Help develop the future of Bayside

Bayside Council is asking the community to help shape the future of Bayside as part a review on land use and planning controls and the preparation of three new strategic planning documents.

As part of this review Bayside Council has been working with industry and technical experts to gather information on specialised topics such as heritage, housing, transport, open space and environment.

Bayside Council is now seeking community and stakeholder feedback on a series of discussion papers as well as input into the priorities, issues and themes for the strategic planning documents.

Come along and have your say at one of these community workshops:
