more agreeable to those who are used to the saddle, for the roads are rough and the tracks too narrow for a pair of horses. Among the company were his Excellency the Governor of this colony (the Earl of Belmore), his Excellency the Governor of Queensland (Colonel Blackall), Sir James Martin, Colonel Carthew, the Rev. S. C. Kent, the Rev. George King, the Hon. John Hay, the Hon. George Allen, and several other members of the Legislature. The route is through the village of Cook's River, to which, from Sydney, there is one of the best macadamised roads in the colony. The village itself does not give much evidence of taste, but being on the banks of a river, and with good natural features, by a little intelligent municipal action it might be made an attractive place. From the dam to Sans Souci the distance by road is about four miles and a half. The road however is heavy and somewhat rough, although it is undergoing a gradual improvement. To go by way of the beach it is necessary to leave the main road about a hundred yards beyond the dam, and, turning to the left, ascend a hill which at first sight does not seem to lead to anywhere in particular. One might fancy it was a piece of wild uninhabited country, but that some of the big logs are plastered over with blue posters announcing to the electors of Canterbury 'Stephen is in the field'. A piece of the crown of this hill has been excavated wide enough to allow vehicles to pass, and this cutting forms the entrance to Muddy Creek Road, which is well defined all the way to Patmore Swamps. These swamps, which extend (parallel with the beach) to Sans Souci, are well known to a few of our keenest sportsmen as a place where years ago they shot wild duck and kangaroo, but most of our readers have probably only heard of them in connection with the question of water supply. From the head of those swamps to the Seven-mile Beach there is a bridle-track over about half-a-mile of undulating sandy country, covered with stunted shrub and bush flowers. There are marked trees the whole distance.

GEORGE'S RIVER - On Saturday last, about 250 gentlemen, including members of the Ministry, both Houses of Legislation, University Professors, scientific and literary gentlemen, and manufacturers, assembled at Sans Souci, on the invitation of the Hon. Thomas Holt, of the Warren, and from thence were conveyed up George's River, on a voyage of inspection as to the probabilities of getting our water supply from that quarter. An elegant repast was served on board, and various toasts proposed and responded. The steamer proceeded up the river about 15 miles, and returned to Sans Souci about 4pm. The guests left for town about 5pm.

CORONER'S INQUEST

Yesterday forenoon, the City Coroner held, at the Sans Souci Hotel, Sans Souci, an inquest touching the death of an elderly man, named Thomas Gray. Alexander Smith deposed that he was a shell-gatherer, and resided at Pelican Point, Botany Bay; the dead body viewed by him in the shed attached to the Sans Souci Hotel, he had recognised as that of a man named Thomas Gray, who was fifty-six years of age, a native of Scotland, and unmarried; deceased was a labourer, and had been for sixteen or seventeen years in this colony; he also resided at Pelican Point, Botany Bay; witness had known deceased for thirty-five years, and ever since he came to the colony they had resided together, with the exception of two years, for about fifteen years; deceased was not a sober man, but witness very seldom saw him drunk; he could take a great quantity of drink; he had enjoyed, very good health, but for the last few years he had complained of his stomach, and bad digestion; for the last week or two he complained, when walking, of shortness of breath, and a pain in the breast; he was with witness at Sans Souci Hotel on Tuesday last, and had four nobblers of brandy; that was all witness saw him drink; deceased was sober; they went home together; deceased did not then complain of anything; he took some medicine when he went home for the pain in his breast; a man named Douglas was with them at Sans Souci Hotel; there was no quarrel between them; deceased lived in a hut close to witness; Gray went to his hut about 8 o'clock at night, saying he hoped he would have a better night's rest than he had had the night before; deceased told witness that the medicine he had taken was senna and salts; the next time witness saw deceased was about 8 o'clock on Wednesday morning, in Douglas's hut, close to his own; he was then sitting on a sofa and witness asked him how he felt; a woman named Hughes, witness, and deceased were the only persons then in the room; deceased replied, in answer to his question, that he had had a very bad night's rest, and that he had had to get up out of bed through shortness of breath and sit at the fire-place with his blanket round him; witness remained in the house, and in about half an hour after he entered Mrs. Hughes called out to him and drew his attention to deceased; on looking round he saw him as if he were going off into a faint, with his head thrown back and making a gurgling noise in his throat; immediately before that he had been talking; witness caught him in his arms and laid him on the sofa; he did not speak, and died almost immediately afterwards; nothing occurred on Tuesday evening or on Wednesday morning to excite or annoy deceased. The woman Hughes was examined, but her evidence was merely corroborative. Dr. Sedgwick, having been sworn, gave it as his opinion that death had resulted from disease of the heart. The jury returned a verdict in accordance of the medical testimony.

A fatal boat accident occurred at Sans Souci last Monday evening at 8 o'clock. It appears that a labourer residing at Kogarah, named Robert Poole, together with one William Smith, left Sans Souci in a dingy to go up George's River. Both parties had a quart bottle of rum with them. Whilst crossing a place called Carter's Island the dingy suddenly capsized, and Poole sank and was drowned. Smith swam ashore, after great exertion. The body of Poole was recovered at 10 o'clock on Tuesday morning by a man named Douglass, near the scene of the accident.

A DEATH IN A BLACKFELLOW'S CAMP

The City Coroner, to-day, held a magisterial inquiry at the San Souci Hotel, San Souci, respecting the death of an aboriginal named Billy Jawbone, aged 56 years, who died suddenly, at a hut occupied by a number of other aboriginals, at San Souci, George's River. George Forsyth deposed that about 12 o'clock last Sunday he proceeded to a hut at Kogarah Bay, and there saw deceased's body, lying dressed on a bed without any marks of violence on it. One of the aboriginals stated that after having his breakfast deceased went outside and lay down on the grass. About ten minutes afterwards he was found dead. He had been drinking, after having been off the drink for a fortnight, but had commenced drinking again on last Saturday night. An aboriginal named Joey Timberi, deposed that deceased came from Shoalhaven about a month ago, and lived with witness' tribe ever since. Deceased had been drinking heavily, and last Saturday night had two or three nobblers. He was not drunk. There was no quarrelling nor did deceased disturb their camp. He complained of a pain in his arm. On Sunday morning deceased ate heartily of meat and bread. He went outside, and ten minutes after witness found him dead. Dr. Sedgewick deposed that from his examination of the body, which he was able to make (decomposition having set in), and from the statements of Joey Timberi and James Bodong, the cause of death was disease of the heart. The coroner found that death had arisen from natural causes.

BOTANY BAY FESTIVITIES

The shores of Botany Bay never presented a more gay and lively appearance than yesterday, for there could not have been less than 5000 or 6000 persons at Sandringham, San Souci, La Perouse, and other holiday resorts in this historic locality. The new steamship Australian conveyed about 250 excursionists from the Circular Quay to Sandringham, where there was assembled almost an equal number of persons who had reached this picturesque locality by road. In the pavilion at Sandringham, the Ashfield brass band discoursed eloquent music for the votaries of terpsichore, while Mr. J. G. W. M'Curdy, proprietor of the Prince of Wales Hotel, attended to the requirements of the excursionists. About a quarter of a mile from Sandringham is San Souci, now a favourite watering retreat, on account of its salubrity and beautiful scenery. The San Souci races, at host Blake's Hotel pleasure retreat, attracted upwards of 2000 persons from Sydney and the surrounding locality. There were six races, and Mr. Blake's horses won most of the prizes. Unfortunately a heavy rain storm came on at the close of the day, and nearly, all the pleasure seekers got drenched on their homeward journey. The return trip of the Australian was marred by nearly all the passengers being afflicted with sea sickness and owing to the lumpy state of the sea, and a head wind, Sydney was not reached until 8.45 p.m.

THE KOGARAH-SANS SOUCI TRAMWAY

The recently constructed tramway line from Kogarah to Sans Souci and Sandringham was opened for traffic on Saturday. There was no formal ceremony in connection with the opening, but the occasion was taken advantage of by the promoters of a land sale to hold an auction at Doll's Point, and consequently there was a considerable passenger traffic over the line in the afternoon, as a large number of people attended the sale. The term tramway, as applied to this line, is somewhat of a misnomer, as it is nothing more nor less than a light surface railway, of a type which would prove very useful in many of the country districts of the colony. It differs only from the ordinary railway in the cheapness of its construction, and the fact that it runs for the greater part of its distance along the road and is not divided or fenced off in any way. Some eight years ago, long before the present Illawarra line was constructed, the natural beauties and advantages of the neighbourhood led to the proposition for a tramway to render the district accessible to the inhabitants of the metropolis, and a line from St Peters to Sandringham was actually surveyed, and its construction promised by Mr. Sutherland, who was then, as now, Minister for Works. However, the residents in St Peters seem, for some unexplained reason, to have objected to the tramline passing through their midst, and the matter was allowed to drop. The Illawarra line having in the meantime been constructed, Kogarah became the nearest point at which the residents could take train for Sydney, and the landowners of the district having made a very liberal offer to the Government, the construction of the tramway or railway was commenced about nine months ago. The sum of £6000 was contributed towards the cost of the line by the land owners of the district as well as a free gift of the land necessary for the construction of the line. A number of the so-called un-employed were engaged upon the line when it was first commenced, but as it was soon found that they were totally unfitted for the work they were replaced by regular employees of the Railway Department, who were thus engaged, instead of being thrown out of employment by the reductions made in the working staff of the railways. With this skilled labour the line has been rapidly constructed in a creditable and serviceable manner, under the superintendence of Mr. Shellshear, District Engineer of the Existing Lines Department. The rails used on the line were old ones taken from the Windsor railway line, but which still appear to have a good deal of wear left in them. There were no special engineering difficulties to encounter in the construction of the line, the road along which it travels being for the most part level. The steepest gradient on the line is 1 in 22, and the sharpest curve on a radius of five chains. The line is laid with ordinary wooden sleepers, and ballasted with sandstone obtained from a quarry at Kogarah. The district to which the line provides access is already well known to residents in Sydney, and there is no doubt that the completion of the line will lead to a large increase in the number of visitors to the many beautiful sports on the George's River. The line starts from the platform at Kogarah Station, so that the change from the train involves but little inconvenience to passengers. After leaving the platform the line passes up Grey-street and through the rapidly-rising township of Kogarah, until the Rocky Point-road is reached, along which the line continues for some distance. The neighbourhood is fast emerging from a state of primaeval bush into a thickly settled district, and every here and there, as the tram passes along, neat cottages and gardens, with, in many cases, nourishing orchards, are to be seen. The first stopping place is Ramsgate-road, a distance of 1 mile 40 chains from Kogarah, and here the line divides itself into two parts and forms a loop-line, one portion turning to the left down Russell-avenue and the other portion continuing along Rocky Point-road. The usual course taken by the trams is to continue straight along the Rocky Point-road to Sans Souci, a distance of 3 miles 21 chains from Kogarah. At Sans Souci the first glimpse of the beautiful waters of the George's River is obtained, with a splendid view of the opposite shore at Taren Point, which was formerly known as Cummins Point. This point forms a portion of what is well-known as the homestead of Mr. F. S. E. Holt. After leaving this lovely spot the line keeps close to the shore of the George's River, passing for some distance through Cook Park, until Sandringham is reached, about half a mile from Sans Souci. A series of splendid panoramic views are to be obtained from here, and by walking to the end of Doll's Point, a short distance off, a full view of the magnificent curve of seashore known as Lady Robinson's Beach can be obtained. Opposite Doll's Point the line turns up Russell-avenue, a recently-cleared road, passing through, and at present, almost unoccupied portion of the district, until the Rocky Point-road is reached, where the loopline terminates. The line is divided into three sections - the first from Kogarah to Ramsgate-road, the second from Ramsgate-road, round the loopline to Sans Souci and Sandringham and back to Ramsgate-road, and the third from Ramsgate-road to Kogarah. The fare charged on each section is 3d. by ticket or 4d. cash; so that the round journey costs 9d. by ticket, or 1s. cash, the Department, with its usual moderation, only charging 33 per cent extra for the privilege of paying in cash. The total distance from Kogarah round the loopline and back to Kogarah is 7 miles 15 chains, and the round journey is accomplished in about 40 minutes, or an average speed, including stoppages, of 10½ miles per hour. The actual length of line constructed is, however, only 4 miles 65 chains. It is intended to work the line with light engines and ordinary railway carriages, pending the construction of special rolling stock. The ordinary tramway motors are said to be unsuitable for the work, as owing to the narrowness of the wheel flanges they are liable to go off the line on the slightest provocation. On Saturday, however, there was a curious admixture of rolling stock - tramway motors and cars, light railway or contractor's engines, and ordinary railway carriages, all being pressed into the service to convey the heavy passenger traffic. The line proved, for a new railway, remarkably smooth and easy to travel upon and the heavy passenger traffic was worked without any serious interruption taking place.

Telephone Office at Sans Souci.

This council met on Monday, when the Mayor (Alderman Myles M'Rae. JP) occupied the chair. The secretary of the Postal Department wrote stating that as there was no immediate prospect of a telephone office at Sans Souci paying expenses, one could not be established there at present. It was decided to write and point out the high charge made for the delivery of messages from Kogarah, and also to ask Mr. Carruthers to urge the matter again.

WHERE TO SPEND CHRISTMAS

THE HISTORIC SPOT SANS SOUCI

The most historic and certainly the most beautiful watering place in the Australasian colonies is Sans Souci, on the shores of Botany Bay; and it is strange that so few people, not actually resident in the city, know anything of its existence. Sans Souci (meaning overlooked or without care) was so named many years ago by the late Thomas Holt, who, seeing its unmatched natural beauties, marvelled at its being so overlooked or neglected by the citizens of Sydney. Latterly, however, owing to direct tram communication, the place is more frequented by the Sydney public, though only on holidays, to any extent, and doubtless when the inland people become more aware of its beauties and the facilities of transit to and fro, they will be more lavish of their patronage. And it is for the information - principally, of country visitors that this is written. There are hundreds of people inland, worn down by toil and the terribly exhausting heat, who require a change to the seaside, where with a new atmosphere, a more favorable temperature, and the luxury of sea bathing, they, may restore their lost energies. And of all the places about Sydney, and it certainly abounds in many, there is none to compare with lovely Sans Souci. It has the appearance as it is of being one of our very oldest settlements. It is within almost a stone's throw just across the mouth of the George's River, where Captain Cook landed, and on which stands the monument to that immortal incident; and across the bay is La Perouse, with its monument dedicatory to the memory of the ill-fated commander of that name, who finally sailed from this anchorage to meet with all his companions, a mysterious unknown fate in the South Seas. Every inch of the shores hereabout is historic ground, and added to this is the fact of the beauty of marine landscape, with glorious facilities for exploits by land and water. The hotel at Sans Souci, a historic landmark in itself, has drifted into the hands of a man who thoroughly understands the kind of accommodation required by visitors; and no more homely or acceptable accommodation can anywhere be found. A visitor can secure every attention and absolute retirement, rest, and privacy, those essentials which are too often in vain looks for when seeking to escape from the turmoil and the strife of the madding crowd. Fishing, oystering, boating, bathing, shooting, &c., are the pastimes, and boats are always available for aquatic excursions of every kind. The tram now runs from Kogarah Station, meeting every train to and fro, so that one can reach the city any day or night in a few minutes.

Before deciding on any place for visiting or honeymooning, Sans Souci should be looked to. It is a glorious spot - a perfect heartsease that would rejuvenate any one. A wire or letter to the proprietor of the Hotel Sans Souci, will always meet with prompt attention.

AN UNWELCOMED VISITORS

At the Newtown Police Court yesterday, before Mr Giles, S.M., James Peter Hellior, age 19, was charged with having maliciously inflicted greivous bodily harm on Mary Turner, at Doll's Point, Kogarah, on the 4th instant. Accused pleaded not guilty. Mr L Gannon appeared for the prosecution. Dr Bucknell stated that he found prosocutrix, when she was brought to him on the evening of the 4th instant, suffering from a wound several inches long under the eye, from which he extracted three lengthy splinters of wood. She had also several abrasions on other parts of the face. Mary Turner stated she was employed as a domestic servant at Mr Gannon's, Doll's Point, Kogarah. On the evening of the 4th instant accused came to the house and inquired if Mr Gannon was at home. Receiving an answer in the negative, he walked away as Mrs Gannon appeared on the scene. Shortly afterwards accused returned and repeated the question as to Mr Gannon being at home. Receiving the same answer, he picked up a piece of wood and threw it at her, striking her on the face. Accused was committed to take his trial at the next court of gaol delivery. Bail was allowed.

SLY-GROG SELLING

Sergeant Matthews proceeded against Alice Ludolff in the Newtown Police Court yesterday before Captain Fisher, SM, for having, on the 16th instant, at a house formerly known as the Scarborough Hotel, Doll's Point Sandringham, sold whisky without holding a license. Sub-inspector Elliott conducted the prosecution. Accused was defended by Mr Wallace.

Sergeant Matthews stated that about 2 pm on the 16th instant he was in Russell's-avenue, Doll's Point, Sandringham. Constable Cruickshank came out of the building formerly known as the Scarborough Hotel. Witness returned with him into the building. In one of the rooms a man named Orlando was sitting at dinner with a tumbler containing whisky in front of him. Witness rang the bell, defendant came in, Constable Cruickshank told the defendant that he was a constable in plain clothes, and that witness was Sergeant Matthews, also that he (Cruickshank) had seen defendant serve Orlando with whisky, for which she had received from Orlando 6d. Witness asked her if that was true, and she replied 'Yes, but he is a boarder.' Witness asked if she or her husband held a license. Her husband came into the room and said he held a club license, and that Orlando was an honorary member of that club. Orlando interjected that he was not, and was only there as a boarder, and paid for his meals as he got them. Defendant then said that she did not sell the liquor, but gave it to Orlando. Cruickshank reminded her that she had taken the 6d in payment, whereupon she fell upon her knees and cursed Orlando.

Alfred Orlando, a private detective, stated that he was lodging at the Scarborough Hotel on the 16th instant. While witness was having dinner Constable Cruickshank came in and asked for dinner saying he was in a hurry. Defendant asked witness if he had any objection to a gentleman dining with him. Witness said he had not. Cruickshank entered, and sat at the table. Witness paid 1s 6d to defendant for his dinner. Defendant left the room. Shortly afterwards witness rang the bell and asked for a whisky, for which witness paid the defendant 6d.

James Ludolff stated he was the occupier of premises at Dolls Point known as Scarborough House. The place was carried on as a club, and a copy of the rules (produced) was hung up in three rooms of the building. Witness produced a minute book containing particulars of the meetings of the club held since its inception. Witness was secretary. A resolution was passed on the 6th April last by the club as follows - There having been several applicants for board and residence, it is resolved that all boarders, whether casual or permanent, shall be hon. members during their stay at the house.' The club contained 155 members. Witness did not receive any salary for the office of manager and secretary, but received in turn board and lodging for himself and family until such time as the club was in a stronger position. When Orlando came he asked witness what his terms were. Witness replied, '21s per week.' Orlando said he might stay for a fortnight, and gave the name of Smith. Orlando further said that he was travelling for the good of his health, and had been on the Hawkesbury River for some time. While Orlando stayed at the house, witness always called him by the name of Smith. Witness produced an honorary member's ticket of the club drawn in favour of a Mr Smith, which ticket witness gave to Orlando when he took up his abode in the house, in accordance with the rules of the club.

Captain Fisher said even if it were a genuine club the members of such a club had no right to pass a resolution making boarders members of the club. If that were allowed all the boarding-houses in Sydney would be turned into clubs, and could thereby sell liquor. Defendant was ordered to pay a fine of £30 and costs in default three months imprisonment.

A BOGUS CLUB - FINES OF £30 IN TWO CASES

At the Newtown Police Court yesterday, before Mr Johnson, SM, Inspector Elliott proceeded against Jean Max Ludolff of Doll's Point, Sandringham, for having on 31st December, 1896, he then not being the holder of a license or the agent or servant of the holder of a license authorising the sale of liquor under the Licensing Act of 1882, did in a house known as the Scarborough Club, Doll's Point, sell two bottles of colonial beer contrary to law. Leslie Holland was also charged with a similar offence in the same premises on the 4th January, 1897. Mr Wallace, who appeared for the defence, said he would admit the sale of the liquor, but to a member of the club.

The Magistrate said he would have to show that the club was not a bogus one. Sergeant M Cole, an inspector under the Licensing Act, stated that on the 31st December last he went to Doll's Point with Constable Scott and a man named Ridgway. To the latter he gave a marked half crown and two bottles, and told him to go into defendant's premises with certain instructions. Witness went to the bar window of the premises and looked through a pane of glass, from which position witness saw the defendant Ludolff in a stooping position behind the bar counter. He lifted a bottle like the one produced in court and placed it on the counter. He then filled the second bottle. Witness saw Ridgway pay the half-crown over to Ludolff. The latter returned it, as he had no change, and when Ridgway came out he gave witness the bottle of beer. Witness tasted the liquor, and threw it out, and sent Ridgway back to get them refilled in order to effect a second sale. On the 4th January, 1897, witness again went to the premises with Ridgway, to whom he gave a half-crown and two bottles. Witness went into the bar and said to Ridgway, 'What have you in those bottles'? He replied, 'Beer'. Witness said, 'What did you pay for it'? He said, 'Holland has the money'. Holland denied having received it, and said that Ridgway was a member of the club. Holland at witness's request produced two lists of members of the club. Witness looking at the lists and found that Holland was down as the proposer of Ridgway, and he (Holland) having previously told witness that he did not know who proposed Ridgway, witness said, 'How is it that you told me that you did not know who the proposer of Ridgway was'? To which question he did not reply. Witness said to Holland, 'What part do you take in the club'. He replied that he took the chair and that Mr and Mrs Rudolff (sic) being out of town he was there in their interest. He further said that Ridgway had paid only 6d into the funds of the club. The premises were not licensed.

Jean Max Ludolff, residing at Doll's Point, stated that the club was formed on the 16th January, 1896, by about 100 gentlemen. Operations started on the 1st February of that year. It was agreed at the first meeting that witness should make arrangements to obtain a suitable premises to carry on the business. Witness was afterwards elected steward and secretary that was at a meeting of members. The club was carried on according to the rules. Members were nominated and elected, three days intervening between nomination and election, and every name on the roll was that of a genuine member. Ridgway was proposed by witness. At the time Ridgway had not the money, and witness paid the entrance fee for him upon his promising to repay it. To the magistrate: Witness received no salary. The premises belonged to the Perpetual Trustee Company, and rent of £1 a week was paid.

Other evidence having been given, Mr Johnson said he believed in clubs conducted on proper lines, but he had not the slightest hesitation in saying that this club was a bogus one, and was simply an attempt to evade the Licensing Act. It also opened up a means of selling liquor at all hours of the day and night, Sunday as well. He would order each of the defendants to pay a fine of £30, together with costs of Court and 35s. witnesses' expenses, in default, four months imprisonment.

BRUTAL DOG FIGHT

A disgraceful exhibition of larrikinism was witnessed on the beach near Kogarah (near Sydney) on Sunday morning. A large crowd of men met to bring off a previously arranged dog fight. The place chosen was a portion of the beach between Lady Robinson's Beach baths and Doll's Point, a place where the police would under ordinary circumstances be unlikely to disturb the onlookers. It is reported that a crowd of about 400 men was present. The canines, representing St Peter's and Randwick respectively, were splendid specimens, and fought for an hour and a half for a reputed stake of £50.

LETTER TO DAME DURDEN

Moorefields, Kogarah.

Dear Dame Durden - I have been very interested reading the letters from the little girls which you publish in the 'Town and Country Journal.' I hear, too that a prize has been promised for the best letter, so I would like to compete for it. We live at Moorefields, Kogarah, and have a grand view of the historic Botany Bay. There is a creek not far from here where the poor blacks showed Captain Cook water. About a quarter of a mile away is a lovely sandy beach. Lady Robinson's Baths (so called after the wife of one of our Governors) are not far from here. We sometimes go there for a dip in the briny, and I am learning to swim there. We have a dear little pair of ponies named Jessie and Nelly, and sometimes go for drives to Sans Souci and other places. Sharks have often been caught close to the beaches, and I have heard that it is dangerous for people to go paddling about in the water there. We went to Port

Hacking a few weeks ago, and enjoyed the trip very much. It is one of the many pretty places about here. Often we go in the tram and spend an hour or two at Sans Souci, Sandringham, or Doll's Point, all on the shores of Botany Bay, where there are sandy beaches, swings, and at the former place lovely salt water baths just finished. The boys from the Public School are taken there every week to be taught swimming. I spent part of my Christmas vacation at Katoomba, where we went to see Nelly's Glen. The scenery was grand. The Leura Falls are very lovely. Down in the gullies are wonderful fern groves and masses of brilliant Christmas bush. Another interesting place was the Echo-tree. The echoes sounded quite plainly, so that at first I thought it was some persons mocking us from the other side; but now, I know the sound came from a rock that throws the voice back, and produces the echo. I hope my letter is not too long, so I will now conclude, and remain dear Dame Durden, your little friend.

Madeline Moore.

(Dame Durden: I like this simple little letter, write to me again, Madeline)

ST GEORGE SAILING CLUB

On Saturday last a large number of people interested in sailing assembled at the invitation of Mr George Walker, at Sans Souci, the object being to form a sailing club on George's River. There were some 30 boats ranging from 18ft. to 24ft. present, the crews in all numbering about 200. At 4 p.m. the numerous craft fell into line. Mr James Gannon, of Doll's Point, acting as commodore, his first signal being to form squadron from his custom-built 3-rater Swan Hilda, his second signal being 'Follow me in line' then 'Form two divisions,' his fourth being 'Form abreast to starboard to commodore,' and his fifth 'Rendezvous at Sans Souci.' The course sailed was into Botany Bay till opposite Doll's Point, when boats went about and returned to Sans Souci. On landing the company adjourned to Frater's pavillion, where a meeting was held and the club was formed under the title of St George Sailing Club. The officers elected were: Commodore, Mr James Gannon; treasurer, Mr M'Dardy; hon secretary, Mr Fred Thomas; committee, Messrs. Hunter, Holdsworth, S. Geddes, T. Douglas, F. Gannon, H. Munroe, George Walker, J. Gannon and M'Dardy. Mr James Gannon, who occupied the chair, promised to donate a trophy valued at £5. 5s to the club.

MR CARRUTHERS AT SANS SOUCI

The late member for St. George held a meeting in the hall at Frater's Hotel, Sans Souci, last evening. The chair was taken by Dr. Carroll. On the platform were Messrs. W Pritchard, Clement Lewis, and other gentlemen. The hall was well filled. Great cheering welcomed Mr. Carruthers, who said it was almost superfluous to make a set speech to people in whose midst he had so long dwelt. The best test of a man's fitness to represent people in Parliament was that he represented the people amongst whom he lived. A report had been spread that he intended to desert the electorate. He had had no such intention. A man who was unfit to represent the place where he lived was unfit to represent any other. The usual vote of confidence was passed with loud cheering.

CHURCH NEWS - CHURCH OF ENGLAND

The new school church of St Andrew's, San Souci, was dedicated for Divine service by the Archbishop on Saturday afternoon last, and the opening services were continued on Sunday when the Rev T Dixon preached. The church is centrally situated near the 'loop' and is therefore of easy access for the residents of San Souci, Sandringham, Dolls Point and Ramsay-road. It is of neat design built of weatherboard, and capable of seating 150 persons, The site cost £43 the erection of the building £140, and the voluntary services rendered by Mr J C Alderson in connection with the building of the church has been recognised at a meeting of the residents as being equivalent to a donation of £50, making a total cost for land and building of £233.

Sydney Morning Herald, 10 May 1902

Some time ago the fishermen of Sans Souci approached Mr Carruthers and asked him if it were not possible for them to have their fish conveyed to Sydney at the same rate as the fishermen at Como had their fish carried to Sydney. Mr Carruthers has received a letter from the Railway Commissioners pointing out that fish from Sans Souci is liable to a tramway charge to Kogarah station, which is 3d per small basket and 6d per hamper and box, which accounts for the difference in freight as compared with the traffic from Como.

ACQUITTED

John Douglas, a fisherman, was acquitted on a charge that he did, at Sans Souci, on April 6, steal a fishing net, the property of Albert Smith. Mr L Gannon appeared for accused, who said he was the father of 17 children, and had resided at Sans Souci for the last 40 years.

SANS SOUCI PROGRESS ASSOCIATION

The Progress Association is working hard to induce the authorities to drain Sandringham swamp. A deputation which waited on the Rockdale Council has reported that the aldermen are fully aware of the importance of the project. Of course this is only preparing the way for a deputation to the Government.

The association is also trying to induce the Railway Commissioners to run the 11.16 Sunday morning tram from Sandringham to Dolls Point, and the attention of the Premier, who happens to be the member for the district – is to be called to the fact that the Government wharf at Sans Souci is out of repair.

CAB COLLIDES WITH A TRAM - TWO MEN INJURED

About 8 o'clock last evening a cab collided with a tram near Endeavour-street, Kogarah, with the result that two men were injured, one seriously. The tram was bound from Kogarah to Sans Souci, with a fair number of passengers. On approaching Endeavour street, a horse attached to a cab shied, and before the driver could obtain control of the animal it crashed into the side of the car. The shaft smashed a door of the tram and struck a passenger named Clement Lewis (40), a canvasser, residing at Vista-street,

Sans Souci, in the right side, severely injuring him. The conductor, Harold Clark, was also a victim of the collision, but he escaped with slight hurts. The injured men were conveyed to the Kogarah Hospital by the police, and Lewis was admitted for treatment in a critical condition, Clark, after having his wounds dressed, was able to go to his home at Doll's Point. The horse was considerably knocked about, and the cab and tram were slightly damaged.

Sydney Morning Herald, 3 January 1906

The Sans Souci Progress Association some little time ago asked the Railway Commissioners to remove the Doll's Point waiting room from its present position in the small triangular reserve to a position on Clareville Avenue, a few yards further on. The Department asked the opinion of Rockdale Council on the matter, and that body decided that no good purpose would be served by the removal of the room, which, they recommended, should remain as it is.

SANDRINGHAM SNAPSHOTS

Shortly after noon last Monday, Kogarah Fire Brigade received a call to Clareville-avenue, Sandringham, where a bush fire had occurred. About 4 acres of bush and 6 panels of fencing, belonging to Mrs. Alston, were burnt out.

In response to the application of Mr. H. Munro of Doll's Point to Rockdale Council for some repairs to the creek adjoining his property, Overseer Berry has reported that a dry rubble wall should be constructed, making a retaining wall for the path, and a permanent bank for the creek, at a cost of £17/10/ -. As Mr. Munro will benefit by this work, it was decided to approach him with respect to a quota of the cost.

ROCKDALE

The Public Works Department has notified the Rockdale Council that it has been resolved by the Ministry to expend the sum of £4000 on the construction of a road from President's avenue, Brighton-le-Sands to Doll's Point, thus providing a drive along Lady Robinson's Beach. The trustees of Scarborough Park have effected a great many improvements in that park, which should be highly appreciated. The sea retaining-wall is to be continued up Doll's Creek, and taken as far as Russell's-avenue.

A wedding was solemnised by the Rev. H. R. A. Wilson in St. Andrew's Church. Sans Souci, on Thursday, April 23, when Miss Jessie Selmon, eldest daughter of Mr. Selmon, Brighton, Sans Souci, was married to Mr. F. Stelzer, of Sandringham. The bride wore a cream dress and an embroidered veil over a wreath of orange blossoms, also a brooch set with opals, and carried a white bouquet, gifts of the bridegroom. The bridesmaids were in attendance, Miss M. Selmon (sister) and Miss Freda Aldrich (cousin), both of whom wore cream dresses and hats to match. Their brooches and bouquets were gifts from the bridegroom. Mr. Hutchison, of Cobar, acted as groomsman.

STRAYING CATTLE AGAIN

'I had to drive eight cows out of my garden, and one of these creatures nearly killed a child,' wrote a Sans Souci resident to Kogarah Council, 'and under such circumstances I think we are entitled to some attention from these straying cattle.' The council recognised this as one of many such complaints which they were endeavouring to remedy. 'Come down my way,' said an alderman to the inspector, 'and you can get two or three at any time.' The inspector promised increased activity.

OPENING OF CARRUTHERS DRIVE GOVERNOR TO PERFORM CEREMONY

Along the western foreshore of Botany Bay between Doll's Point and Brighton, there was recently completed a road about 3½ miles long. The surface being covered with ironstone gravel makes an ideal road for cycles, motors, and the lighter horse drawn vehicles. Out of compliment to Sir Joseph Carruthers the Rockdale Council has called it Carruthers Drive. With every southerly blow for years past the embankment of sand has rendered any municipal attempt at road making futile. To overcome this a strongly constructed fascine hedge of ti- tree has been made for the whole distance, while on the beach Marram grass has been planted between the beach and the road a sloping lawn, planted with shade trees, is designed, to accommodate the holiday-maker.

On February 26, the road will be declared open by Sir Harry Rawson. It is the intention of the council to invite the State Ministry and the Railway Commissioners, also the neighbouring councils. The Automobile Club is to be asked to accompany the Governor in a run to Doll's Point and thence along the drive to Brighton. Arrangements are in hand for the presentation of a souvenir to his Excellency, which will take the form of an inscribed silver shield.

DISTRICT DEATHS

The sad death of Roy Poynter, fourth son of Mr. and Mrs. Hector R. Munro of 'Myee,' Doll's Point, took place on Saturday morning between 7 and 8 o'clock. It came as a great and severe shock to all his family who were unaware of any serious affection of the heart. He was greatly respected by all who came in contact with him, being of a naturally quiet and unassuming disposition. He had been working late at the office for two nights previous, and returned home apparently in his usual health. Next morning he told his sister he was going for a stroll on the beach, before having his bath. He did not intend bathing in the bay. Not returning at the usual time, his mother became anxious and sent his brothers and sisters in search of him, also ran over to the beach herself and found that he had suddenly expired on the beach. All efforts were made to restore animation but these were not successful. Dr. Lamrock arrived and after examination pronounced life extinct the cause being heart failure. Great sympathy has been shown for his sorrowing parents and family, many hundreds of tokens of sympathy having been sent to the house. The funeral took place at Woronora Cemetery, Sutherland on Monday afternoon, a large number of relatives and friends were present. A very impressive service was conducted by Rev. H. Wilson at the graveside, and many were moved to tears at the thought of a young man just beginning life, cut off so suddenly.

The chief mourners were : — Mr. Hector R. Monro (father), Cecil and Ray Monro (brothers), W. Monro, F. Monro, L. Keep Dr. Carruthers, W. Evans, W. S. Suttor (uncles), P. and E. Carruthers, J. Cargill, M. Deane, E. R. Taylor, J. Voysey, C. J. Wallis (Director, Messrs, Winchcombe, Carson & Co., Ltd.), H. Bell, C. Vider, J. Stavenhagen, H. P. Chater, A. Chowne, S. Wallis, R. L. Mitchell, J. ALLEGED TWO-UP SCHOOLS

At the Newtown Police Court yesterday, before Mr. Smithers, S.M., John Douglas, aged 33, and George Orange, aged 39, both fishermen, were charged with having played at the unlawful game of 'two up,' at Sans Souci, on Sunday, March 28.

Constable Tracey stated that in consequence of something he heard he went to Sans Souci, in company with Constables Prior and Lambert, on Sunday. He saw a number of men going into some bushes near the picnic grounds. Constable Prior went in the direction of the bushes, and about a dozen men ran away in all directions. Prior had the two accused in custody when witness came up. Constable Prior stated that the 12 men were kneeling down in a ring, and were playing 'two up.' They had the kip produced, and they were tossing pennies in the air. The defendants tossed pennies, and they also made bets. Witness rushed the ring, and they scattered in all directions. Witness caught the two accused. He found 9d in the ring, and also a pack of cards. Douglas dropped the kip that witness picked up. The two accused gave evidence, denying that they were playing 'two up.' Douglas stated that he was playing cards, and Orange said he was only looking on.

To the Magistrate: What was picked up as a kip was only a chip of wood. The accused were each found guilty and were sentenced to be imprisoned for 14 days. Notice of appeal was given.

Sydney Morning Herald, 31 March 1909

Mr. J. Garlick now lives at Doll's Point. On Saturday afternoon recently he caught within sight of his house (three in party) 53 red bream, three yellow tail, two cuttlefish, one leather jacket, and a two-foot shark.

Sydney Morning Herald, 14 April 1909

George Orange and John Douglas, fishermen, appealed against a conviction and sentence of 14 days hard labour imposed upon them by Mr G H Smithers, S. M, for playing two-up at Sans Souci on March 28 on the ground mainly that their conviction was against evidence, and that the evidence disclosed no offence. Mr J W Abigail appeared in support of the appeal. His Honor said it must be understood by everyone that this sort of thing, 'two-up,' was not to go on, and that the law was strong enough to put it down. The appeal was dismissed, and the conviction upheld with £3 3s costs.

PUNT WANTED AT SANS SOUCI

As a means towards relieving the congestion that occurs at Tom Ugly's Point ferry crossing George's River on the Main South Coast-road, Ald. Hegerty suggested at last meeting of the Rockdale council that another punt should be established between Sans Souci and Commons Point. This ferry would possess the advantage of having the tram to Sans Souci as a connection, and would also be a big factor in developing that portion of Rockdale municipality and the shire of Sutherland. Alderman Taylor, M.L.A., pointed out that the department had this scheme under consideration already and the council decided to emphasise its necessity by a letter on the matter.

A GOOD SAMARITAN

Many good wishes have been expressed to the donor of the seat for those waiting for trams at the Doll's Point stopping place on the Sans Souci tramline.

The donor is Mr. F. E. Munro, of Russell Avenue, and his example might well be followed on this and other district lines.

ABORIGINAL REMAINS

An employee of the Water and Sewerage Board, Walter Alexander Clarke, while digging a trench for some pipes yesterday in The Avenue, Sans Souci, came across what appear to be a human skull and bones. The remains seem to be those of an aboriginal. The upper jaw - the lower is missing - possesses a remarkably fine set of teeth in perfect preservation.

WEDDINGS

On Thursday, 13th April, at Kogarah Presbyterian Church, a pretty wedding took place, the bride being Elizabeth, daughter of the late Mr. Hickson, Doll's Point, and the bridegroom, John Cutting Gordon, son of P. L. Gordon of Wallace-street, West Kogarah.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. W. Hickson, wore a handsome dress of white silk, draped with Limerick lace, pearl trimmings, and silk cord, the long train being caught with a large true lovers knot of pearls. She wore a beautiful tulle veil, arranged over a coronet of orange blossom, and carried a white shower bouquet, which, together with her amethyst necklet were gifts of the bridegroom. She was attended two bridesmaids, the Misses K. Macrae, and Morrice, cousins of the bridegroom, who wore dainty dresses of white shower of hail muslin, trimmed with malines and guipure lace, and relieved with white satin ribbons, white crinoline hats, trimmed with pink and blue, respectively, they carried pale pink shower bouquets, gifts of the bridegroom, who also presented them with amethyst brooches.

The two little Misses Beryl Hyem and Mysie Bennett, nieces of the bride, acted as train bearers, wearing dainty frocks of white silk; they carried crooks and wore gold bangles, also gifts of the bridegroom. The bride's going away dress was of ashes of rose chiffon cloth, aluminium trimmings and silk fringe, which was worn with a large black velvet hat. Mr. George Gordon, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. After the ceremony, the bridal party and guests adjourned to Brett's Hall where the usual toasts were honored.

To the Editor of 'The Call.'

Sir,

Whilst not exactly cattle fanciers down our way, the residents have plenty of opportunity of viewing the four-legged devastators indigenous to Dolls Point. While residents may merely object to the strays 'doing up' their front gardens during the day, they profoundly protest and say hard things of the authorities who permit them to execute a peal of bells beneath the suffering residents bedroom windows in the early morning hours. Have we an Inspector and if so, where is he?

TREE PLANTING AT DOLL'S POINT

‘One of the most successful functions ever held at the Point,’ was the general expression of opinion on last Saturday's tree-planting function at Doll's Point. This event had been engineered by Messrs. Finlay, E. Munro, and Ald. Crawford, and invitations were extended to all residents to ‘Come and plant a tree and thus help to adorn the foreshore drive.’ The other trustees also lent willing assistance to the scheme, and the result was as stated, notwithstanding the wintry weather. In all 91 trees were planted, and at the conclusion of work an adjournment was made to Mr. Munro's residence, where refreshments were handed round to the big gathering, with Messrs Munro and Crawford as hosts. Occasion was taken to felicitate Mr. J. C. Gannon on his elevation to the chairmanship of the trust vice the late Mr. Samuel Cook.

NEW FERRY SERVICE

For 30 years past, and from many successive Governments, the residents in the Cronulla district have been endeavouring to obtain a ferry service to connect up Sans Souci with Taren Point, more familiarly known, perhaps, as Commons Point, and so to provide a direct route through from Sydney to Cronulla and the surrounding country. It has remained for private enterprise to carry out this work, and on Eight Hour Day the new ferry service was started, and three boats are now running.

SANS SOUCI – POST OFFICE

At the last meeting of the Kogarah Council, Ald. Harper complained that a regular postman should be attached to the Sans Souci post office. He pointed out that the postmistress had a difficulty in getting a boy for the work. The council endorsed Ald. Harper's complaint, and decided to write the authorities on the matter.

ST. GEORGE SAILING AND MOTOR BOAT CLUB

The proposal of the executive of St. George Sailing and Motor Boat Club to erect a substantial club at Sans Souci is being heartily taken up. The proposal necessitates a capital of £6000, and land of the value of £700 has already been secured at Rocky Point. The scheme provides for residential quarters, locker accommodation for the crews (which this season it is estimated will number nearly 300, library and reading room, billiard-room, tennis and bowling greens.

At the club's recent annual ball, prizes won during the past season were presented to the winners by President Martin, and on behalf of members Mr Tom Donald (president of the Sydney Flying Squadron) presented Mr. J. W. Swaindon (Hon. Secretary) with a handsome gold Waltham watch, Mr. R U Steenbhom (Hon. Treasurer) with a silver epergne, and Mr A Bird (assistant secretary) with a gold medal.

PTOMAINE AGAIN - A SANS SOUCI PICNIC - NINETEEN MEN ATTACKED

On Sunday night, while the party of picnickers from Clifton Gardens were being treated at Sydney Hospital, the St. George Cottage Hospital, Kogarah, was attending to the needs of 12 men, who were also suffering from ptomaine poisoning.

The 12, who yesterday morning were allowed to proceed to their homes, were members of a party of 19, all Pyrmont timber workers, who had been spending the day at Sans Souci. They lunched at about mid-day, the meal consisting of ham, tongue, salad, fruit, and jellies, none of which, it is stated were tinned. For the earlier part of the afternoon, no ill-effects were felt, but towards 3 p.m. the driver of the bus in which the picnic party had gone to the place, became ill. The others did not realise that he was poisoned until they all began to feel ill, and in a few minutes everyone of the party were on the ground in a state of helplessness.

The picnic was being held in a secluded spot, and no one observed the plight of the 19 men who lay about in extremes of pain and sickness till nearly sunset, when the bus driver, though still very bad, managed to hitch up his horses and pack his sick friends into the waggon. He then drove with all speed to the St. George Cottage Hospital, where 12 of the men were accommodated, being too bad to proceed home. The other seven returned to their homes, and were treated by local doctors. The condition of the men is not critical.

ELECTRIC LIGHT AGAIN

The following letter was read at last meeting of Rockdale Council, from Mr. J. Garlick, Doll's Point, Sandringham:

‘As a ratepayer of Rockdale I desire to respectfully draw the attention of your Council to the above newspaper paragraph and to ask the Council to kindly take into consideration the urgent need of some better lighting service than that provided by the Aust. Gaslight Co.

Whatever opinion may be held respecting the present street lighting service, there is no doubt whatever that the private service in this district is very unsatisfactory indeed. An inspection at Ashfield, where the City Council's light has been adopted, will show an infinitely better street lighting system also.

The Council is doing good work under difficult circumstances and with a small income, but I trust that its other activities will not prevent it from giving earnest consideration to the question of obtaining an electricity supply for the residents, to replace our inadequate gas service.’

The paragraph referred to in the letter reads: ‘The installation of electricity at Newtown for lighting purposes is giving general satisfaction. Referring to the matter in his annual report, the Mayor (Ald. Rigg) said there was an ever-increasing demand for current for lighting and power, by private residents and business firms. The present estimated candle-power of lights for street lighting was 87,240 as against 26,765 when the Municipality was lighted by gas.’

The Mayor (Ald. Broe) stated that this was a big proposition, and before a decision could be arrived at the Council should agree to visit some of these up-to-date suburbs where electric light was freely used, at night, which the Council decided to do.

SCHOOLBOY'S DEATH - CHARGE OF - MANSLAUGHTER

A young man named Allan Mepstead, a labourer, was yesterday committed by the Acting City Coroner (Mr. J. W. Fletcher) to stand his trial at the Court of Gaol Delivery next September on a charge of manslaughter,

This finding was the outcome of an inquest regarding the death of a schoolboy, Stanley Hope, 11, which occurred on May 30, the effect of 'compression of the brain from an extra- dural hemorrhage.'

In evidence James Greenhalgh, 12 years old, of Sans Souci, said that on the afternoon of May 29 he and the deceased boy passed the Rockdale Council's quarry on their way home from school. Two men, unknown to them, were near the corner. In passing witness coughed. One of the men said, 'What's up?' to which the boy replied, 'Nothing.' The man then said, 'I'll kick you.' 'No, you won't,' replied the boy, as he quickened his pace. There upon the stranger threw a stone at him, which missed its mark, but whizzed by the deceased boy. The latter, thinking the missile was meant for him, returned a shot.

Then the man threw a larger stone. Both boys 'ducked,' but the deceased rose too soon, and was struck on the left temple. His head bled profusely, and he kept moaning, 'Oh, my head!' Witness took him to the gate of his home. Allan Mepstead, in court, he identified as the man who threw the stone.

Mrs. Francis Hope said that she bathed her son's head in cold water and boracic acid, bandaged the wound, and laid him on the bed. But as he began to cry, and his face became pallid, she took him to the doctor in a tram. The doctor telephoned the hospital, but there was no vacant bed. So he told witness to return home, and put cold packs on the boy's head. Next morning she was warming some milk for the boy, when, on going to his room, she found him to be red in the face, and breathing heavily. She rang up the doctor, who arrived a few minutes before the boy died.

Dr. Stratford Sheldon, who made a post-mortem examination, told the Court that it would not take a very great blow to cause the injuries sustained by the deceased. Had a 'common' operation been performed, very likely the boy's life would have been saved.

Allan Mepstead gave evidence, that, while working in the gravel quarry, some boys came by. One throw a pebble. Witness picked up what he thought was a piece of clay, and hurled it in the direction of the boys, not meaning to hit any of them. He didn't notice whether it struck anyone. 'I was on the best of terms with the boys about there,' he added. Allan Mepstead was acquitted.

A BOAT SHED COLLAPSES

A boat shed at Doll's Point, owned and occupied by Mr. G. Harris, completely collapsed last Saturday night, at 10 o'clock. The structure which was mostly of galvanised iron, measured about 30x25, and for some time past has had a dangerous list to starboard, caused through the sand being washed away from the supporting piers. Recently the Government built a stone wall in close proximity to the boatshed to act as a breakwater for the road, and the sea, breaking in off this wall, has been responsible for the collapse.

Most of Mr. Harris's boats were out on the beach at the time the shed collapsed, and therefore, were not damaged. Nevertheless the damage will probably run very near a hundred pounds, as the shed will have to be completely rebuilt.

THE LATE Mr. W. E. RUST

The district has lost one of those types of sturdy Englishmen, who have done so much pioneer work in this country, in the person of Mr. Rust. His career was eventful, full of romance (at the telling of which he was an artist), and at the same time full of that spirit of well doing that meant success to any district in which his energies were expended.

Mr. Rust was born at Sandringham, Norfolk, Eng., in 1828, and for a number of his youthful years followed the sea. (His seafaring exploits were so numerous that they would take pages to tell). He tried his hand at the Californian diggings, and afterwards on the Turon in this part of the world. Settling down he found employment at Botany, and in about 1863 took over the license of the Sans Souci Hotel, which he kept for a number of years, and then built and opened the Prince of Wales Hotel, at Sandringham. Mr. Rust also built a number, of fine residences in the district— notably 'Ellesmere,' for many years the home of Sir Joseph Carruthers, and 'Denbigh,' the present home of Capt. Chapman. He was one of the first agitators for a school and post office, and also contributed liberally with others towards the cost of the Sans Souci tram. At one time 175 acres, extending from the hotel to Doll's Point, belonged to him.

Prior to coming to Sans Souci, Mr. and Mrs. Rust, who were married at St. Phillip's, Church Hill, by Archdeacon Cowper, lived at Petersham, and Mr. Rust often referred to his having assisted in the building of a shed, which for some years was used as a temporary railway station.

The funeral took place at Rookwood on Tuesday, October 28, the Rev. J. G. Wilton performing the last sad rites. Among those present were: Messrs. Jaques, Commins, G. Hughes, Burgess, Frank, Crawford, F. Smith, H. Smith, F. Bird, A. Bird, Pfeoffer, Souter, H. Moyse, Lawrance, Lincke, Dillon, Plazzie, English, Capt. Chapman. Wreaths were received from the following:— Sir Joseph and Lady Carruthers, Mr. A. Jaques, Capt. Chapman, Mr. Herb Commins, Mrs. Hamilton and daughters Mrs. Bird and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith, Lucy and Roger Moag, Miss Commins, Mrs. Haughton, and Mrs. Fraser.

BUSH FIRE AT DOLL'S POINT - EXPERIMENTAL FARM IN DANGER

A fire occurred in Norman's bush, adjacent to the Experimental Farm, on Monday night at about 9 o'clock, and having gained a good hold before it was discovered, presented a magnificent sight. People flocked from all parts of the neighbourhood to the scene of the conflagration, and the male portion of the community was soon busy fighting the fire with green bushes and bags, but with a stiff southerly fanning the flames they could not check its progress. It was streaking for the fence that surrounds the Experimental Farm, where the pedigree gander had his head on the ground and his tail in the air, as if he had given up all hope, and the Brussels sprouts were toasted brown with the heat. Soon it seemed as if all hope was gone for the fence, and the fire fighters began to draw off for a spell, when some fellow, with a brain like 'Edison's,' suddenly shouted 'the last resource — all hands to the pump,' and he pointed a soot covered finger to where the Blixon pump stood out gleaming in the firelight. With a shout the men ran towards it and soon they had the flywheel doing 2000 revolutions to the minute, with four men on the handle. But, alas, the hose was not long enough, and would not reach to the fire. Later the wind began to ease down and the men abandoned the purr and returned to the attack with the bushes, beating the fire out. It was a great save, and everybody was dry but the pump. The fire waggon was ordered, but it did not turn up. Perhaps it was too far for the horses.

CASUALTIES - SAVED HER SISTER

May Campbell, 14, in attempting to save her little sister from being run over by steam tram, sustained a fractured arm and other injuries. It is stated that, a steam tram was proceeding along Griffith.-street, Sans Souci, on Thursday evening at a fair speed, when a little girl, two years of age, toddled right on to the tram line. It appeared as though nothing could save the child from death by being run over, when May Campbell dashed into the roadway and secured the child. She immediately tried to save herself, but was a little too late, for the tram knocked her over. She was thrown clear of the rails, but did not escape scatheless. She was subsequently admitted into the Kogarah Hospital by Dr. Woodward. The child was practically uninjured.

ON VACATION

Mr. W. Waudby, of the Government Printing Office, is at present enjoying a five week vacation at his camp down at Doll's Point. Mr. Waudby started employment as a lad in the Government Printing Office over twenty years ago, and worked himself up by sheer merit to the position he now holds. Referring personally to Mr. Waudby one is struck with his keen sense of humour generosity, hospitality and genial manner. His visitors on Sunday morning, to congratulate him upon his holidays, included Mr. Gannon,

Although he has his faults,
He is really very fond of sport
And when invited always halts.
In everything Bill's out to win,
But he is far from fat.
And every morn, he scrapes his chin,
And dons the wide rimmed hat.
But you should hear dear Billy sing.
The echo you'll never lose,
And if ever I offer an intro to Bill,
'Tis a thing you shouldn't refuse.

DEPARTURE OF YE OLDE SEA BREEZE

Our Doll's Point correspondent informs us that President W. Waudby's 'Sea Breeze' is about to be removed to a more secluded spot up the river. Some of the yokels of Doll's Point will greet this bit of information with tears in their eyes as big as half crowns. In a little chat last Sunday 'Waub' stated that the reason he was departing from his most cherished camping spot was because there were too many buildings going up around him. 'When they start to build houses here,' says Waub 'this camp is about as much use to me as a wooden leg to a ballet dancer, so I'm quitting. I'm not being deported; Charlie and I are going up to Como, where we intend to live the simple life on a most lavish scale. We will have a boat and everything pertaining to sport and enjoyment (except pongelo), we don't want any pongelo. The jargon shall be left at home, so tell mother I'll be there.'

BOY'S PLUCKY ACTION

While bathing at Doll's Point last Sunday morning, a boy named Samuel Scadden, aged 10 years, got out of his depth, and not being able to swim, was soon carried out into the stream by the strong current that races past Doll's Point. His cries, however, attracted the attention of a lad named Phillip Taylor, of Russell Avenue, Dolls Point, who dived in, fully clothed, and bravely brought the boy to the shore. Phil Taylor certainly deserves some recognition for his meritorious action as this is the second boy he has saved at this bathing place.

OFF TO CAMP.

A contingent of Dolls Point rustics led by General Blixon, put off for their Easter camp at Boat Harbour last Friday morning, and they aroused considerable interest among a large party of villagers who assembled on the beach to give them a hearty send off. At six o'clock on Friday morning the whole population of Dolls Point was aroused from its peaceful slumber by the sound of a strong voice coming from the direction of the E.F. But it was soon discovered that it was the voice of General Blixon who was massing his men for the march down to the beach, where Fred Selmon's launch was waiting to take them across the pond. At seven o'clock all eyes were turned on the track that leads down to the beach, and a shout of applause rent the air as the heavily laden contingent was sighted staggering down the track with the intrepid Blixon marching in front beating time with a rusty frying pan.

SANS SOUCI.

On Tuesday evening a well attended meeting was held at the Public school, Sans Souci, with the object of forming a branch of the National Rifle Reserve. Captain Chapman was voted to the chair, and Captain Tickle, of the Rockdale Rifle Club, was present. It was decided that a branch of the Rockdale Rifle Club formed, and that drill nights should be Monday and Tuesday at 8 o'clock. It was resolved that one parade a week should be compulsory, as it was explained that non-attendance at drills for three compulsory consecutive drills would entail forfeiture of membership. Captain C. E. Bird was elected to represent the Sans Souci unit. Forty five members were enrolled. An enrolling officer will be present at each parade, commencing Monday next.

A BALLAD OF BOTANY BAY.

Wing thee this verse in its majestic flight,
Grace with a melody these words I write.
Of Botany Bay, Australia's orb of splendour,
And the blacks that stood on Kurnell to defend her.
And all the old world watched the fearless crew
Of that famous little ship, whose captain knew
That where sky and ocean met far in the west,
A new land — Australia— awaited his quest.
A new land with its portals opened wide,
A land within which shall prosperity bide,
Those Kurnell blacks knew he had come to stay,
When Captain Cook landed in Botany Bay.

ACCIDENTS AT DOLL'S POINT

On Friday morning a baker's cart, belonging to Mr. Allen, of Kogarah, capsized, in Clareville Avenue, pinning the driver underneath, and it was only with the help of Mr. Geo. Russell and several other people who were about at the time that he was able to extricate himself. He was not without injury, however, and had to be taken into Mrs. Russell's house until medical aid was called.

The sanitary waggon also had an accident in the next street (Sandringham- road), caused through the horse suddenly dropping dead. It is said that the animal's death was, due to bad chaff. The chaff sold these times is nothing more than chopped up second hand mattress straw and is bad enough to kill anything, even rats.

DANGEROUS FIREARMS

A girl residing between Ramsgate and Doll's Point, near the beach, was out walking on Saturday last, when she was shot in the hand by some person unknown with a revolver or pea rifle.

Of course, in all probability, it was an accident as no sane man would, do such a thing. The fact of the matter is some game hunter has been stalking deer in the nearby forest, and seeing the young lady from a distance has mistaken her for one of those gentle creatures, and had a shot at her. It did not injure the girl very much fortunately. These local sportsmen should and will have to be more careful when out hunting with a loaded blunderbuss.

BOAT SWAMPED

LONG SWIM IN HEAVY SEA - A NARROW ESCAPE

A boating accident occurred in Botany Bay yesterday. A party of six young men set out from a boatshed at Sans Souci in a small sailing boat named Elsie, for a cruise around Botany Bay. There was a strong wind and a choppy sea at the time, and when the party was off Towra Point the sea began to break over the small vessel, and she was soon swamped.

The occupants were thrown into the water. A strong sea was running and the nearest land at Doll's Point was over a mile and a half away. They set out to swim ashore, and after a desperate battle two of them succeeded in landing at Doll's Point.

Of the other four nothing was seen, and the worst was feared. However, at 10.30 last night they were discovered by the search boats at Towra Point. They were in an exhausted condition, but otherwise were unharmed.

The names of the occupants of the boat were; Bert J. Williams, Michael Williams, Frederick Mallet, Edward J. Melley, Alfred Willet, Frederick Cairncross.

KOGARAH-SANS SOUCI TRAM TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD

Sir,-Referring to your account in this morning's issue of the derailment of the Kogarah Sans Souci tram last Saturday, I wish to point out that the event is of more public importance than it would at first appear - other derailments, a broken axle and breakages of the parts of engines on this line are recent, and noticing the speed that is usually maintained, one can easily understand it and recognise the apparent fear and dismay of some passengers on some trips - sometimes of a morning, and always in the busy parts of the evening, the trams are disgracefully overcrowded and over driven. Years ago, I believe, a timetable was adopting, providing sufficient stopping places to ensure a safe and timely journey to catch the train at Kogarah, but of recent years every new subdivision is granted a new stop, with the result that, although at times the tram misses the train, the actual tram travelling time must be illegal and positively unsafe.

The expansion of the district between Kogarah and Sans Souci of recent years has been very large and continuous, and it deserves better and safer tram transit. Something should at once be done by reducing the number of stoppages, or by running extra trams, and by a complete overhaul and renovation of the hauling machinery. By these means some degree of comfort may be extended to the people on this large and growing service. The tram, which runs on the open roads, acquires at times the pace of some trains, and the demands of hill climbing send the trams round most dangerous curves at the fullest speed. I believe that if the higher railway authorities were seized of the foregoing facts soon some remedy would be adopted. As to the night-time supervision at the Kogarah end of this service, and the state of the cars, I will say nothing, but will leave it to the responsible officers to make report if required.

I am, etc., TRAVELLER.

Sans Souci.

PS - It is to be hoped that expert investigation may tell us if the broken axle was the cause or the result of the accident.

SERIES OF ACCIDENTS

A series of accidents took place at Kogarah on Saturday afternoon last when a steam tram nearly ran through a shop window, after smashing a sulky, killing the horse, and injuring Miss Peatfield, of Kogarah.

As the tram was leaving the railway yard on its way to Sans Souci, the horse, which was approaching from an opposite direction, shied and ran into it, throwing the occupants of the sulky, Mr. Peatfield, who has a shop in Kogarah-parade, and his daughter, on to the ground.

While proceeding to the locality the St. George Ambulance ran over Mr. Harkness, Chandos-street, North Sydney, injuring his left leg. Mr. Harkness was conveyed to the St. George Hospital, but before the ambulance returned Miss Peatfield walked to the hospital, and was treated for slight injuries. Mr. Peatfield escaped with a few abrasions, but the sulky was badly smashed. Considerable time elapsed before the tram was replaced on the rails.

Knocked down by a motor bus, one of the wheels of which passed over her hair, Dorothy Marie Morris, 6 years of age, sustained a broken jaw and other injuries on Rocky Point-road, Sans Souci, yesterday afternoon. The little girl was returning from school to her home in Campbell-street, Kogarah, and was crossing the road when the accident happened. She was taken to the Kogarah Hospital.

TAREN POINT PUNT - TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD

Sir, Yesterday, the 6th instant, 5000 visitors journeyed to Cronulla. All motor traffic had to go via Tom Ugly's Point, which meant a congestion of that road and congestion at the punt. The punt at Taren Point-road crossed occasionally from Sans Souci to Taren Point with an occasional vehicle aboard, the reason being that the road connecting the punt with the main highway to Cronulla, about a mile in length, has been allowed to become almost impassable. Originally a beautiful tarred metal track was laid down the whole length, but that was some years ago. Now it is a series of hard pointed corrugated holes, some 12in deep.

Motorists have endeavoured to negotiate it by running the near side wheels on the grass on the sides of the road, but even that is impossible now. The road is used by the motor service cars running between Rockdale and Cronulla almost exclusively, but one scarcely ever passes without seeing a car laid up on the bank side. Last week I had the temerity to use it, and as a result one of the axles of my car was broken, and it had to be towed in. I have written the Minister for Local Government, the member for the district, and the shire president, and have also offered to head a subscription list to have the work done without any cost to the shire. Cannot something be done? The punt is being run at great expense practically empty, while the punts at Tom Ugly's Point are congested for the very reason that the Taren Point punt, which was installed to help them, is unavailable owing to the bad state of the road making it practically inaccessible. I am, etc,

Miss Lonsdale, whose fine services as head mistress of the girls' side of the Primary School have been widely appreciated by parents, has been transferred to the position of head mistress at Sans Souci, where she took up duties yesterday. Miss Lonsdale was in Dubbo fifteen years ago as an assistant teacher for a considerable time, and she has now completed four years as head mistress. She will be very much missed by a large circle of friends, who will be pleased to hear that she will be in Dubbo during the coming weekend, leaving again on Monday morning,

BARNARDO GIRLS - ARRIVE BY EURIPIDES - A SUCCESSFUL SCHEME

Fifty Barnardo girls arrived at Sydney yesterday by the steamer Euripides, and were welcomed by representatives of the New South Wales branch of the Barnardo Homes and the New Settlers' League of Australia. Arrangements had been made by the league to extend an official welcome at Trinity Hall, Miller's Point, to the girls, but owing to the late hour at which the steamer arrived it was found necessary to postpone the function until 10 o'clock this morning.

Although the scheme of bringing Barnardo boys and girls to New South Wales is in its infancy it has achieved success. Reports regarding the 221 boys and 32 girls already settled in the State have been most satisfactory, failures being almost unknown, and the number of applications received has been greatly in excess of the supply available.

At the conclusion of the official welcome, the girls will be taken to Scarborough House at Sans Souci, and tomorrow the guardians to whom they have been allotted will call and take charge of their respective wards.

SHOCKING ACCIDENT - MAN KILLED BY STEAM TRAM

A man, walking through the darkness to his home, and trampling along the tramline in Cook Park, Sans Souci last night, was run down by a steam tram enroute to Kogarah and killed.

The man, Harry Fleet, aged 48 years, of Bonnie Doon, The Avenue, Sans Souci, was employed as a car painter by the Railway Department, and he was apparently travelling along between the rails as a short cut to his home. The darkness was almost impenetrable, and the driver of the tram engine saw nothing of the man. He felt a bump, however and pulling up the locomotive, went back along the line, supposing that he had struck a boulder, and wondering whether there had been any damage to the rails. He was horrified to find the body of the man lying alongside the rails. The corpse was conveyed to the City Morgue by the St George District Ambulance.

INJUNCTION TILL THE HEARING

Allport v Behn. (Before Mr. Acting Justice Maughan.)

On behalf of the plaintiff in the suit of Charles Ernest Allport against Leslie Behn, on application was listed for hearing for an injunction restraining the defendant from opening or being connected with the Scarborough dairy and milk run, now being conducted by him, or with any other dairy or milk run within a two miles radius of the boundaries of the Doll's Point dairy and the milk run conducted by one Ralph Smith, on August 5 last, for the balance remaining of a period of 5 years from the said date.

Mr. E. F. McDonald (instructed by Mr. A. A. Hamilton) appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Collins (instructed by Mr. Eric Howard) for the defendant.

Plaintiff's case was that on August 5 last he agreed to purchase from the defendant the dairy business at Ramsgate, known as Doll's Point dairy, for £550 on certain terms. Under the agreement the defendant covenanted not to open or be connected with a dairy or milk run within a radius of two miles of the boundaries of the said dairy for a period of five years, and that he would also take 50 gallons of milk daily from him at 2/- a gallon. Plaintiff alleged that the defendant had committed breaches of the agreement, hence the suit.

His Honor, by consent, granted an injunction, as asked, till the hearing of the suit or further order of the Court.

GIRL DRAGGED BY MADDENED HORSES - A DREADFUL EXPERIENCE

Alma Sheen, aged 11 years, of Sandringham, was dragged for a quarter of a mile by a pair of maddened horses last night.

The child's clothes were stripped from her, and her right arm was broken, and her body was a mass of bruises and lacerations.

The little girl was leading the horses by a rope, which she had attached to her right wrist. When near Cook Park, Sans Souci, the animals suddenly took fright and bolted. They galloped madly along the road, dragging the child behind. The weight of the girl's body tugging at the rope, and her sharp cry of pain as she fell, further alarmed the horses, causing them to increase their speed. At one stage the child was thrown against a telegraph post as the animals swerved, and then ricocheted off this obstacle onto a nearby gatepost. The force of the impact snapped the post.

The animals then shot off in another direction, kicking and rearing in an effort to rid themselves of the inert object behind them. The child was almost unconscious when the animals galloped off the road into a patch of scrub, thorns, and stumps, tearing the remnants of clothes from the child and wounding her badly.

Then, as they almost collided with a tree, the animals came to a standstill. They stood together for a brief period, quivering with fear, and were about to make off again when a pedestrian, waiting at an adjacent tram stop, rushed to their heads and freed the child. He carried her to a nearby house, and her wounds were hastily staunches. The St. George Ambulance conveyed the injured child to the St. George Hospital.

SANS SOUCI TRAM - UNPROFITABLE LINE - LOSS £26,000

Recently a deputation waited on the Minister for Railways (Mr. Flannery), protesting against the proposed discontinuance of combined rail and tram tickets on the Kogarah - Sans Souci tram service.

Mr. Morris (secretary to Railways) has written to Mr. Cahill, M.L.A, pointing out that during the past three years there has been a loss of £26,000 in the line three years.

'The position is,' said Mr Morris, that something less than one-third of the cost of this line was contributed some 40 years ago by interested land owners to secure the construction of a tramway, which promised to be unprofitable, and has proved to be so. Its maintenance having become a serious charge upon the State, as is clearly indicated by the loss of £26,000 in the last three years. Under these conditions a continuance of the combined rail and tram weekly and season ticket concessions is entirely unbusinesslike, and renders the expenditure of further money upon this line for improvements inadvisable.

With regard to the statement that it is proposed to alter the existing route of trams which flow proceed from Kogarah to Doll's Point, via San Souci and Sandringham, and from Doll's Point to Kogarah, via Russell-avenue, the proposal is to terminate certain trams at Sandringham, and return them to Kogarah, via Sans Souci, which will shorten the journey time of passengers from Cook Park, Taren Point, and Sans Souci to Kogarah, and enable more satisfactory train connections to be made.

'In the case of those trams which will run to Doll's Point, the question of the route of the return journey will be considered when the wishes of the majority of passengers concerned are ascertained.'

TRAM DRIVER KILLED WHEN ENGINE OVERTURNS CONDUCTOR IS INJURED

Sydney, Thursday.

A sensational tram accident occurred between Kogarah and Ramsgate this morning. It appears a steam tram left Kogarah for Sans Souci and when starting up a slope of Carroll's Hill the engine suddenly left the rails and continued running on the roadway for about 20 yards. It pulled the leading car off also. The coupling bar then snapped and the engine crashed into an electric light pole, turning completely round and landing on its side.

The driver, Leslie Slayter (41), was pinned to the ground and when extricated was found to be dead. Charles Waghorn, the conductor, suffered fractures of both thighs and cuts to the face and hands. Three compartments of the front car were smashed to matchwood. Conductor Waghorn was on the footboard of the first car at the time. The cause of the derailment of the engine has not yet been ascertained.

OBITUARY

MR. ALLAN HAMILTON

The death of Mr. Allan Hamilton, the veteran theatrical manager, took place yesterday at his home in The Promenade, Sans Souci, near Kogarah.

Before his long career in this country Mr. Hamilton, was for some years lessee of the Corinthian Theatre, Calcutta, and during part of his extended residence in that capital directed both the principal theatres there. Seeking a cooler climate, he reached Australia in 1886, just as the late Robert Brough and Dion G. Boucicault were starting their memorable ten years' partnership as lessees of the Sydney Criterion and the Melbourne Bijou theatres. He accepted with them the position of general manager. When this brilliant combination was dissolved in 1896 by the departure of Mr. Boucicault for London, Mr. Hamilton remained as business manager for Mr. and Mrs. Brough during the production of a long succession of clever modern comedies, ceasing only a little before the death of Mr. Brough in 1906. During this second decade Mr. Hamilton's intimate knowledge of India and the East led him to originate the idea of brief Eastern tours. Several of these were made by the Broughs (strongly supported) in India, China, and the Straits Settlements, under his guidance. When Herbert Flemming and Beatrice Day starred with Robert Brough in 1905, Mr. Hamilton, who had visited London more than once to assist in purchasing new pieces, was once more in charge on the business side, and remained with this popular combination until Mr. Flemming passed hence in 1908.

During a period of years subsequently Mr. Hamilton was lessee and manager of the Palace Theatre, Sydney, and formed the Hamilton Dramatic Company. Beatrice Day, Mrs. Brough, Lizette Parkes, Harry Plimmer, and Reynolds Denniston drew large audiences all over Australia and New Zealand at this time (1911-1912) in the comedy 'Nobody's Daughter'; and the director ultimately concluded his tenancy of the Palace and retired on a considerable fortune. Apart from his theatrical ventures, he introduced Leslie Harris, the English entertainer, Mme. Lydia Yeamans Titus in her 'baby' songs, and other starring artists in the concert room.

Since his retirement Mr. Hamilton has visited England five or six times, and early in 1915 he handed over to the Belgian Refugees Committee for the duration of the war a fine house and grounds at Torquay, Devonshire. His final visit to England took him there just before last Christmas, during an unusually severe winter, and although he remained in Brighton, Sussex, to secure greater sunshine, the climate sowed the seeds of a fatal illness. The sufferer returned to Sans Souci last April, and under the tender care of Mrs. Hamilton (formerly admired on the stage as Maggie Forde) began apparently to recuperate, but the improvement proved only temporary. The late Allan Hamilton, who knew a surprising number of celebrities all over the world, will be widely and affectionately remembered here alike by artists and playgoers. At the time of his death he was 71 years of age.

The funeral leaves his residence tomorrow at 1.30 for the South Head Cemetery, where it is due about 3 o'clock.

INVITATION CABARET

An invitation cabaret, arranged by Mr. and Mrs. W. Stephenson, was held at St. George Palais de Danse, Rocky Point-road, Ramsgate on Saturday, 24th inst., to augment the funds of the forthcoming bazaar, in connection with St. Finbar's new church at Sans Souci. The tables were artistically decorated with iceland poppies, sweet peas, and jonquils, and afternoon tea was served by a number of the lady assistants who will be attached to the Refreshment Stall at the bazaar. Instrumental and vocal items were rendered by Miss Rheinberger, Miss Mullarkey, Miss Souter, Mr. Frank Harper, and Mr. Jack Grace. Many valuable gifts and cash donations were received. Amongst those present were Rev. Father Hannan, Mr. and Miss Howell, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Gorrell, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Dinan, Mr. and Mrs. Lamph, Mr. and Mrs. Palazzi, Mr. and Mrs. Grace, Mrs. Grace, sen., Mr. and Mrs. Newland, Mr. and Mrs. Hatfield, Mesdames Miller, Kenny, Donohue, McGrath, Souter, Murphy, Brown, Madden, Wall, Woods, Corben, Payne, Latham, Atkinson, Devitt, O'Meara, Tuffey, Quinn, F. BUSH FIRES

Many Outbreaks

The return of warm and sultry weather yesterday was responsible for numerous outbreaks of bush and grass fires in the suburbs. Firemen in practically every suburb were kept busy and they succeeded in preventing serious damage to property.

The bush on 18 acres of land off Kendall- Street, Sans Souci, was destroyed about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Other small outbreaks occurred at Drummoyne, Longueville, Mosman, Carlton, Oatley, Harbord and North Sydney.

SKIFF CAPSIZES

Young Men's Desperate Swim

Owing to their 14ft sailing skiff, the Edna, in which they were proceeding to the St. George Sailing Club's races on Saturday afternoon, shipping a heavy sea and overturning off Sans Souci, four young men were flung into shark-infested waters.

Two succeeded in swimming ashore, and the others were rescued after they had been hanging on to the craft for nearly three hours. The occupants of the skiff were:- Albert Sales, aged 21 years, of Hercules-road, Brighton-le-sands; Leslie Sleight, of The Avenue, Brighton-le-sands; Harold Williams, of Palmerston-street, Kogarah; and Albert Carroll, of Shirley-street, Kogarah,

When the Edna turned over the crew endeavoured, unsuccessfully, to roll her back again, and were forced to grip the sides. They were, about two and a half miles from the shore, and failed to obtain any response to their signals for assistance. Sleigh and Sales therefore decided to swim to the beach for help for their companions. The task they had undertaken was most difficult, and taxed fully their strength and courage. In the choppy sea they were flung about like corks. Still they fought on, and just had sufficient strength to crawl on to the sand before they collapsed. It took them several minutes to reach Mrs. Shaw's house, in Caruthers Drive, Dolls Point, a distance of about 400 yards, and when they did so they again collapsed at Mrs. Shaw's feet.

Mrs. Shaw helped them inside, and after giving them stimulants and warm clothing, communicated with the St. George Ambulance. The ambulance men were quickly on the scene, and after continuing the treatment commenced by Mrs. Shaw, conveyed the men to St. George District Hospital. The ambulance officers stated that the men probably owed their lives to the prompt treatment given by Mrs. Shaw, as they were in a serious state of collapse.

Sergeant Dean and Constable Hibbard went out in a motor launch to search for the other two men, who were left clinging to the skiff. Meanwhile, however, their plight was observed by Dr. Binns, of Kogarah, who was passing along the Drive. He notified Mr. A. Pilgrim, a boat proprietor. With his son Leslie, Mr. Pilgrim set out in a motor launch, and rescued Williams and Carroll, who by this time were almost exhausted. They were holding on to the skiff with difficulty. They were taken to the Hotel Sandringham, and after receiving treatment were able to proceed to their homes.

NEW BRIDGE ACROSS COOK'S RIVER - READY THIS YEAR

The bridge over Cooks River at the back of Ascot Racecourse, which will place Mascot and Rockdale within easy distance of each other, and give vehicle traffic a thoroughfare from Botany-road to Brighton-le-sands and Sans Souci-is expected to be ready for use before the end of the year.

A start was made with the bridge in October, 1925, and work has gone on smoothly ever since. Only one pier has now to be built, and with it in position, the erection of the single steel bascule span, of which the bridge will consist, will not take long. The approaches on either side of the river are almost completed. The bridge will be 470 feet long, and will cost £25,000.

LEGLESS MAN INJURED

MOTOR DRIVER ARRESTED

A motor car crashed into an invalid chair at Sandringham on Saturday afternoon, the occupant of the chair, George King, 40, of Bonny-street, Sans Souci, had his right shoulder dislocated. He was taken by St. George District Ambulance to the St. George District Hospital, and admitted by Dr. Mallam. About a year ago; King was run over by a tram at Kogarah, and was so severely injured that both of his legs were amputated.

The police subsequently arrested the driver of the motor car, and charged him with having driven the car while under the influence of liquor.

WEDDING

SELMON-HODGEKISS

A wedding was celebrated at St. Andrew's Church, Sans Souci, on February 4, when Miss Ivy Hodgekiss, youngest daughter of the late Mr and Mrs A. E. Hodgekiss, of Nowra, was married to Mr. George Selmon, eldest son of Mr F Selmon, of Sandringham. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. Gardiner. The bride, who was given away by Mr A Norman, of Croydon, wore a gown of white marietta trimmed with heavy silver lace, and a large silver rose on the hip. Her hand embroidered tulle veil fell from a coronet of orange blossom over a brocaded silver train, which was lined with pale pink georgette, and finished with a horseshoe of pearls. The shower bouquet was of sweet peas and tuberose. Miss Eileen Selmon and Miss Violet Baker, the bridesmaids, wore frocks of white georgette and silver lace, and pale blue crepe de Chine and silver lace, respectively. Little Joan Singleton, the trainbearer wore ivory crepe de Chine and silver lace, The flower-girl was Miss Kathleen Graham, who wore a frock of pink crepe de Chine and silver lace, and carried a basket of asters. Mr. Stan Green was best man, and Mr. James Morris, groomsmen. Later the bridegroom's sister, Mrs E Edwards, received the guests at the Paragon Hotel, wearing a frock of bola de rose crepe de Chine, and carrying a bouquet of red roses.

TWO SPEED-BOATS COME INTO COLLISION - RACING AT KOGARAH

When Yvonne and Miss St. George, two speed-boats, racing in the Norm Edney Trophy event at Kogarah Bay on Saturday afternoon came into collision, Yvonne was almost cut in two. Her owner and driver, Mr. W. Drane, of 37 Mary-street, St. Peters, suffered shock, and was taken by the St. George Ambulance to the St. George Hospital. Miss St. George was driven by her owner, Mr. W. Shevill, of The Promenade, Sans Souci, who is commodore of the St. George Motor Boat Club.

The event was providing an exciting race. Miss St. George was overtaking the other speed-boat, and just as the two were rounding Carr's Pile the collision occurred. The bow of Yvonne tore through the other craft, which immediately began to sink. Although both drivers remained at their helms, their mechanics were flung overboard, but were quickly rescued.

Despite the wet weather on Saturday afternoon there was a large attendance at the ceremony of laying the foundation stone of a new Anglican church at Sans Souci. Hitherto the adherents of the church have worshipped in a temporary building in Rocky Point-road but this has long since become inadequate to accommodate the evergrowing number of parishioners, and the church committee decided that a new church, with accommodation for 200 persons should be created at the corner of Rocky Point-road and Rawson-street.

The ceremony was performed by Bishop Coadjutor D'Arcy-Irvine. Among the visitors were Rev. J. Brown (Methodist), Rev Dr Watson (Baptist), Rev. J. Finch (Congregational).

SANS SOUCI TRAMWAY - ELECTRIFICATION ADVOCATED

A meeting of the local public bodies was held at Kogarah on Tuesday to formulate a campaign for securing the immediate electrification of the Kogarah-Sans Souci tramway.

Mr. Butler, M.L.A., said that if the line was electrified it would yield a profit instead of a loss of £15,000, which, he had been informed, resulted last year from operating the antiquated steam service now in use. Fares had been increased 127 per cent, but with an electric service 50 per cent, of the present operating cost would be eliminated.

A committee of five was appointed to begin the campaign. A public meeting will be held on May 29 in the Ramsgate Picture Palace. Later a deputation will wait upon the Minister for Railways.

FACTORY DESTROYED - Fire at Sans Souci.

EXPLOSION OF CARTRIDGES

Exciting incidents occurred during the course of a fire which destroyed a sporting goods factory at Sans Souci last night. The damage is estimated at about £4000.

Nearby residents were obliged to leave their homes shortly after the fire broke out. Later they took the precaution of removing their furniture and personal effects into the street.

Soon after the fire brigades had set to work a packet of cartridges exploded, and bullets whizzed close to several of the firemen. No one was injured, however.

The factory was owned by Stokes, McGowan, Ltd., and was situated at the rear of Mr. Richard Stokes' home, Plimsoll and Nelson streets, Sans Souci. Twelve men were employed in the factory, where sporting apparatus of every description was manufactured. Shortly after 7 o'clock Mrs. Stokes informed her husband that she could hear the crackling of flames. He then found that a section of the large factory was ablaze.

Mr. Stokes said subsequently that he immediately tried to raise the local telephone exchange to summon the nearest fire brigade, at Kogarah, but it was between five and six minutes before he succeeded in giving the alarm. Fire brigades from Kogarah and Rockdale, in charge of District Officer O'Toole, reached the scene about a quarter of an hour after the fire was discovered. By that time the factory was alight from end to end. The firemen concentrated on saving the surrounding houses, three of which were in danger.

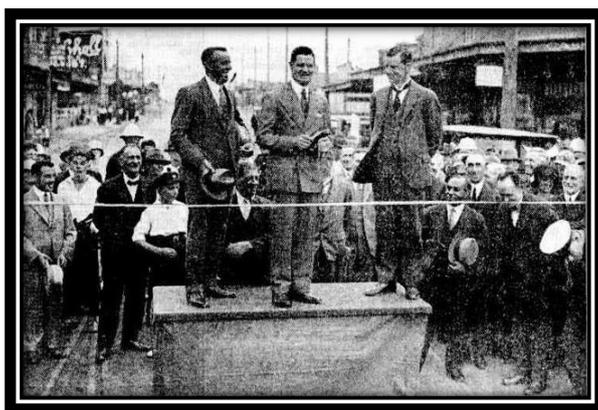

The fire apparently originated in a section of the factory where a large stock of composition cork, for the manufacture of cricket balls, was stored. This substance blazed furiously, and the wind quickly carried the flames to other parts of the building. When the fire was subdued little remained of the factory, or its contents. Much valuable machinery was lost, and a heavy stock of footballs, cricket balls, and other sports requisites was burnt.

The factory and contents were partly covered by insurance with Manufacturers' Mutual Insurance, Ltd.

*Opening of new road from Ramsgate to Sans Souci
The Premier, Mr Bavin (centre), about to cut ribbon. The Mayor of Rockdale
on his left. The road, which extends from Ramsgate to Sans Souci, has cost £55,000*

Ramsgate and Sans Souci were gaily decorated on Saturday afternoon when the Premier (Mr. Bavin) opened the new concrete road from Ramsgate-rd to Rocky Point.

Mr. Bavin was welcomed on behalf of the municipalities by Alderman Whitfield (Mayor of Kogarah) and Alderman Barton (Mayor of Rockdale) at Ramsgate-avenue.

Later at a dinner at Pemberton's Hall, Alderman Barton commented on the delay in converting the district's antiquated tram service to the electric system. The residents hoped that when the present depression had passed, and the finances were in a more prosperous state, the Premier would assist them to get an electric service.

Mr. Bavin, in replying, said that, while the Government had not been able to electrify the tram service, he could advise the ratepayers to keep on hoping. (Laughter.) He saw no reason why they should abandon hope.

‘As you all know, the Government is faced with very grave financial problems and conditions,’ Mr. Bavin continued. ‘These arise not out of our own actions, but from the actions of the whole of the people in the past. They were altogether too extravagant. At the same time I have not the slightest doubt that Australia is going to recover from the existing depression. It is only temporary. If the people would only stand up to it they would soon find that it had passed away, and that they were again enjoying prosperity. Existing conditions make it difficult for the Government to assist local efforts, though nothing would give Ministers greater pleasure than to help people who are willing to help themselves.’ It had been a great pleasure for him to attend a function which represented a great advance in local progress as well as in the spirit of co-operation.

The section of road opened on Saturday was carried out by the Main Roads Board's day labour organisation. The length is one mile 1000 yards, the width from Sandringham-street to Sans Souci 99 feet, and the remainder 66 feet between building lines. A daily average of, approximately, 1000 square yards of pavement was laid throughout the work, with a peak output of 1820 square yards. This output was the fourth highest square yardage output for one day by day labour, being exceeded at Lyons-road, Drummoyne, and Hornsby Section III, where outputs of 1890, 1850, and 1849 were recorded. Final cost will amount to £54,992, including resumptions, alterations to tram tracks, gas and water mains, and other services.

GIRL CRICKETER MARRIED

A 3 o'clock last Wednesday afternoon it seemed as though the larger portion of the people of Sans Souci had gathered at St. Andrew's Church. One of the best known girls of the suburb, and one of the greatest girl sports of Sydney, darkhaired Fernie Schevell, was being married to Mr. W. Blade, of Bondi, and the many friends she has made in the sporting world rolled up to wish her well. Members of the Sans Souci Ladies' Cricket Club, of which she and her sisters are shining lights, were all there, clad in sports wear and blazers, and armed with cricket bats to form an arch and a guard of honour for the bride and her groom as they left the church.

The bride wore a frock of white satin, over which fell billows of cut tulle, caught to the head with sprays of orange blossom. The bridal bouquet was a sheaf of gladioli and frangipanni. Miss Rene Schevell, the bride's twin sister, was the only bridesmaid.

TWO MEN ADRIFT IN BOTANY BAY

Two men, who had sought to reach the shore on a raft after the steamer Favourite had run on a sandbank, were helplessly adrift on Botany Bay this morning.

The steamer Favourite, carrying about 150 passengers, ran her usual mid-week excursion on Botany Bay. Before this was completed she ran aground. Frank Brydon, of Brighton, and Arthur James Bolton, of Sans Souci, set out on the raft to secure assistance, but soon got into difficulties. Their plight was observed by residents and the Kogarah police were notified. Constable Hickling, accompanied by Mr. Edwards, a local resident, requisitioned a motor launch and set out in pursuit. After some hours they succeeded in getting ashore. It was feared that they had been swept out to sea. Meanwhile the passengers on the Favourite had been taken ashore in launches.

BABY'S BODY FOUND - Murder Suspected

Detectives who are inquiring into the discovery at Sans Souci yesterday of an infant's body are awaiting an examination of the remains by the Government Medical Officer today. The case is possibly one of murder.

The body was found in a suit case in a thick clump of ti-tree scrub by a man who was gathering wood. The man saw the small suit case projecting from a heap of debris, beneath which it had evidently been hastily buried.

Plainclothes police of the Kogarah division took charge of the remains, which were greatly decomposed. A superficial examination led to the opinion that it was the body of a child aged possibly 12 months. It was wrapped in a cream shawl of good texture. It is hoped that the Government Medical Officer will be able to certify whether death was due to foul play or to natural causes.

ST. LAURENCE COLLEGE

St. Laurence College is a Church of England School for day boys and boarders, and is ideally situated for the country boy. Right at the end of Russell Avenue, Dolls Point, on the south-western shores of Botany Bay, the college faces the sea and commands a glorious view of George's River, and the whole of Botany Bay. Adjoining the school are many acres of public park, while thousands of pine and ornamental trees add to the beauty of the site.

The aim of the school is to provide a sound primary, and secondary education that makes for real character which trains and develops the boy on a definite religious basis, and so benefits him physically, mentally and morally for his work and place in life. Rev. K. D. Roach B.A., formerly chaplain of St. Peter's School, Barcaldine, Queensland, and Assistant Master, Collegiate School of St. Peter, Adelaide, is the Principal. Sports, cricket, football, tennis and swimming, are all well catered for.

Full particulars can be obtained from the secretary, Mr. E.C.A. Wilkinson, A.I.C.A., Cathcart House, 11c Castlereagh Street, Sydney.

CANOE JOURNEY

Two Sans Souci Swimmers

W. Gribble, carpenter, and O. Duncan, boat builder, who live at Sans Souci, recently built a canoe, which they named the Sans Souci, and in which they paddled from Botany Bay to Watson's Bay, through Sydney Heads, a few days ago, the journey occupying 10 hours. They have fitted air and water tight compartments in the canoe, and propose to take the canoe to Gundagai at the end of this month and paddle along the Murrumbidgee and Murray Rivers to Murray Bridge (S.A.), about 1270 miles. A limited quantity of food will be carried, and traps and guns will be used to secure game. Both are members of the Ramsgate Swimming Club.

FIRE AT KOGARAH

Mishap in Smoking of Fish.

A draught of air blowing burning sawdust from an iron plate in a fish-smoking room in a house in Barton-avenue, Sans Souci, was responsible for a fire on Saturday.

When the fire brigades from Kogarah and Rockdale, under District Fire Officer O'Toole arrived, the building was well alight, but the firemen saved practically the whole of the house, with the exception of the smoking room. Mr. Robert Walter Pilgrim is the owner.

OBITUARY

MR. JAMES LYDON

Mr. James Lydon, headmaster of the Sans Souci Public School for the past 10 years, died yesterday in his 65th year, following an illness of only a few days' duration. Mr. Lydon was a foundation Past-Master of Lodge Sans Souci, a prominent member of the St. George Bowling Club, a supporter of the Red Cross Society, and various charitable organisations, and for some years a warden of St. Andrew's Church, Sans Souci. The interment will take place this afternoon in the Woronora Cemetery, following a service at the residence, the Boulevarde, Sans Souci.

SANS SOUCI TRAMWAY

In a letter to the Editor of the Herald, Mr. Ralph C Dixon, referring to the recommendation of the Transport Advisory Committee for the discontinuance of the Kogarah - Sans Souci tramway, says that the service would pay if run in a business-like manner. He suggests that the old steam engines should be scrapped, and replaced by motor engines; that trams should be run from the loop via Russell-avenue to Sans Souci, thus obviating the necessity for employing signalmen at the crossing; and that economies in other directions could be effected,

SANS SOUCI SHOOTING

WOMAN CHARGED

Ethel Florence Mullarkey, 30, domestic duties, who is alleged to have fired a revolver shot which struck a member of a party that was trying to repossess a motor car from her home at Sans Souci on November 26, was committed for trial from the Kogarah Police Court yesterday, by Mr. Stevenson, S.M., on a charge of having maliciously inflicted grievous bodily harm on Horace Clive Robinson. Bail was fixed at £40.

Robinson stated that, acting under instructions, he had got into the driving seat of the car, which was being towed into the street from a garage at defendant's residence at The Boulevarde. Defendant and an elderly woman were present. Defendant rushed into the house, and, on coming out, produced a revolver, which she fired. He felt a stinging pain in the hip, from which, next day, a bullet was extracted. After being shot he heard her say to another man, 'If you don't get out, I'll shoot you, too.'

William George Oldham stated that defendant had ordered him not to take possession of the car. The elderly lady, he added, took the revolver from the defendant. Sergeant Colvin said that when he interviewed the defendant, she told him that she thought the men were burglars.

MR. J. N. DILLON

Mr. Joseph Napoleon Dillon, who died at Sans Souci recently at the age of 80 years, was a grandson of the late Chevalier Peter Dillon, who in 1826 found the wreckage of the Boussole and the Astrolabe (vessels commanded by La Perouse, the French navigator) on the reefs of Vanikoro, an island to the north of the New Hebrides. The late Mr. Dillon was one of the oldest residents of the St. George district, and was born in Pitt-street, Sydney, on the site of the Lyceum Theatre. The remains were interred in the Roman Catholic portion of the Woronora Cemetery, the Rev. Father O'Driscoll, assisted by Fathers Hannan and MacCarthy, conducting the service at the graveside. Deceased is survived by his widow and three sons.

WOMAN ACQUITTED

Ethel Florence Mullarkey, 30, married woman, was charged with maliciously inflicting grievous bodily harm on Horace Clive Robinson.

It appeared that Robinson and two other men went to Mullarkey's residence at Sans Souci to repossess a motor car. It was alleged that as Robinson was leaving in the car a shot was fired

At the conclusion of the Crown case the jury returned a verdict of not guilty and added a rider that when any person went to repossess a motor car he should be accompanied by a policeman.

His Honor said he agreed with the jury's rider. Mullarkey was discharged. Mr. M. A. A. Kirkpatrick appeared for Mullarkey.

TRAM KILLS COW - Steam Engine Derailed

The engine of a steam tram was derailed in Sans Souci last night, when it struck a cow, which had strayed on the lines. The tram was travelling at a moderate speed along Rocky Point-road about 11 o'clock, when the accident occurred. The cow watched the approaching tram stolidly and took no notice of blasts on the whistle. The driver was unable to stop the heavy tram, and it crashed into the animal. It was killed instantly by the impact.

The engine of the tram was thrown from the rails, and the driver was hurled forwards, but he saved himself from injury by nutting his hands in front of him. Passengers in the following car were hardly affected.

Alderman Who Triumphed - Over Color (sic) Prejudices

SYDNEY, Saturday — A triumph over color! That, in short, is the story of the career of Ald. S. P. Depena, J.P. — the dark-skinned gentleman of Rockdale Council.

In a country where 'White Australia' is on everybody's lips, there must be many conscious and unconscious color prejudices. But charm of manner, a winning personality, an integrity beyond question, and a flair for oratory have helped Ald. Depena to overcome all those prejudices and become possibly the only 'colored' alderman in Australia. It was at the unanimous wish of his council that the Government appointed him a justice of the peace. For the past 14 years he has served as a juror at the Sydney Quarter Sessions, and in all that time he has never been challenged by an accused.

In 1928 he was elected an alderman for Scarborough Ward, and in 1931 he was again returned. He was born at Ramsgate 45 years ago, and his birth was the first registered in the district. His father, a naturalised British subject, was an African, and his mother an English woman. Both were highly-respected residents of Ramsgate. Ald. Depena was educated at Sans Souci Public School and Kogarah High School. An all-round sportsman, he has trophies for sailing, boxing, football, running, and billiards. Few people, in fact, can equal his record in sport. He was, for a time, commodore of the St. George Sailing Club, and has been vice-president of several football clubs. As a champion lightweight boxer, 'Peter' Depena was well known in the city. He is a carpenter by trade.

MAN DRAWN INTO MACHINE - LEG AMPUTATED

Slipping while operating a clay-mixing machine at the Sutherland Tile Works at Sutherland on Wednesday, Norman Silkman, of Sans Souci, was drawn by the left leg into the machine. Before his companions could stop the machinery and extricate him his leg was severely crushed. Silkman, who remained conscious throughout the ordeal, showed remarkable fortitude while his workmates were freeing him. He was removed to hospital, where his leg was amputated above the knee. His condition is critical.

ARTERY SEVERED

Peter Manning, 35, of Napoleon-street, Sans Souci, was the victim of a peculiar accident yesterday morning at Doll's Point, and only the prompt action of ambulance men from the St. George station saved him from bleeding to death.

Manning was standing in the water while some fishermen nearby were dragging in their net. A stingray was entangled in the mesh, and, after dragging it clear, the fishermen flung it back towards the water, and it struck Manning on an arm. The spike penetrated an artery, and blood gushed from the wound. He had lost much blood by the time the ambulance arrived. A tourniquet was applied, and Manning was taken to the St. George Hospital.

REMOVING A GOAT - A Policeman's Problem TACTICS THAT FAILED

The removal of a goat from a roadway seems a simple enough task. A Kogarah policeman who had to do it thought so, until he started to try. The goat normally a peaceful animal, recently planted itself determinedly in the middle of a road at Doll's Point, Sans Souci, and showed a disposition to defend its rights against all comers.

The first the police knew of this wilful flouting of the law was when an enraged motorist complained that the duco on his car had been damaged by a charging goat. Constable Bradbury was ordered to remove the menace. The constable found the offender, a veteran warrior, who had been staked on a vacant piece of land. The rope, however, was long enough to allow the animal to wander on to the roadway. It looked easy to pull the rope, so the constable pulled, the goat did not move an inch. The constable tried diplomacy, but no amount of coaxing would move the goat. The constable chided he argued he tried threats, but the animal was unmoved.

Then when the constable had decided that nothing would induce movement in the stubborn animal, it was galvanised into action and gave him more movement than he had bargained for. In fact, it made a wild charge at him. The constable felt that the time for half measures had gone, so he drew his baton and brought it down with all his force on the goat's head, all he achieved was a broken baton. The goat merely shook itself.

The situation was desperate when the goat's owner arrived. He undid the rope, and the goat walked off quietly at the heels of its master.

ROCKDALE BATHS

In regard to the proposed construction of three shark-proof enclosures along Botany Bay foreshores, in the Rockdale municipality, namely, at Ramsgate, Doll's Point, and North Brighton, the Doll's Point Ratepayers Association informed the Rockdale Council that it had appointed a special committee to investigate the proposal to construct baths in that area, and the committee recommended that the baths should be built 50 yards north of the present pier at Doll's Point. The South Scarborough and Sans Souci Progress Association protested against the building of baths at North Brighton and Ramsgate while the municipal baths at Brighton-le-sands were still losing money. The association asserted that the new baths would mean further burdens to the local ratepayers.

TROLLEY BUS ROUTES TO REPLACE STEAM TRAM

The two routes suggested by the Transport Commissioner, Mr. Maddocks, for the trolley bus routes to replace the Kogarah-Sans Souci-Sandringham steam tram, has been adopted by the Rockdale Council. As they were getting the new service after years of agitation, the aldermen deemed it unwise to make any further suggestions to these routes which are as follows:— (1) From Kogarah Station, via Railway Parade and Rocky Point Road, to Frater's Avenue to Taren Point punt, returning via Rocky Point Road, Gray Street, Railway Parade to Kogarah Station. (2) From Kogarah Station via Railway Parade to Gray Street, Rocky Point Road, Russell Avenue, Napoleon Street, Ida Street and Clareville Avenue, returning via Russell St., Rocky Point Road, Gray Street, and Railway Parade to Kogarah Station. When traffic is light a loop system will be operated passing as near as possible through the centre of population.

KOGARAH STEAM TRAMS - Electrification Agitation M.L.A. URGES TROLLEY BUSES

Mr J C Ross MLA at a meeting at Kogarah on Wednesday night said that the Kogarah-Sans Souci tram service would not be electrified and that trolley buses would be installed. The meeting was convened by the Mayor of Kogarah (Alderman Battye) to resume agitation for the electrification of the line.

Mr Ross said that during the last three years he had been annoyed and delayed in his work by continual agitation for electric trams. Public meetings and numerous requests for deputations to the Government only tended to hamper the Transport Department at arriving at a satisfactory decision. Kogarah would have had a modern transport system long ago it had not been for the people themselves and several aldermen in delaying a final decision. All he wanted to see was that the people in the outlying areas of the district were satisfactorily, cheaply, and comfortably served. It did not mean that because 5000 persons had signed a petition for electrification they particularly wanted that service, but that they wanted to get rid of the antiquated steam trams. The steam trams had lost £250,000 since 1902, while there was £53,000 worth of capital involved in them.

Mr Ross said he was interested more in the general expenditure of the State Government than in providing benefit to a few. He was sick of the continual hampering by interested parties and if he was left alone to do his work, Kogarah would immediately have a new modern system. There was no advantage in the Commissioner (Mr Maddocks) being ridiculed and insulted at public meetings. That was only another factor in delaying progress.

The Mayor of Kogarah (Alderman Battye) denied that only interested parties were present at the meeting. He said that more public meetings would be held. The people would not submit to the Government and take just what was given to them.

The meeting decided among other things to urge the desirability of an electric service and to ask Mr Ross to arrange a deputation to the Premier.

POLICE COURTS TROUBLE OVER SOLDIERS PASS

Before Mr Flynn S.M. at the Kogarah Police Court yesterday, Robert Armstrong, 40 hairdresser, was charged with assaulting Aubrey Leneva Carey, a tram conductor, at Kogarah on July 25. Carey said he was a conductor on the Kogarah-Sans Souci tram and at 7.40am on July 25 defendant boarded the tram, later pushing his returned soldier's pass to Carey's face, saying 'Have a good look at it this time.' When the tram was reaching Kogarah, Carey said defendant hit him in the face and over the eyes and nose resulting with him being off duty for four days.

Armstrong said he was a returned soldier and used the tram very frequently. Although he was well known to Carey as the possessor of a pass, he said the latter had demanded to see it on every occasion, and had stated he would report him if it was not shown. Defendant said Carey swore at him when the tram arrived at Kogarah and a fight ensued.

Mr Flynn S.M. said it was the duty of tram conductors to be conciliatory with travellers and treat them with respect. It was obvious Carey had stressed the point of seeing defendant soldiers' pass on each occasion he used the tram, even though he knew he possessed one. Mr Flynn added conductors should not be too insistent on viewing soldier's passes where the travellers were well know.

Defendant was bound over to be of good behaviour for 12 months, in default seven days' imprisonment. He was also ordered to pay £6/7/6 expenses, to be paid at the rate of 5/- per fortnight.

POLICE COURTS - UNLICENSED HOSPITAL

At the Kogarah Police Court yesterday, Cecily Ethel Mary Werry was fined £10, in default 21 days imprisonment, for having conducted a private hospital in Napoleon-street, Sans Souci, without a licence.

Detective Gee said that he asked Werry why she had not obtained a licence, and she said that she did not think it was necessary if only one patient was in the hospital at a time. She said she thought any qualified nurse was allowed to have an occasional patient at her home.

Detective Gee said that all the equipment at the hospital was clean and modern, there being no suggestion by the police that anything improper was being done. Werry had been previously cautioned by the Department of Public Health, and told that she should obtain a licence.

TROUBLE IN TRAM

Before Mr Reed S.M, at the Kogarah Police Court yesterday, Frederick James Strutt, 28 plumber, was fined £1 for using indecent language to a tram guard on the Kogarah-Sans Souci tram. Gerhart Phillip Junk, tram conductor, said defendant used the language complained of when he asked for his fare. Strutt had been previously fined on two occasions for assault. Sergeant Weidemere said there had been numerous complaints regarding passengers using indecent language and interfering with the duties of conductors on this steam tram. Plainclothes policemen had been placed on the tram on several occasions to stop this practice.

When Phyllis Houghton-Dew, youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. F. Houghton-Dew of North Sydney, was married yesterday, she dispensed with the customary bridal veil, and instead, bound her hair with a chaplet of sweet scented frangipani. John Patrick Sullivan, of Sandringham, was the bridegroom, and the ceremony was performed at St. Cuthbert's Church, Kogarah, by Rev. Evans. The bride's gown of magnolia satin had the train cut in one with the skirt, and she carried a sheaf of gladioli and frangipani. A frock of carnation pink satin was worn by Mrs. J. C. Ross, the matron of honour, while pink gladioli and blue delphiniums formed her halo and bouquet. Captain William Dunn was the best man, and the wedding toasts were honored at the Corrimal Hall, Dolls Point.

HORSE DROWNED - Dashes Through Punt Gate

SYDNEY, Wednesday

While Andrew Notthing, a baker of Sans Souci, was serving a customer today, his horse attached to the cart standing in front of the premises became frightened and bolted.

The animal dashed wildly along the main road towards Taren Point punt, on George's River. The punt was on the other side of the river, and the horse hurtled through the gate and crashed into the water. The cart sank immediately dragging the horse with it, and the animal was drowned in 20 feet of water.

TROLLEY BUSES. – REPLACEMENT OF TRAMS

KOGARAH - SANS SOUCI DECISION

In accordance with the policy announced yesterday, of introducing electric trackless trolley buses in the metropolitan area where conditions permit it, the Transport Commissioner (Mr. Maddocks) had decided that trolley buses are to replace the existing steamways in the Kogarah-Sans Souci area.

Mr. J. C. Ross, M.L.A., received an official notification from Mr. Maddocks to this effect yesterday afternoon. The Commissioner added that he was prepared to make an immediate commencement on the work.

‘Some months will necessarily elapse,’ said Mr. Maddocks, ‘before chassis can be manufactured or imported and bodies built for the new vehicles. An immediate start can be made on the erection of poles and other work incidental to the establishment of a trackless trolley system.’

Mr. Maddocks added that he was perfectly satisfied from his experience overseas that the introduction of a trackless trolley system to serve the Kogarah-Sans Souci area would meet with public appreciation and add materially to the popularity of the district. It had been found that where these vehicles had been introduced there had almost invariably been a marked increase in the amount of transport, offering. There was evidence abroad of a general tendency to replace trams by either trackless trolleys or compression ignition omnibuses.

TROLLEY BUSES - TENDERS TO BE CALLED

The Commissioner for Transport (Mr. Maddocks) informed a deputation, introduced by Mr. J. C. Ross, M.L.A., yesterday, that it was hoped to have the trackless trolley motor bus service in operation between Kogarah and Sans Souci by the early spring of this year.

The Commissioner intimated that it was also proposed to extend certain of the services from Kogarah to Rockdale, according to the amount of patronage that was offering.

Steps he said, could be taken at once to call for tenders for the chassis, which would have to be imported. The bodies would be built locally.

TROLLEY BUSES - 22 TO BE PURCHASED

KOGARAH-SANS SOUCI SERVICE

The Commissioner for Transport (Mr. Maddocks) announced yesterday that orders had been placed with Leyland Motors, Ltd., Siemens (Aust.) Pty., Ltd., and A.E.C. Pty., Ltd., for the supply of chassis for double-decked trolley buses, which would be utilised to provide a service in substitution for the existing steam tramway between Kogarah and Sans Souci. The service, he said, would be extended to include Rockdale.

Twenty-two vehicles were being obtained and the major portion of the chassis and the whole of the bodies and the trolley wire for the overhead equipment would be manufactured locally.

Plans for the sub-station and trolley bus depot were nearing completion; the survey for the overhead wiring had been finished, and the poles were now on the site ready for erection.

The Commissioner added that he anticipated that the trolley bus service would be in operation by October next.

TROLLEY BUSES - CONTRACTS LET - NEW TYPE APPROVED

The Transport Commissioner (Mr. Maddocks) yesterday let a contract to Messrs Ritchie Brothers, of Auburn, for the construction of 21 all-metal bodies for the trolley buses to be placed in service in substitution for the Kogarah-Sans Souci steam tramway.

A contract has also been placed with Mr. Syd. Wood, of Bankstown, for the construction of a composite trolley bus body.

The bodies of these vehicles will differ from any of those hitherto built in Australia, and will be modelled on those in use in Newcastle-on-Tyne, England. They will have two stairways and a front and rear entrance and exit, allowing for a free flow of traffic right through the vehicle, which will facilitate loading and unloading during peak traffic.

This type of vehicle attracted the attention of the Commissioner when at Newcastle-on Tyne, during his recent tour of investigation overseas.

CENTRE STREET LIGHTING

The St. George County Council has refused an application by Rockdale Council that centre street suspension lighting be installed along parts of the new Rockdale to Sans Souci trolley bus route. The chief electrical engineer of the County Council (Mr. E. P. Thompson) has reported that there was bad holding ground along this route, and poles would not be able to stand too much loading.

It was proposed to use the trolley bus poles, but the wiring for the lighting was just as heavy as trolley bus construction. Mr. Thompson said poles in Fontenbleau-street had already pulled over as a result of the bad holding ground.

COMPLAINT AGAINST NIGHT TENNIS

A resident of Darley-street Sans Souci has complained to Kogarah Council that a nuisance is being caused by the playing of tennis late at night on a court in that street. The writer stated that play continued on some nights until five minutes past midnight, and up to 11.30 on Sunday nights. The voice of the umpire was annoying, also the large glaring lights. If the council took no action he would apply in the law courts for an injunction against late play.

Alderman Bertram said at the last council meeting that he lived two doors from the court and considered that there was no cause for complaint. The letter was formally received.

SHARK BIT BOTTOM FROM LAUNCH BUT MEN STILL LIVE

After a shark had bitten a huge hole in their 16ft. launch in the middle of Botany Bay before dawn today, two men spent nearly four hours up to their necks in water, and in terror of the shark's return. In spite of their danger, however, they kept up their spirits by joking. They were in constant fear of the shark's return, but having left several of its teeth in the vessel's planks it probably suffered as big a shock as the men. The men were: Albert Cree (54), fisherman, of Kogarah, and John Blacksall (72), of Brighton le Sands, who had joined Cree for a day's fishing. 'It was a wonder we were not eaten by the shark, but the probability is that the monster injured itself and feared to return' said Cree later. 'How we escaped drowning in the circumstances is almost a miracle.' In their open launch, the two men left Brighton shortly after 3 a.m., intending to fish off Cronulla. On board for bait was a baby shark, two feet long, and they think this, attracted the big shark which attacked them.

The Attack - The heads had almost been reached when they heard a loud swish in the water with a suddenness that sent them sprawling. The shark crashed into the vessel. Its teeth sank in to the half-inch planks, about a foot of which were torn away by its powerful jaws. Several teeth were left embedded in the woodwork.

Blacksall found himself lying across a small petrol tank, and Cree was stretched across the middle of the launch, which almost capsized. By quickly rolling to the other side, however, they prevented this. Water was pouring in. In three minutes the launch had sunk to the gunwale. It was reputed to be unsinkable, and by kneeling on the bottom and remaining motionless they were able to remain in the sub merged boat but they saw with alarm that they were being washed slowly out to sea. To keep up their spirits the men exchanged joking remarks about their prospects of being helped across 'the Great Divide' by the saints.

When dawn broke they saw that they were alone in the bay. The shark did not return, but every minute they expected that they would be drowned. When the crew of the yacht Minerva finally saw their plight, it quickly reached the scene. Cree, at last overcome by his efforts to attract help, was then practically unconscious. He and Blacksall were hauled on board and the launch was towed to Doll's Point and beached. Cree and Blacksall were horrified when they saw the size of the huge hole in the bottom.

FOUR GIRLS INJURED

Four girls were knocked down by motor car in Rocky Point-road, Ramsgate, yesterday morning, and three of them were admitted to hospital.

They were:- Veronica Christie, 16, Alice street, Ramsgate, head injuries; Patricia Wells 16, Sans Souci, probable fractures of the skull and left leg; and Van Stannard, 15, Ramsgate-avenue, Ramsgate, probable fractures of the pelvis and spine. Elsie Bray, 14, of Selmon-street, Sans Souci, was treated for an injury to a hand and shock, and was allowed to leave.

The girls were standing under a shop awning waiting for a tram. When it stopped, they began to cross the road, and were knocked down by a car travelling in the opposite direction. The driver said that he had not been able to see the girls approaching. St. George District, Ambulance conveyed them to the St. George District Hospital.

LAST STEAM TRAMS - Manning by Retired Officers

SUGGESTION BEING CONSIDERED

A suggestion that the oldest living ex-steam tram employees should man the trams on the Kogarah-Sans Souci service on the last journeys before the changeover to trolley buses on July 3 will be considered by the Retired Railway and Tramway Officers' Association at a meeting on Thursday. The proposal was made by Mr. T. Fitzpatrick, of Mortdale, in a letter to the 'Herald.'

The secretary of the Retired Railway and Tramway Officers' Association (Mr. H. Crawford) said he thought that it would be a nice gesture, and would add interest to the change-over ceremony if the steam trams on the last journeys were manned by the oldest ex-steam drivers and guards. His association would probably place the proposal before the Department of Road Transport and Tramways.

The Deputy Commissioner for Road Transport (Mr. C. N. Neale) said that the suggestion would be considered.

COACH DRIVER'S MEMORIES

Mr. C. J. Selmon, of Rocky Point-road, Kogarah, recalled how, 50 years ago, his coach run from Kogarah to Sandringham had been forced out of operation by the steam tram service which, in its turn, will be superseded by trolley buses on July 3.

In Mr. Selmon's day Sandringham was a popular seaside resort. The tram's first carriages, which carried holiday-makers, were old train cars. The tram often ran out of water, and had to be filled from nearby wells.

DEATH OF FIRST DRIVER

Mr. Henry John Devlin, who has died at his home in Clareville-avenue, Sandringham, at the age of 82 years, was the first man to drive the old Kogarah steam trams, 50 years ago. He drove trams in the service for two years, before being transferred to locomotives.

ROCKDALE-SANS SOUCI SERVICE

The Deputy Commissioner for Road Transport and Tramways (Mr. C. N. Neale) stated yesterday that he approved the proposal that retired employees, who had been engaged in the operation of the Kogarah-Sans Souci steam tramway, should be included in the celebrations associated with the inauguration of the trolley bus service. He suggested that retired employees who desired to attend should communicate with the secretary of the Retired Officers' Association (Mr. H. Crawford, of 48 Sackville-street, Bexley), before Friday, June 18. Mr. Crawford would then discuss the matter with the department.

LAST STEAM TRAM WILD SCENES - SCRAMBLE FOR SOUVENIRS

Trolley Buses Begin.

Excited souvenir hunters stripped the last steam tram from Kogarah to Sans Souci early yesterday morning electric light globes, windows, stanchions, and even doors were taken as 'mementoes.' A throng of men, women, and children jostled each other in an endeavour to make the last trip on the steam tram.

Several persons sought to obtain a precarious footing on the running-boards, but were ordered off by the police. The tram, consisting of an engine and three cars, left the Kogarah station shortly before 1 a.m. to the accompaniment of cheers, whistles, and the blowing of motor horns an escort of between 50 and 60 motor cars convoyed the tram. At the first steep incline the load proved too great for one engine and another had to be requisitioned, the journey being completed with a 'double-header.'

Constable Dunn, who was riding alone on the footboard of one of the cars, was struck by a motor and forced from his position. His thigh was badly bruised and he received attention from ambulance officers. He had to go off duty.

TRIPLE OPENING CEREMONY - CROWD OF 90,000.

Between 90,000 and 100,000 people witnessed the inauguration of the Rockdale - Kogarah - Sans Souci trolley bus service by the Premier (Mr. Stevens) on Saturday, and bade farewell to the 'Puffing Billy' steam tram service, which had been in use between Kogarah and Sans Souci for half a century.

The four miles of route were lined with people; many thousands of motor cars were parked along the highway, and there was an attractive procession of decorated trade vehicles.

The first function was at Kogarah railway station, where the Premier cut a purple ribbon. The official party then boarded trolley buses and, travelled to Rockdale, where another ribbon was severed. The party was then conveyed to Sans Souci, where in the late afternoon, further speeches were delivered.

'FLEXIBLE TRANSPORT'

The Premier outlined the Government's plans for meeting the transport problem in Sydney, as published in the 'Herald' last Wednesday. He said that last year trams and buses in Sydney transported 317,211,048 passengers more than 37,866,000 miles. For that service the passengers paid £3,534.896 and 9376 drivers and conductors were employed.

'Our policy,' he said, 'has been to provide the most flexible system of transport to meet the ever-increasing needs of the people. In the past five years we have instituted many improvements and in the near future greater changes are contemplated gradually our trams will be substituted by motor buses and trolley buses, but if fares are to be kept down that change, must be gradual, while millions of pounds worth of rolling stock is scrapped and capital for the new equipment is provided. During the past few years we have been able to write down each year the capital of our transport services and to reduce fares. We are determined to keep fares at their present level and they will not be increased in consequence of the recent increase in wages.

Mr Stevens said the total cost of the new trolley bus service, which would be operated by 16 vehicles, was £106.000 and a staff of 54 men would be employed. The old steam service necessitated a staff of 56. During its half century of operation a loss had been shown each year the total loss having been £230.001

The Premier added that more than 50 per cent, of each completed trolley bus had been manufactured in Australia. Mr J C. Ross. M.L.A, said that with up to-date transport it would be impossible to hold back the Kogarah district. The Mayor of Kogarah (Alderman Battye) presented to the Premier a gold-mounted blotter, containing the seal of the Municipality of Kogarah

Other speakers included the Mayor of Rockdale (Alderman F. W. Beehag), the acting Commissioner for Transport (Mr. C. N. Neale), the deputy Mayor of Kogarah (Alderman E. H. Trollope), the deputy Mayor of Rockdale (Aldermen Maguire), and Mr. J. J. Cahill, M.L.A. Other guests were Messrs. H. J. Bate and C. O. J. Monro, Ms. L. A. A. Lane M.L.A and Dr. Eli Webb. M.L.A., and aldermen and councillors of the immediate and surrounding municipalities.

STEAM TRAMS TO BE BURNT

After serving along the Kogarah to Sans Souci route for 50 years, the old discarded steam trams are to be burnt to enable old iron to be salvaged from them.

The purchaser has asked the Rockdale Council, for permission to burn the trams where they stand at Doll's Point. The burning would be supervised by officers of the fire brigade to see that nearby houses were not damaged.

The mayor (Alderman F. W. Beehag) said at the meeting that it was a pity to burn so much wood when families could use it for fuel. Most of the wood was cedar. Permission was granted.

HOLIDAY LITTER - TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD

Sir - Mr Gilder's complaint regarding this matter is published in your issue of the 11th inst., is typical of what is to be found in practically every seaside resort around Sydney. Like Mr Glider, I live at Sans Souci adjacent to a beautiful park, which is the rendezvous of week-end trippers and motorists. It is quite the usual thing; to find each week-end that the roadways, gutters, and footpaths are littered with all kinds of rubbish, Mr Glider mentions, and no attempt appears to be made by the civic authorities to bring the people to a proper sense of their civic duty. The position has become even worse since the rivalry between the various icecream companies has increased, resulting in the various kinds of paper bags, cartons, sticks and wooden spoons being cast to four winds.

If natural good manners and culture of the average tripper or motorist are lacking and no municipal authorities should patrol the resorts in their areas and take action with those who carelessly distribute rubbish on the streets and footpaths. If the cost of such patrol is considered too great, then it is suggested that the various councils co-operate and provide a flying squad to institute a campaign around the various beaches. As the position stands at present, it appears to be quite within the law to scatter litter, and no decently disposed citizen dare protest. I am, etc, MRS. H. COLLIS.

REMAINS OF MAN

Believed to be Enmore Resident.

Through the identification of a tan shoe and a sock on the foot of the one leg and portion of the body of a man found in the net of fishermen in Botany Bay, Detective Miles, of Kogarah, believes that the remains were those of Wilson Frederick Caughey, 50, who disappeared from his home in Enmore Street, Enmore, on February 24. Yesterday police dragged Botany Bay, off Doll's Point, for the remaining portions of the body. It is believed that Caughey fell from his boat while fishing.

NEW TEAMS

Several new clubs and teams will figure in the competitions. Vice Regal has entered two teams. It is three years since the Vice Regal teams competed in the cricket fixtures. On Saturday the Vice Regal teams played grading matches, and Miss Edna Medcalf, who gained her interstate colours when Vice Regal were playing in previous years, was in excellent form. After a long absence from the game, Miss Medcalf scored 52 and took five wickets for 16.

Walter Cavill's firm has entered a team for the first time this season, and St. George Club is completely reorganised. Many of the former Sans Souci players, who were State premiers for years, have come back into the game, including Miss Rene Shevill.

Another Sans Souci player who showed to advantage, with St. George on Saturday was Miss Rene Duggan, who bowled finely. The St. George team should do extremely well this season with this additional strength, and Miss L. Jamieson, the new honorary secretary is working hard to organise the club efficiently both as a playing unit and as an administrative group in the district Y.W.C.A. Teams.

LOSS ON TROLLY BUS SERVICE

Rockdale-Sans Souci Route.

The Transport Department has informed Rockdale council that the new trackless trolley bus service on the Rockdale-Kogarah-Sans Souci route which has replaced the old steam trams has shown a loss in the last 12 months of £800. This was stated by the department in reply to a request that the department should contribute substantially towards the reconstruction of Russell Avenue, Ramsgate. The council had pointed out that this road was crumbling badly as a result of the heavy traffic by the buses, and had only been originally constructed for much lighter traffic. The council stated that it had been estimated that it would cost more than £7000 to reconstruct it in concrete.

The department said that in view of the heavy loss on the service it could not make a large contribution.

PROPOSED OIL REFINERY

FARMERS FEAR POLLUTION - Effect on Oyster Reels

A guarantee will be sought by oyster farmers that oyster culture waters will not be polluted by effluent if an oil refinery is established at Yarra Bay. This was one of the decisions of the annual conference of the N.S.W. Oyster Farmers' Association at Doll's Point yesterday.

The Minister for Lands, Mr. Sinclair, is reported to be favourable to granting a lease of Crown lands at Yarra Bay for a refinery.

Mr. T. C. Roughley, special research officer of the Fisheries Department, warned delegates that if effluent from such works reached Botany Bay it would be of great detriment to oyster farms. Provision should be made for a penalty of £50 a day for as long as pollution continued.

'We have been too complacent in the past about, the possible pollution of our bays and rivers,' he said.

OYSTER PAGEANT SUGGESTED

He considered that there should be a pageantry at the opening of the annual oyster conferences, like there was at Colchester, England.

The Chief Secretary, Mr. Tonking, who opened the conference, said (the fisheries officers and the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research were doing valuable work for the industry. Experiments were being made in bamboo cultivation for the growing of oysters in place of mangrove slicks.

The chairman, Mr. C. W. Phillips, said that last year 43,000 sacks of oysters were marketed in New South Wales, and the return to the growers had been £100,000. Many improvements in methods of cultivation were urgently necessary. The growers had paid to the department £10,000 in lease rentals, and he considered that portion of that sum should be set aside each year for research into growing methods and conditions. It might be possible to discover a synthetic stick for oyster culture.

One hundred and fifty delegates from all parts of the State consumed 6,000 oysters during the conference.

RESTRICTIONS ON WATER - Drastic Economies Begin

Most householders yesterday put into effect the drastic new restrictions on the use of water, which were imposed by the Water Board on Wednesday.

These restrictions are: The use of water for any domestic purpose except sanitary flushing is prohibited except between 6 a.m. and 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. and 8 p.m.: prohibition of most hot-water systems; the flush in sanitary pans is to be reduced to a maximum of two gallons; permits to water rare plants are withdrawn; the depth of plunge baths is not to exceed four inches; water for sporting purposes is prohibited; business consumers are to effect a reduction of at least five per cent; watering times for market gardens are reduced by one hour daily.

There were numerous complaints yesterday from shift workers in munition factories that, it would be impossible for them take baths during the week because they would be either asleep or at work during the hours when the domestic use of water is permitted.

No relief for night workers is provided in the regulations, as drafted. It is expected that they will be gazetted by the Government this afternoon. Until they are gazetted there can be no prosecution for failure to observe the restrictions.

WATER TANKS

The president Mr. Upton, at the request of members of the board, is investigating the possibility of householders obtaining, at a reasonable cost, galvanised iron tanks for the storage.

The vice-president, Mr. T. D. Kelly, stated that he had made some inquiries and had found that tanks at reasonable prices were almost unprocurable. The board has asked every householder who can to put down bores to get water for gardening and other household purposes.

Experience, however, has shown that bore water in the metropolitan area is limited chiefly to the low lying areas on the foreshores and to some portions of the northern suburbs.

Water can be had at 10 or 20 feet almost anywhere on the lower slopes or valleys between Rose Bay and Sans Souci. This area was for many years the source of the Sydney water supply, and is now supplying about 8,000,000 gallons daily for industrial purposes. This supply of subterranean water is showing signs of depletion because of the prolonged drought.

HUMAN ARM FOUND

As Ronald Maltby, of Sans Souci, and William Abbott, of Bexley, were fishing yesterday afternoon near the Sans Souci baths, they recovered the left arm of a human being. Broken and in the state of decomposition, the arm was taken to the Kogarah Hospital, where a doctor was unable to state whether it belonged to a male or female. It is in the City Morgue.

Police hold that the arm is possibly the remains of either Arthur Bridges 16, of Hurstville, or Ronald Bishop 17, of Marrickville, who were drowned four miles further Up the river on Thursday.

RUBBER 'MINE' IN SANS SOUCI GARDEN

Two Sans Souci Boy Scouts, Jim Bates and Bernard Walker, were given permission by the owner of a house to collect some old rubber heels in a garden for the rubber drive. The heels were made in Japan, and marked 'Peace.' and 'Benito.' When the boys started digging in the yard they came on huge numbers of heels and in two days uncovered about 6 cwt. They are still in rich rubber ground, and will continue mining tomorrow. The heels were discovered when a fence was being erected. They were apparently buried by the former occupant of the house.

CHINAMAN RELIEVED OF WHITE MAN'S BURDEN

SYDNEY, Sunday

A Chinaman was assaulted and robbed by another Chinaman this morning outside a hut adjoining his market garden at Sans Souci.

Ah Tung (65) of San Souci, was seen in the company of another Chinaman shortly before the robbery occurred. Ah Tung, who is now in St. George's Hospital, told the police that the other Chinaman had said to him, 'Do you work for the white man?' Ah Tung replied, 'Yes.' The other Chinaman then struck him and robbed him of £10.

NO PARALLEL IN AUSTRALIAN CRIME

It was stated in the Quarter Sessions today that a forgery by Lewis Norman Edney, of Sans Souci, 21, was very cunning, and had no parallel in the Australian and New Zealand police records.

Edney pleaded guilty to two charges of forgery and two of uttering. It was stated that he deposited £100 in the Union Bank, and after altering the figure in his passbook, withdrew £400.

Mr. Dovey said that Edney was led to his actions by his infatuation for an older woman. He was remanded until Monday for sentence.

WEDDING BELLS

SHAW - IVES

The marriage of Miss Lorrie Ives, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Ives, of Sandringham, to Mr. Alwyn Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Shaw, of Fairfield St., Fairfield, was solemnised at St. Andrew's Church of England, Sans Souci, on April, 17 by the Rev. K. Shelly, of Chatswood.

The bride presented a charming figure in a white moss crepe with bustle effect, and wearing a cut tulle veil, and carried a bouquet of roses, frangipani and carnations.

The bridesmaid, Miss Dorothy Ives, sister of the bride, was frocked in pale green moss crepe and carried a bouquet of talisman rosebuds. Mr. Phil Singlelon, of Sandringham, was bestman. During the signing of the register Miss Marie Clarke beautifully sang 'Because.'

The reception was held at Harris' Hall, Ramsgate, the guests being received by the bride's mother, who chose a frock of jacaranda blue with black accessories, and was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, wearing royal blue ensemble with black accessories.

The chairman was Mr. Stan Shaw, and the usual toasts were sincerely honoured. During the cutting of the cake 'I Love You Truly' was rendered by, Miss Dot Walker. The handsome three tiered cake was a wedding present from Mrs Singleton, of Sans Souci, who also made it.

Other vocal items at the reception were tendered by Misses Marie Clarke and Renie Pierce, and Mrs. H. Gallant. The newly-weds later left on their honeymoon to be spent at Blackheath and Jenolan Caves.

MAN DIES AFTER QUARREL WITH NEPHEW

Police are investigating the death of a man who died suddenly at Dolls Point last night. Shortly before his death the man, who is alleged to have suffered from heart disease, had a quarrel and a fight with his nephew. The dead man was Daniel Charles Wood, 54, of Malua Street, Dolls Point. Police were told that Wood and his nephew, Mr. Cecil Hayward, 42, had lived together. Shortly after Hayward had returned home last night, a quarrel had taken place between the two men. It was alleged that Wood picked up a motor-car pump and belaboured Hayward with it, inflicting injuries to his head and face. In the struggle both men had fallen to the floor. Shortly after they had risen again, Wood is said to have collapsed and died.

BABY FLOWN TO 12,500ft - In Bid To Cure Cough

A nine month old baby boy was taken to 12,500 feet over Sydney yesterday in the front cockpit of a Gipsy Moth plane to try to cure him of whooping cough.

The child was Max Coles, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Coles, of 152 Russell Avenue, Sans Souci. He made the two hour flight dressed in heavy woollens, and for most of the time was fast asleep in his father's arms. The flight was made in the Truscott Flying Club's flying doctor Moth, Robin, which has made many 'mercy' flights in the Northern Territory, with Dr. Fenton at the controls.

Yesterday Mr. W. Burns, an honorary instructor to the Truscott club, and an R.A.A.F. friend of Mr. Coles, piloted the plane.

While the plane was up, Mrs. Coles and her two small daughters waited anxiously at Bankstown airport. 'We decided to try the flight on the advice of two doctors,' said Mrs. Coles. 'The baby has had injections, but they did not cure him.'

When the Moth returned, Mr. Coles said: 'The baby whimpered a little on the way down from 12,000 feet, but this was because of the change of air pressure in his ears. As the change in air pressure is supposed to help his complaint, I was glad to see him cry a little. When we made our glide into the aerodrome Max was sleeping again.'

The Truscott club equipped Robin with special supplies of oxygen and a mask to fit the baby, in case of emergency, but these were not needed.

Mr. Coles did not know, however, that his friend would be piloting Robin until they arrived at the airport. Mr. Burns said that if Max was not better tomorrow, he would take him to a higher altitude in a twin-engined Avro Anson plane.

FLIGHTS SOUGHT FOR MANY WHOOPERS

Dozens of harassed mothers with children suffering from whooping cough yesterday tried to book seats for their sick children aboard a plane which was to take another young sufferer on a high altitude flight in search of relief from the complaint. Because of a misunderstanding many mothers were unable to get their children aboard the plane.

The Avro Anson was originally chartered by Mr. H. E. Coles, of Sans Souci, to take his 9 months old son Max on a high altitude flight. On Friday the child and his father flew to 12,500 feet in a Truscott Flying Club plane.

Yesterday Mr. Coles reported Max had enjoyed his best night's sleep for weeks. Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Coles accompanied her husband and baby son in the Anson to 20,000 feet. When the aircraft returned to Bankstown they reported Max's breathing seemed easier, and his general condition improved.

Mr. W. Burns, an honorary instructor to the Truscott Club, was again the pilot yesterday. The manager of the Truscott Club, Mr. B. Rees, said Mr. A. Aberline, of West Wyalong, the owner, had made the Anson available for another 'whooping cough' flight for children today. 'The plane will take eight small children in charge of a doctor or nurse on a high altitude flight on, Sunday afternoon,' he said. Inquiries concerning the flight would be taken at FU5123.

FREE PLANE TRIPS FOR MORE WHOOPERS

A wealthy country garage proprietor has decided to make his private plane available free of charge to children suffering from whooping cough.

Mr Alfred A. Aberline, of West Wyalong, will take 20 children on high altitude flights in his twin-engined Anson tomorrow in an attempt to cure their whooping cough. The flights will be made from Mascot. The plane will be piloted by Mr W. Burns, a former RAAF member.

Mrs Aberline said today that her husband had offered his plane free of charge because he was so pleased with the progress made by nine months old Max Coles, of Sans Souci, after a flight in the plane last weekend.

MORE HELP ON WAY TO FIX CAR

Another tradesman has joined the group who will help fix ex-Serviceman Gilbert Smith's smashed car - but the tradesman doesn't know it yet. He is Mr. Bill Dodd, panelbeater and manager of the Sans Souci Auto Body and Welding Company.

Mr. W. G. Dodd, Bill's father, told the 'Herald' last night: 'You tell Mr. Smith to bring his car to 705 Rocky Point Road, Sans Souci. Bill will go right on with it.' 'He doesn't know about the job yet, but I'll see that he does in the morning.'

Smith paid £350 - his life's savings for a second-hand car on Monday. Half an hour later it collided with a lorry and was wrecked.

Smith said later that he had given up smoking and that his family had saved in many small ways to help pay for the car. Smith wears an iron support on his left leg because of a wartime injury. Since Smith's misfortune with his car was reported, the following things have happened:

- The man from whom he bought the car called at Smith's home and said that he could forget a small balance owing.
- A returned soldier motor mechanic rang the 'Herald' and offered to repair the mechanical defects in the car free.
- Then yesterday Mr. Dodd, proprietor of the Associated Trade Journals Company, rang the 'Herald' to offer his son's services.

'That bloke Smith's had a tough break. I lost a brother in the First World War and another brother was wounded in the leg. A sister of mine served as a nurse right through the First World War, so I'm pretty sympathetic to ex-Servicemen,' Mr. Dodd said. 'Bill worked on aircraft in this last war. If Mr. Smith's car is in ribbons, Bill can fix it.'

PLANE CRASH AN ACCIDENT – Coroner Finds

The City Coroner, Mr. A. N. Bott, yesterday found that Norman Robert Ellis, of Hillcrest Street, Homebush, died from injuries accidentally received when his aeroplane crashed at Pelican Point, near Cronulla, on May 11.

Ellis was flying a Tiger Moth. Wreckage was buried in mud and Ellis's body was recovered next morning from more than four feet under the surface. Evidence given on the first day of the hearing showed that Ellis was flying in a prohibited area.

John Hayward, an oyster farmer, of Sans Souci, said yesterday he was working an oyster lease in Botany Bay when he saw the aircraft about 2,000 feet up.

It made a slight left-hand turn and then dropped almost perpendicularly. Hayward said he then heard something like a dull explosion about three-quarters of a mile away. The aircraft was practically submerged in mud and its tail was bent over, Hayward said.

TRUCK CRASHES WITH FAMILY OF TEN

The parents and two of their eight children in a utility truck suffered minor injuries last night when the truck ran off the Prince's Highway at Waterfall.

The father, Leslie Sutton, 34 suffered head injuries, the mother Rebecca Sutton, 35, injuries to head, chest and legs and shock, and Phillip, 10 and June, 12 both injuries to the head and shock.

The family were returning from Berry, on the South Coast, to their home in Russell Street, Sans Souci, when their truck ran into a culvert four feet deep. Sutton told Sergeant Lober, of Helensburgh police, that the lights of an oncoming car had dazzled him. A doctor from the Waterfall Sanatorium nearby treated the injured before St. George Ambulance took them to hospital.

BLACKOUT WAVE - 94 AREAS

In a continuous wave of blackouts lasting from 7.12 a.m. till 6.25 p.m. yesterday 94 districts were without electricity for up to two hours. The Electricity Commissioner Mr. H. G. Conde, said last night that he did not expect today's blackouts to be as bad.

'This evening we expected the blackouts to last well into the night, but the output improved during the peak hour,' he said. 'Tomorrow I think the blackouts should not extend beyond 9 a.m., providing there are no further breakdowns.' Mr. Conde said he expected the first suburbs to be affected this morning would be Carlton, Kogarah, Allawah, Kingsgrove, Sans Souci, Balmain East, Redfern, and Alexandria.

Yesterday's blackouts had been caused by the breakdown of a Bunnerong boiler, and poor output from the Newcastle and Cowra power stations. A 20,000-kilowatt generator at Ultimo was also still being repaired.

At the Wollongong greyhound races last night, 2,500 people stood in darkness during a half-hour blackout. The dogs had just passed the finishing post after the first race when the blackout occurred.

TALKS PROMISED ON BASE FOR SEAPLANES

Mr. D. D. Cross, Liberal M.L.A. for Kogarah, told a protest meeting last night that the Civil Aviation Department would not proceed with its plans to resume land at Sans Souci for a seaplane base until interested parties had conferred.

The parties would be the Civil Aviation Department, the Rockdale Council, the Main Roads Board and the residents of the district. The meeting, attended by 500 residents of Rockdale and Sans Souci, was held in the open air at Sans Souci.

PROTEST MOTION

It passed a resolution protesting against any resumption of land or foreshore areas for a seaplane base. A committee of local residents will be formed to protest to the Minister for Air and Civil Aviation, Mr. T. W. White. Mr. Cross said that Mr. White had assured him that nothing would be done to resume the land until the conference had taken place. The site of the proposed base is 15 acres on the George's River. The Department of Interior, acting as agent for the Civil Aviation Department, has asked 11 persons in the area to put a price on their homes.

The Deputy Leader of the Federal Parliamentary Labour Party, Dr. H. V. Evatt, whose electorate-Barton includes the proposed site of the base, described the plan as 'hastily conceived, arbitrary and bureaucratic.'

CASINO BRIDE TO LIVE AT SANS SOUCI

Somerville, Casino

A couple recently married in Casino will live at Sans Souci, Sydney. They are Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred McKee, who were married in the Seventh Day Adventist Church, Casino, by Pastor J Gibbett.

Formerly Lorna Evans, the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Evans, of Springgrove, via Casino, and her husband is the second son of Mrs. E. J. McKee, and the late Mr. W. McKee, of Sans Souci. The bride's frock was of brocaded satin over shell pink taffeta and featured a tulle and guipure lace yoke and a full train. The three tiered fingertip length veil was held in place by orange blossoms and the bouquet consisted of orchids, carnations, tuberose and freesias.

Mrs. Dawn Cook was matron of honour and John Evans was best man. The wedding reception was held in the Scouts' Hall. The honeymoon is being spent touring Queensland.

TEENAGERS - Defeat of Drobny in the Wimbledon singles final today would make Ken Rosewall the youngest non-English titleholder, by four days. Rosewall was born on November 2, 1934, and is thus 19 years 243 days. When Sydney Wood (US) won on a forfeit on July 5, 1931, he was 19 years 247 days.

I spoke on the phone yesterday to the most thrilled woman in Australia — Mrs. A. Rosewall, of Sans Souci, Sydney, mother of our Ken. Between daily chores in her home and her husband's grocery, she found time to send a 'good luck' cable to Ken. Mrs. Rosewall had hoped to speak to Ken by phone after the match, but found she couldn't get through until 2 am. (London time). A bit late for a teenager, she said. (A teenager who, by this time tomorrow may be singles champion of the All England Croquet and Lawn Tennis Club — though where croquet comes in heaven knows, unless it's when Drobny goes through the hoop.) But she, her husband and Mrs. Rosewall, sen, will listen to every stroke played tonight. No party, just the three of them, sitting round a big fire. Patriots will be cheered to know that the latest news on Ken— it came in two letters from him to his mother yesterday is that 'he is very happy and very well.' Asked whether he was satisfied with his game, Mrs. Rosewall replied: 'He never writes a word about tennis.' All Australia will be keeping its fingers crossed for the Rosewall family tonight.

V.J. SKIPPER WAS TAUGHT BY HAYWARD

Bob Taylor, who won the South Perth Yacht Club's V.J class race in Erratic on Saturday, was tutored in the art of sailing by Billo Hayward at the Sans Souci Yacht Club in Sydney. Taylor was forward hand for Hayward's grandson in a V.J. yacht and before coming to Perth several months ago he won two races for forward hands in Sydney. His win on Saturday, however, was his first as skipper of his own boat. Taylor's brother, Graham, who also is a V.J. enthusiast and still lives in Sydney, was forward hand on the V.J., Radiant, which competed in the Australian championships on the Swan River three years ago.

NEWSBOY KILLED BY LADDER

SYDNEY, Wednesday - A young paper boy died when a ladder crushed his skull, the City Coroner's Court was told today. The boy intended to use the ladder to retrieve a newspaper he had accidentally thrown onto the roof of a customer's home.

The Coroner Mr Letts found that the boy, Graham Barry Molloy, 15, of Horbury Street, Sans Souci, died accidentally on September 23. Constable Kevin Edward Cook, of Kogarah, said he went to Rocky Point Road, Kogarah, and saw Molloy's body lying in a side passage of a house. A large, heavy tripod type builder's ladder was lying nearby. Mrs Barbara Newman, who lives in Rocky Point Road, said she believed Molloy had tripped on a clothes peg as he carried the heavy ladder down the side passage.

WELCOME HOME

A large number of relatives and friends of Driver P. O. Williams, met at the home of his parents, Haigham, Clareville Avenue, Sandringham, last week, to welcome him home, and spent a very pleasant evening.

Driver Williams left Sydney on 18th November, 1915, with the 14th Battery, 5th Field Artillery Brigade, and returned, by the 'Runic,' arriving overland from Melbourne, on Wednesday, 11th inst.

Driver F. C. Williams, who was in the same battery, and Sapper R. T. Williams, are expected back very shortly.

St George Call, 21 June 1919, p5

WELCOME HOME.

At 'Higham,' Clareville Avenue, Sandringham, on Thursday, 21st August 1919, a large number of friends gathered to welcome home Drivers Orlando and Carson Williams, and Private Richard Williams, sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. Williams, after a long period of active service in France and Belgium.

Orlando and Carson were with the artillery, and Dick with the Railway Unit. The house was gaily decorated inside and out, and the large number of enthusiastic friends who put in an appearance, speaks volumes for the popularity of the boys and their parents. A real Australian welcome was accorded the boys, after which dancing, singing and games were indulged in, and altogether a most enjoyable evening was spent by all. Mr. and Mrs. Williams are both well known for their very valuable assistance in all charitable and patriotic causes, and are to be congratulated on the splendid record of service achieved by themselves and their soldier sons.

WOMANS'S VAIN BID TO SAVE HER SHOP

Mrs. T. G. Templeton, 47, was burned about the face and hands while trying to save property when her shop and home in Clareville Avenue, Sandringham, caught fire yesterday.

A kerosene heater is believed to have started the fire while Mrs. Templeton was out. When she saw smoke she ran to fight the fire. The flames spread so quickly that a telephone linesman working nearby urged her to leave the place before she was trapped.

She ran back again to try to save some of her belongings, but the flames swept over her face and hands. In the street, she collapsed from shock. St. George Ambulance took her to the St. George Hospital, but she refused to go inside. The shop and dwelling were burned out.

VOLUNTARY WORKERS' CAFE

Sandringham Cottage Completed

Mr. George Fuller will perform the ceremony of opening Private Bethel's Cottage, Corbettville, Dicken Avenue, Sandringham, on Dec, 8 at 3 p.m. The cottage has been called Corbettville as a small tribute to the memory of the late Mrs. W. F. Corbett, formerly one of the vice-presidents of the Voluntary Workers' Cafe. The land was donated by Messrs. McMillan, Dicken and Primrose, and the Voluntary Workers' Cafe has been responsible for the expense of building the cottage, the voluntary workers being members of the railway construction branch. A gift evening organised by the ladies of Sandringham and surrounding districts was held during the week to help stock their stall at the bazaar to be held on the opening day, the proceeds of which will be devoted to furnishing Private Bethel's home. The Voluntary Workers' Cafe was represented by Mrs. Bissett Amess, Mrs. Ellis Gulliver, and Mrs. Wilson. The function was held in McMillan and Freeth's Hall at Rockdale. Artists who assisted included Mesdames Hambley, Miller, Blue, Butterfield, Misses Davis, Stiffe, Pettit, and Sail. Mrs. Ellis Gulliver was presented with a bouquet by the promoters. Mr. Bert Fahy will play at the Voluntary Workers' Cafe next Wednesday.

CASUALTIES IN COUNTRY

Although there were comparatively few serious motor accidents in Sydney during the week-end, an unusual number of casualties was reported from the country.

Five people were injured, one seriously, when a motor service coach got out of control and overturned on the steep decline approaching Paddy's River yesterday. The casualty list was: Hamilton Collis, of Dickens avenue, Sandringham, lacerated wounds to both legs and shock, admitted to a private hospital at Moss Vale; John Moore, 43, of Portland-street, Rose Bay, abrasions to face and shock; Lilian Moore, 29, of same address, abrasions and shock; Alfred Turner, 35, of West Ryde, abrasions to the hands and face; and Harry Coe, of Canberra the driver, injuries to the right shoulder. Frederick Yeaman brought the passengers, other than Collis, on to Sydney in another car, and at the intersection of Thomas and Edwin streets, Croydon, his car came into collision with a motor cycle, the rider of which, Robert Aubrey Lambert, of Forest-road, Glebe, suffered a probable fracture of the skull. Albert Whiteman, 19, of Bay-street, Tempe, who was riding pillion, suffered concussion. They were taken by Western Suburbs Ambulance to the district hospital. None of the occupants of the car was injured.

GANNON AVENUE NEWS

NARROW ESCAPE - Another motorist narrowly escaped injury early this morning when the panel van he was driving crashed into an iron telephone post near the North Goulburn Railway Bridge. He is Kenneth Chriss, of 8 Gannon Avenue, Sans Souci. Chriss' vehicle skidded on loose gravel while rounding a sharp bend at the bridge. The roadway is being repaired in this area. The impact snapped the post in two. A section of the broken post speared into the roof of the vehicle. The nearside of the van was extensively damaged.

CONGRATULATIONS

The Rockdale Council had before it on Thursday night a claim for compensation from Mr. McNeill, baker, for injury to his horse when driving in Ida-street, Sans Souci. Under the plan, by which an insurance company takes the responsibility for all claims of this kind, Mr. McNeill's case was settled in a manner satisfactory to him, to the veterinary surgeon whose services had to be secured, and indeed to all parties concerned. Mr. McNeill's case, had been satisfactorily settled by the Mayor by payment of £13/10/0. Whereupon all parties may be congratulated, the Council, Mr. McNeil, and possibly the horse, who despite its having a kind master, may not be ungrateful, like many as invalid for being given a period of absolute cessation from the business duties of life. In the above category of course the Insurance Company might not be included, though, at the same time, it has professed its extreme gratification at the arrangement made with the Council.

MAN SHOT AT SANS SOUCI

On Saturday morning Stanley Lionel Brooks, about 30 years of age, a single man, lately residing with his sister at Ida street, Sandringham, shot himself through the heart with a double-barrell shotgun. Earlier in the morning the deceased borrowed the gun from Mrs Stockdale, the keeper of the refreshment room, with the object, as he started of putting in the day shooting. He was seen carrying the gun, by a butcher's boy, in the direction of Gun Point, and about a half hour later the body was found by George Hughes on a grassy slope, near the water. The butt of the gun had been securely fastened to a clump of bushes, and death was apparently instantaneous. In the deceased's pockets was found a workman's railway ticket, Sandringham to Redfern, and a note. The deceased was a recent arrival in the Sans Souci district. The body was conveyed to the City Morgue.

ACCIDENT TO CONST. COLLESS

Constable Adner Colless, of Rockdale, met with a serious accident last Wednesday afternoon, about 4.20 p.m., at the corner of Rocky Point Road and King Street, Rockdale. He was knocked down by a motor car belonging to Mr. Herbert Sydney Freeman, of Ida Street, Sans Souci, and driven by Arthur Thomas Edwards, of Drummond Street, Belmore. He was carried along Rocky Point Road for some distance by the motor car and then came in contact with one of Bushells tea waggons, which passed over him, receiving internal injuries. St. George Ambulance conveyed him to the district hospital, Kogarah where he was admitted. Last information received states there is a slight improvement in the constable's condition. Edwards not holding a license or permit was afterwards arrested.

SKELETON FOUND - BURIED IN SAND

The skeleton of a child was discovered buried in the sand at Sandringham yesterday afternoon by William Taylor, of Garden-street, Kogarah.

Taylor, who is an employee of the Kogarah Council, was carrying out excavation work at the foot of Ida-street, Sandringham, when the scoop which he was using unearthed the human remains. They were handed over to the police, and were subsequently removed to the city morgue.

The skeleton is apparently that of a child about seven or eight years. The appearance of the bones indicated that it had been buried in the sand for many years.

PLANE STRIKES FLAGPOLE FLYING IN THICK MIST PASSENGER KILLED, PILOT INJURED

Howard Jolly, 39, of Mona-road, Darling Point, was killed instantly, and Reginald Robinson, 27, of Primrose-avenue, Sandringham, was critically injured in an aeroplane smash at Nielsen Park yesterday. Both men were returning from Tamworth in an all-metal Moth aeroplane, owned by Jolly's employers, the Queensland Probate Insurance. Company, when bad visibility, due to heavy rain, caused them to collide with a flagpole. The aeroplane nose-dived onto the rocks below, and was completely wrecked. Robinson, who has been for some time employed as Jolly's pilot, was at the controls of the aeroplane during the flight down the coast. Visibility was bad all the way down, and by the time the machine was over the harbour, and almost at the end of its run, the mists became so dense that it was necessary to drop to a lower altitude. Skimming low over the water, Robinson appeared to be making safe headway when suddenly the machine swung round with a terrific jolt. Robinson, who remained conscious throughout the ordeal which followed, said that he realised at once what had happened. The flagpole, which stands 150 ft. high on the headland at Nielsen Park, had come into contact with the right wing of the machine.

THROWN IN CREEK

Club Official Robbed

Two men bashed the treasurer of the George's River Sailing Club last night, threw him into a creek, and stole about £40 from his case. The man, Jack Rollinson. 36, of Primrose Avenue, Sandringham, was admitted to St. George Hospital with severe shock and injuries to the head. Club members said the shock of the cold water revived Mr. Rollinson and probably saved him from drowning.

'He crawled 200 yards from the creek back to the clubhouse,' Mr. Thomas Dougherty said.

'I heard him calling, 'Tom, Tom, they jumped me, Tom.' 'I ran out from the clubhouse and held him up, but he lost consciousness again.'

Mr. Dougherty said. 'He had been sandbagged.' The social secretary of the club, Mr. A. Milne, said: 'About 30 of us went looking for the thugs.' Mr. Winn Whitby, of President Avenue, Brighton, said: 'The treasurer generally carried the money from subscriptions and functions for charity out of the club every Wednesday and Saturday night. 'The thugs must have known this. It's a pity we didn't get them,' he said.

SANTA CLAUS

'Are You Santa?' - They All Asked Mr. Clauss. All day yesterday, starting at 6.30 a.m., children telephoned Mr. E. M. Clauss, of Primrose Avenue, Sandringham, and asked: 'Are you Santa Claus?'

Last night, Mr. Clauss rang the 'Herald' and asked: 'What am I to do?' He said that at least 60 children, aged about three and four, phoned his home yesterday and last night.

‘This morning when I was out of the house my wife answered the phone and the children were very disappointed I was not there,’ Mr. Clauss said. ‘They told her they would ring back tonight and they did. Here it is six days before Christmas and 60 children rang today. What's going to happen on the remaining days?’

They ask me am I Santa Claus and then tell me what they want and ask me to be on time. So what can I do? I can't tell them I'm not Santa, because obviously their mothers have found my telephone number in the directory. I think I'll continue telling them I'm Santa Claus.’

‘All I was frightened of was that some old crank might put me in for misrepresenting myself. They're only little tots, and they tell me there will be a piece of cake and a glass of wine waiting for me when I deliver their toys on Christmas Eve.’

‘So what can I do?’

HUMAN REMAINS FOUND

Whilst engaged in excavation work on Tuesday morning at Russell Avenue, Sandringham, W. A. Clark, an employee of the Water and Sewerage Board, discovered human remains, about three feet below the surface of the road. The bones were taken to Kogarah Police Station by Sergt. Mason, and appear to be those of an aboriginal. The skull is in an excellent state of preservation, showing a full set of regular teeth. The finding of aboriginal bones is no uncommon occurrence along the shores of Botany Bay, where what was known as the Wollongong tribe were at times known to dwell. The Coroner has been apprised of the discovery.

It is not generally known that Mr. J. C. Gannon, K.C., M.L.C., besides being an expert fisherman with both rod and line, is a very keen and persistent shark-hunter. His home in Russell-avenue, Doll's Point, Sandringham, is only a stone's throw from the waters of Botany Bay, and often in his leisure hours he puts out in a skiff, armed with the requisite tackle, and accounts for a man-eater. In the last 10 years he has caught nearly 50 sharks.

TRAM SMASH SIX PERSONS INJURED AT KOGARAH. - BROKEN ENGINE AXLE

Six persons including the following were injured in a stream tram accident at Kogarah on Saturday afternoon

Mrs JESSIE BURKAT, 41 of Russell avenue, Sandringham (cut on chin necessitating several stitches) Mrs VIOLET GORMAN, 28 of Austral street, Sans Souci (suffering severely from shock). ERNEST MOLENEAUX, 13 of Doll s Point road Sandringham (bruises to the face and facial bones) Conductor Doherty, 34 of Redfern (bruises to the body and fractured ribs). The driver and a woman passenger also were injured but not sufficiently to go to the hospital.

Consisting of two cars and an engine the tram drew out from Kogarah railway station at about quarter to 6, bound for Sans Souci. It had not proceeded far when the rear axle of the engine broke, throwing the engine off the rails. With the splintering of woodwothk and breaking of glass the leading car crashed into the back of the engine which was forced on its side into the embankment at the edge of the road. The tram was loaded with passengers, who were mostly thrown from their seats and badly shaken, and great confusion followed. Doherty, the conductor, was thrown heavily to the ground against the back of the engine.

About 200 yards away, the crash was heard at the Kogarah railway station. The night officer communicated with Dr Elliott, of Carlton, who arrived several minutes later. Within a quarter of an hour The St George District Ambulance was conveying the injured persons to the local hospital. From here they were reported to be doing well.

DR. BARNARDO'S HOMES - BOYS LEAVE ENGLAND

The first contingent of 50 boys for the New South Wales branch of Dr. Barnardo's homes left England by the Berrima on Thursday, and should arrive about the second week of October.

As there has been a great deal of difficulty in securing a suitable farm property, the committee has decided to take the boys to Scarborough House, Russell-avenue, Sandringham, the property purchased from the Red Cross Society, and they will remain there until a country property is acquired.

The house committee is furnishing Scarborough House for the reception of the boys. Those who are prepared to give beds, etc, are asked to call upon the organising secretary, Post Office chambers, 114A Pitt-street.

BURNETT FAMILY FATHER'S DEATH - WIFE AND DAUGHTERS HURT

Had 'Bert' Burnett, that happy, popular Sydney Hospital casualty room attendant, who died a few weeks ago after 15 years of service, been alive and on duty on Saturday night he would have been called upon to enter in. the casualty book the names of his wife and two little children. His youngest daughter Rona, lies at death's door. Mrs. Burnett, 37; Hazel, aged 16; and Rona, aged 9, of Russell's-avenue, Doll's Point, Sandringham, were in the car which collided with a telegraph pole in Anzac-parade on Saturday night. Eastern Suburbs Ambulance rushed the victims to Sydney Hospital, where it was found that Mrs. Burnett was suffering from shock and continuous. Rona sustained a fractured skull, while Hazel, possibly, has a broken neck. It was not known until to-day that the victims were the family of the late Mr. Albert Burnett, Frank Burnett, as widely known as his brother 'Bert,' died some months ago. Frank had been a gate porter at Sydney Hospital for several years.

BOTANY BAY TRAGEDY - CORONER'S FINDING

The deaths of Sidney Alfred Walker, 32, of Russell-avenue, Sandringham, and George Guest, 67, of Vivian-street, Bexley, who were drowned in Botany Bay, near Ramsgate, on February 9, were investigated by the City Coroner, Mr. E. A. May, at the Coroner's Court yesterday. At the conclusion of the inquiry he returned a finding of accidental drowning.

Edward William Perkins, a labourer, said that he left Ramsgate beach, accompanied by the two deceased and Frederick Castles, in a 16-ft sailing skip on a fishing expedition for Kurnell. At about 1.30 p.m. the party was returning to the beach, and he was in charge of the boat. When about 70yds from the shore he attempted to take the vessel in stern first. A heavy sea suddenly swept over the boat, and a sharp gust of wind caught the sail. The boat overturned. He assisted in dragging the two deceased on to the overturned boat. Again the skiff overturned, and the men were flung into the water. The anchor ropes and the sail became entangled around his legs, but he managed to free himself. The mast of the boat had snapped when it capsized, and he believed that it might have struck Guest in falling.

Castles informed the coroner that when the boat overturned he took Guest ashore, and returned for Walker. Guest had a wound in his forehead. Although artificial methods of respiration had been applied, neither man recovered.

FATAL FALL FROM TRAM

Falling from a tram in Rocky Point-road, Sans Souci, early on Saturday morning, Herbert Walter Stroud, 47, of Russell-avenue, Sans Souci, sustained a fractured skull, from which he died shortly after in St. George District Hospital.

PLEA FOR TRAM - Kogarah-Sandringham.

A large deputation representative of the municipal councils of Kogarah and Rockdale, and other public bodies in the locality appeared before the Transport Advisory Committee yesterday in support of the claim that the tramway between Kogarah and Sandringham, which is operated by steam power, should be retained, but electrified.

The Kogarah Council, it was asserted, was spending thousands of pounds on reclamations, baths, and street and other improvements. Sandringham was a seaside pleasure resort for thousands of people, especially on holidays, and at the weekends. The tramway had been responsible for the growth of the district. It would be brought thoroughly up to date by electrification, which would also lessen costs of operation and of road maintenance.

The idea of buses was opposed on the ground that the street would be packed with the vehicles during peak hours, that there was no provision for parking at Kogarah, and that they were unsuitable for the aged and young.

In order to obviate dangerous crossings, it was suggested that the tramway route should be altered to run from Kogarah, via Montgomery street, thence via Russell avenue to Sandringham, returning via Gray street. The committee adjourned until to-day.

MAN TO GET BACK £1,000 FOUND IN BOOKMAKER'S BOX

The Chief Judge in Equity, Mr. Justice Roper, ruled yesterday that a builder was legally entitled to the return of £1,000 which he had given to a starting-price bookmaker as security for bets.

The money was found in a safe box at the City Tattersall Club.

It was deposited there by the late Paddington s.p. book-maker, Alfred Edward Levy. The builder, Joseph Orr, of Russell Avenue, Dolls Point, claimed that the money belonged to him.

In June, Orr obtained an interim injunction restraining any persons from taking the £1,000. The Court was told that on May 11, 1950, Orr gave Levy £1,000 as security for betting transactions.

Levy had died on October 21, 1950, and probate of his estate had been granted to his ex-wife, now Mrs. Jane Lane. Levy's deposit box at the City Tattersalls Club was found to contain £7,950 in notes, including £1,000 done up in a separate parcel. Attached to the parcel was a note, signed by Levy, which read: 'I have received from J. Orr the sum of £1,000 as security, for any business that may be transacted between us.'

Orr asked Mrs. Lane to give him the £1,000 back, but she did not do so. Later, the Official Receiver was appointed trustee of Levy's estate. Mr. J. K. Manning (for the Official Receiver) argued that Orr was not entitled to the recovery of the money because such a transaction with an S.P. bookmaker was illegal.

ACT NOT APPLICABLE

Mr. Justice Roper held that Orr was legally entitled to the money. Levy had merely held the money as bailee, his Honor said, and no betting transactions took place between May and October, 1950, which would have entitled Levy to keep all or part, of the £1,000. Section 16 of the Gaining and Betting Act did not apply to Orr's transaction, he said.

[Section 16 of the Act says that no action or suit shall be made at law or in equity to recover money won by betting or deposited in the hands of a stake-holder to abide the result of a bet.]

SANONI AVENUE NEWS

DOLL'S POINT WEDDING

The wedding bells have been ringing very loudly down this way during the last few weeks. The local clergy has had so many knots to tie during the last few days that he is beginning to get corns on his hands. The latest Doll's Pointean to hop onto the wedding waggon is Dick Evans, son of old Dick, engine driver, and well known on the sudden jerks. Young Dick did the deed last Tuesday, and now lives in the house that George built in Sanoni Avenue. When asked how he likes the change, he says 'This is the life.'

Mr. J. LONGTON

Mr. Joseph Longton died yesterday at his residence in Sanoni-avenue, Sandringham. He was in his eightieth year, and was mining manager at Lucknow, Sunny Corner, Captain's Flat, and also Kalgoorlie, Western Australia, he leaves three sons and three daughters.

Sydney Morning Herald, 26 June 1923

The death has occurred of Mr. Alex Tapp, the 20-year-old son of Mr and Mrs David Tapp, of Sanoni Avenue, Sandringham, and at one time resident in Glen Innes. The deceased young man was on the staff of a bank at West Wyalong, having recently been transferred from the Hurstville branch. A little more than a fortnight ago he underwent an operation for appendicitis, and it was thought that he was progressing satisfactorily, but complications developed. A fine sportsman, of excellent physique and enjoying a wide popularity the death is a particularly sad one. A younger brother and a sister survive. The deceased's mother was a Miss Wesley, a sister of Mrs. W. A. Dibley, of Glen Innes.

SEARCH FOR WHITE WIFE OF NEW GUINEA NATIVE

A white girl was living among natives in a remote part of New Guinea in 1944, Mr. E. W. Emery said yesterday.

Mr. Emery, an oyster farmer, living in Sanoni Avenue, Dolls Point, said he had seen the girl when he was in charge of an R.A.A.F. supply lugger in 1944. He believes his information may help 12 men who sailed yesterday for New Guinea to solve the legend of a white woman on an island. The men, who are in the former coastal steamer Gippsland, will try to find a white woman survivor of a sailing ship wrecked 50 years ago. The sailing ship ran aground on a reef off Misima Island. Mr. Emery said that the white girl he saw might be a daughter of the survivor. This is Mr. Emery's account of his discovery of the girl:—

In January 1944, he was taking petrol from Milne Bay to an emergency airstrip at Kwaipomata when bad weather forced him to anchor in San Rogue Passage on the south coast, of New Guinea. His native boss boy brought two natives and their kekenies (wives) from the local native village to examine the lugger. One of the kekenies was a white girl of about 19 or 20, with long golden hair and blue eyes. The white girl could speak only the local New Guinea language— Motu— and was very shy at the sight of white men. She wore a grass skirt with a singlet over the upper part of her body. 'I got the surprise of my life when I saw a white girl come aboard.' said Mr. Emery. 'I was a bit disgusted to see she was apparently married to the native with her. She was a pretty girl, weigh in about 8st. 6lb., and she certainly wasn't an albino.'

Pilot's Body Sinks In Swamp After Crash

The pilot of a Tiger Moth was killed when the plane power-dived into mudflats at Pelican Point, on the southern edge of Botany Bay yesterday. His body is buried in the mud and had not been recovered last night.

A party of police working against the rising tide, failing daylight, and sodden ground, had to abandon operations until this morning.

The dead man is N. Ellis, 28, of Hillcrest Street, Homebush, an ex-R.A.A.F. pilot, who had had 1,500 hours flying experience. He was alone in the aircraft when it crashed at about 12.30 p.m.

During the night the tide rose over the spot. Nothing was left of the aircraft but wreckage strewn over a radius of 30 yards in desolate and difficult country, a mile from the nearest road, across water-soaked salt marshes. The police uncovered the body, which was buried four feet deep in the mud, but were unable to remove it.

After the crash the fuselage was buried in the mudflat three feet over the rear cockpit. Searchers found no sign of the engine, which is thought to be about 12 feet down in the mud.

Mr. E. Emery, 19 Sanoni Avenue, Doll's Point, said he and half a dozen other men working on oyster beds half a mile away saw the Moth approaching from the direction of Bankstown, at an altitude of about 2,000 feet.

'As it came overhead it began to lose height quickly,' Mr. Emery said. 'The pilot cut the motor to idling speed, but it continued to fall.'

'At about 500 feet the pilot suddenly revved up the motor, and the plane dived straight at the mudflats at full bore.'

'It disappeared behind some trees and then we heard a dull explosion. We then called the police.' The police party, led by Sergeant W. Burrows, of Kogarah, and Sutherland ambulancemen reached the spot soon after 2 p.m. and began digging.

They used a jeep and later a bulldozer in an attempt to get equipment in from the road, but both were bogged down in the mud and, had to be abandoned. The aircraft belonged to Morris Air Services, Bankstown.

January 1995
A publication of Dolls Point Village Newspapers

This small local monthly newspaper was produced between 1994-1995. It contained stories of local history, current events and advertisements. The name of the publication changed from Dolls Point Village to On the Line in 1995. An article covered in the March 1995 edition: Busy bees make money NOT honey for charity.

Sans Souci Busy Bees

In 1958 a group of mothers whose children were finishing school decided they would keep in touch by meeting monthly for lunch at a Sans Souci Park. A one of the luncheons a discussion was raised about St George Crippled Childrens School needing equipment and had no Auxiliary. This group decided to swam into action to raise funds for this school's needs calling themselves the 'Busy Bees'.

After 26 years and $50,000 support to St George Crippled Childrens School the State Government granted the recognition and status of a charity organisation. By 1995 the Sans Souci Busy Bees had raised over $100,000 through in-house raffles, fetes, street stalls and various other activities. They helped charities such as SIDS (cot death), DEBBRA (cotton wool babies), South Haven Activity Centre, Skin Bank, Sylvanvale, Cairnsfoot School, Childrens Cancer and Leukemia, Prince of Wales Childrens Hospital, M.P.S. Society for Musco Polysaccharide Diseases and St George School, Rockdale.

Barton Electorate

The Barton Electorate, was formed in 1922, and named after Sir Edmund Barton, Australia's first Prime Minister. It covers much of the St George area and is bound by Georges River, Cooks River and the shores of Botany Bay.

Frederick McDonald the Labor candidate, was the first to win this seat and held it until 1925 when he was defeated by Nationalist, Thomas Ley. Frederick McDonald challenged the result, and claimed that Thomas Ley tried to bribe him. Mysteriously Frederick McDonald disappeared on his way to see the Premier Jack Lang. It is claimed that Thomas Ley had him murdered. Subsequently, Ley left for England where he was convicted of another murder. He was sentenced to hang but was commuted, on the grounds of insanity, to Broadmoor Lunatic Asylum, where he died in 1947.

Frederick Albert MCDONALD 1872 – 1926

Frederick was born in 1872 in Australia, and educated in public schools and University of Sydney, graduating as a teacher. He rose to become President of the Teachers Federation of New South Wales

He contested the new seat of Barton for the Labor Party in the 1922 Federal Election and defeated the Nationalist member for the abolished seat of Illawarra, Hector Lamond. He remained in parliament until 1925, when he was defeated by Thomas Ley the Nationalist candidate. He challenged the result in court, claiming that Ley had tried to bribe him.

On 15 April 1926 Frederick McDonald disappeared on his way to a meeting with the Premier of NSW, Jack Lang, to discuss a proposal to have the election result declared void. His body was never found

Thomas John LEY
1880 – 1947

Thomas Ley was born in 1880 in Bath, England and emigrated to Australia in 1886 with his widowed mother and three siblings. He attended Crown Street Public School in Sydney until he was ten; then he worked as an assistant in his mother's grocery store. As he had been taught shorthand, he became a junior clerk-stenographer in a solicitor's office at aged 14 years.

He married Emily Louisa 'Lewie' Vernon in 1898, the year she came to Australia from England. They were active in politics, she in the International Suffrage Movement, and he as a New South Wales State and Federal politician from 1917 to 1928.

During the 1925 Federal campaign Ley had unsuccessfully tried to bribe his Labor Party opponent, Frederick McDonald with a £2,000 share in a property at Kings Cross in return for withdrawing from the ballot. McDonald instead publicly revealed the attempted bribe. Ley won the election, and McDonald took the matter to court, but disappeared in mysterious circumstances. The case against Ley collapsed for lack of evidence when McDonald failed to appear.

Thomas Ley returned to England to start a new life with his mistress Maggie Brook, after his defeat in the 1928 election. During World War Two he was arrested and convicted for black marketeering. In 1946 he was tried for the murder of John Mudie, but escaped the noose and was declared insane and Broadmoor Asylum, where he died in 1947.^{xxviii}

Leonard James REYNOLDS

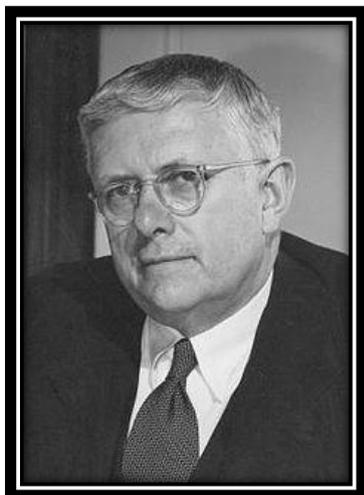

Len Reynolds was born 19 November 1923 at Harden NSW, son of Reginald William Reynolds and Myra Evelyn Brown. He married Sylvia Jean Brown in 1946 at Randwick NSW.

He was educated at University of Sydney and became a teacher. Len enlisted in the RAAF on 23 February 1943 and was promoted to leading aircraftman on 18 December 1943. He served at Morotai during 1945 and was discharged on 8 March 1946.

He entered politics and preceded H. V. Evatt for the Federal seat of Barton for the Labor Party from 22 November 1958 until 26 November 1966. He preceded Bill Arthur for the seat of Barton again from 25 October 1969 and was succeeded by Jim Bradfield on 11 November 1975.^{xxix}

Len died on 14 July 1980 and was cremated at Woronora Crematorium.^{xxx}

Herbert Vere EVATT
1894-1965

Herbert known as ‘Bert’ or ‘Doc’ was born 30 April 1894 at Maitland NSW, son of John Ashmore Hamilton Evatt and Jane Sophia ‘Jeanie’ Gray. He married Mary Alice Sheffer on 20 November 1920 at Congregational Church, Mosman NSW.

He attended East Maitland Superior Public School, then onto Fort Street High School. He continued onto St Andrew’s College and graduated in 1919. He was unable to enlist in the services because of his poor eyesight. He became a prominent industrial lawyer in Sydney, working mainly for trade union clients.

In 1925 Evatt was elected as an Australian Labor Party member for Balmain in the New South Wales Legislative Assembly. He was re-elected as an Independent Labor candidate in 1927, and served in the Legislative Assembly until 1930.

In 1930 he was elected as the youngest ever Justice of the High Court of Australia. He resigned from the High Court and went back into politics in 1940. He gained the Federal seat of Barton in the House of Representatives and in 1941 became Attorney-General and Minister of External Affairs (Foreign Minister) under John Curtin. He became deputy leader of the Labor Party after the 1946 election, under the leadership of Ben Chifley, until 1951. He became leader of the Labor Party from 1951 – 1960.

In 1960 the Labor Government appointed Evatt as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of New South Wales, and was seen as a means of giving him a dignified exit from politics. In 1962 he was suffering from stress and retired from the bench.

‘Doc’ Evatt died on 2 November 1965 at Forrest, Canberra ACT.^{xxxii}

Dolls Point Electoral Rolls 1930 – 1963

This database covers the people on the electoral rolls in the streets of Dolls Point between 1930 and 1963. It notes year of birth and death if known, and identifies persons who served in the forces.

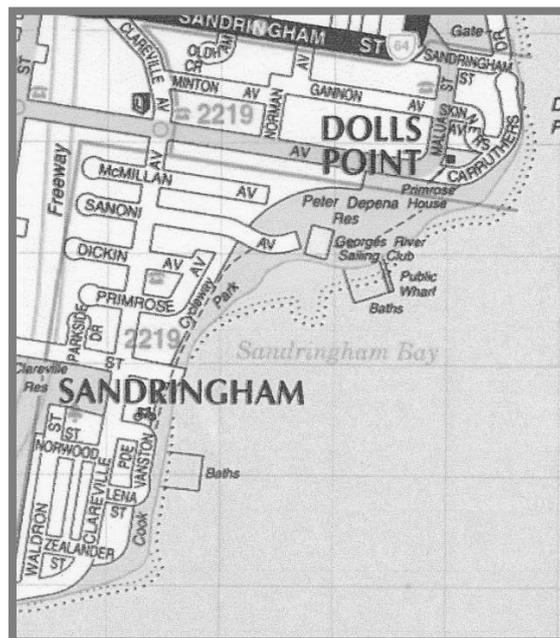

From these electoral rolls it was noted that house names seemed to disappear from the late 1940s. It was also noted in the early 1940s the house numbers changed (by approximately six numbers) in some streets. During the 1940s as the servicemen returned from the war, some married and bought or built their home in this area. Streets began to fill with new houses and this could be the reason for the house numbers to change.

It was also noted that by 1963 'home duties' for the wives began to decrease and occupations were shown. By 1963 home units and villas appeared in the addresses on the rolls.

Among the residents of Dolls Point lived notable people of various occupations, fishermen, oyster farmers, actors, journalists, cartoonists, tanners, brushmakers to name a few.

Streets of Dolls Point covered:

Rhonda McKinnon, Sydney born spent the first two years of her life at Mascot until her parents bought their home at Dolls Point. She attended Sans Souci Public School and then Moorefield Girls High School. After her marriage, together with her husband Bruce, bought their home at Loftus where they raised their two daughters.

Genealogy has been her hobby for the past thirty two years. Together with a group of descendants she has assisted in producing three volumes of Meet the Munyards, a branch of her late husband's family.
